LOANS RISE $95,000,000 DURING WEEK

New High Record Established as Accommodations to Brokers Reach $5,908,000,000.

A. T. & T. STOCK IS FEATURE OF DAY

Stocks Are Irregular but Spurt Follows Call Money Rate of 10 Per Cent Late in Session.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Establishment of a new high record by American Telephone & Telegraph, which soared 10 points to a new high record at 267, and closed within a fraction of the top, featured today's stock market. Prices sold off sharply in the early trading, when the call money rate was advanced from 8 to 9 per cent, but a subsequent advance in the rate to 10 was followed by a brisk rally, which cut down or wiped out many of the early losses, and sent a number of issues 1 to 6 points above yesterday's final quotations.

Time money rates continue firm. Bankers hold out little hope of any material easing of credit conditions in the near future, barring a sweeping reaction in stock prices, although the Federal Reserve is expected to increase the supply of credit available in order to facilitate the distribution and harvesting of crops.

Business news continues generally favorable. Several favorable half yearly earnings statements were published again today, the Chesapeake & Ohio and Allis-Chalmers statements being particularly attractive. A moderate increase in Federal Reserve brokers' loans was expected after the close of the market.

Loans Up $35,000,000.

Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve member banks for the week ending July 24 were announced by the Federal Reserve Board, after the close of the market today as $5,908,000,000, representing an increase of $95,000,000 as compared with the preceding week and establishing a new high record.

Analysis of the report shows loans for own account increased $57,000,000, loans for account of out-of-town banks rose $4,000,000 and loans for account of others increased $32,000,000.

The Federal Reserve Bank directors today made no announcement regarding a change in the rediscount rate of 5 per cent.

There was nothing in the day's news to explain the sudden shift in speculative sentiment. However, the apparent inability of "bear" operators to dislodge any large volume of stock in their recent attacks inspired a resumption of bullish operations by speculators for the advance, who apparently have become reconciled to the high money charges.

Vote Baldwin Stock Split Up.

Remington Rand was pushed up to a new high at 47½ but some of the other business appliance issues were under pressure. Du Pont converted an early loss into a gain of 4 points in expectation of a favorable semi-annual earnings report tomorrow. Baldwin Locomotive jumped 6 points in anticipation of formal announcement of a stock split-up. A four for one stock split was announced after close of market.

Short covering was particularly heavy in the motor shares. Marmon ran up nearly 9 points and Auburn 5¼. General Motors, Chrysler and Packard closed 2 to nearly 3 points higher.

Despite the excellent character of recent earnings and car loading statements, the rails continued under rather steady pressure. Atchison closed more than five points lower, and several of the other high grade issues showed declines of a point or two.

Bethlehem Steel Raises Dividend.

Directors of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation announced an increase in the annual dividend from $4 to $6 after the close of the market. Wall street generally had been looking for a $1 extra.

Wheat rallied again today, rising about 4½ cents a bushel. There was report of black rust in the Dakotas and continued dry weather in Canada. Corn advanced about 2½ cents a bushel. Cotton futures improved moderately on forecasts of unfavorable weather.

Closing stock prices with other tables and market news will be found on Pages 31, 32 and 33.

PIUS XI LEAVES VATICAN, BLESSES 200,000 AT CLOSE OF BRILLIANT CELEBRATION

Church Bells Ring Out on Occasion of Pope's First Emergence Since Fall of Temporal Power in 1870.

By the Associated Press.

VATICAN CITY, July 25.—The long voluntary imprisonment of Roman Catholic pontiffs in the Vatican came to an end this evening as Pope Pius XI emerged from historic St. Peter's into the famous square before it and blessed a throng of fully 200,000 persons that knelt before him.

Amid deep religious solemnity, broken only at the beginning by cries of "viva il Papa" (long live the Pope), the pontiff made his way around the Bernini colonnade that circled the square behind a magnificent procession and back to a special altar at the other end of the colonnade.

Here he halted and as the spectators, deeply stirred by the solemn moment, knelt, the pontiff blessed them with the elevated ostensorium containing the sacred host which he had carried in the procession.

In the crowd were thousands of American visitors to Rome, while in the long procession were numerous American bishops and prelates.

200,000 Witness Ceremony.

The procession itself, headed by the pontifical guard, started from St. Peter's at 10 minutes of 6 and it was two hours and 35 minutes before the pontiff once more disappeared within St. Peter's.

Despite the size of the crowd, which had swelled to at least 200,000 by the time the ceremony was over, everything went off smoothly. At times there were some commotions in the crowd as here and there spectators fainted in the intense heat, but temporary Italian Red Cross stations quickly cared for them.

About 15,000 soldiers were on duty in the square and surrounding streets, which had been closed by barricades. As the Pope passed, these troops presented arms, symbolizing the accord reached after 60 years between the church and state.

As the long ceremony went on, darkness began to fall and the famous square was lighted by the flickering candles carried by those in the procession.

The facade of the basilica was illuminated by electric lights after the Pontiff appeared.

Although the Pope today for the first time left the Vatican, he was still on territory of the newly created Vatican state. St Peter's Square having been included in this under the recent agreement. The Pope has still to make his exit from Vatican state to Italian territory, but it is not known when he will do this.

The Pope came out through the central bronze door of the basilica at the end of a long procession which had been formed inside.

First came a small detachment of the Swiss Guard in the brilliant costumes designed for them by Michel Angelo nearly four centuries ago. Then came a ceremonial officer of the Papal court and a procession of various representatives of the religious orders, chaplains of various churches, various officers of the Holy See, archbishops and bishops including a number of American prelates.

Then in a blaze of purple came the Cardinals while just ahead of the Pope came incense-bearers and members of the ceremonial department.

Each group of seminarians in the long procession was preceded by a standard bearer with the flag of their order surmounted by a gold cross. The seminarian carried tall lighted candles whose flames flickered in the wind.

All the seminarians wore white surplices over their costumes. When the people in the houses fronting on the square and on the adjacent Piazza Rusticucci saw the procession they hung out red damask cloths. The massed bands played papal anthems.

All the famous chimes of Rome's 400 churches broke out and rang continuously from 7:10 p. m., while the Pope was passing.

The Pope was clearly visible to the massed crowds. He was borne along, protected by a rich baldaquin of silver cloth, edged with small flags bearing the papal coat of arms.

The 10 poles supporting the baldaquin were carried in turn by prelates of the Vatican offices, students of the ecclesiastical colleges and of the great mission school, Propaganda Fide.

Twelve members of the noble guard, with drawn swords, marched alongside the pontiff. They were clad in rich medieval costumes. With them were other officers of the papal household, two secret chamberlains bearing the great ostrich feather fans, or flabelli, and 12 attendants with lighted torches.

From 7:10 p. m. until past 7:30 the bells of Rome were ringing.

MOTORISTS FREED AFTER PUBLICITY END IS SERVED

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., July 25.—Two motorists, arrested near here July 15 on charges of reckless driving, and sentenced to 30 days each in jail, were released secretly at night more than a week ago, after serving only four days of their sentence.

Sheriff Clyde Ballew of Boone County admitted today that the arrest of the two motorists, who protested they were traveling at a low rate of speed, and their heavy jail sentences were merely part of a publicity scheme to make motorists wary of speeding in Boone County, where 15 have been killed and 25 injured in automobile accidents recently.

Leonard Jansen, of Webster Groves, Mo., and J. Levinsky, of LaSalle, Ill., are the men released. Justice of the Peace John S. Bicknell, who sentenced them, said he thought the scare resulting from their sentence would have as good an effect as their actual confinement. Jansen was sentenced for passing State Highway Patrolman Ward on the brow of a hill, and Levinsky for passing him on a curve.

BROKEN SPRINKLER PIPE CAUSES CLOSING OF BUILDING

Falling plaster and broken sprinkler pipes, in a third-floor salesroom of Kline's ready-to-wear store, 606 Washington avenue, this afternoon, caused the lower floors to be flooded, and resulted in a Fire Department order for the temporary closing of the establishment.

A section of plaster about 20 by 50 feet fell at 3:20 p. m. The water, pouring from the broken pipes, soon did extensive damage to dresses displayed on the third and lower floors. Reports which spread quickly through the downtown district, and the gathering of police and firemen in front of the building, caused a crowd to block the street. Water, cascading from front windows, sprayed thespectators.

Shortly before 4 o'clock when the water stood 2 feet deep on the second floor, Deputy Fire Chief Angelo ordered the building vacated. Up to that time, business had continued on the first, fourth and fifth floors. Angelo said it would be necessary to make a thorough examination of the building. The manager, W. Pickeral, would not undertake to estimate the damage.

A customer, Mrs. Margaret Baldwin of 3636A Cottage avenue, who was on the first floor, became alarmed and ran against a post, bruising herself. She was taken to City Hospital for treatment for the bruises and nervous shock.

ENGLISH TO PRAY FOR RAIN

LONDON, July 25.—Drouth conditions in England today became so serious in some parts of the country that ecclesiastical authorities were urging that special prayers be said for rain.

The Bishops of Bradford, Ripon and Wakefield suggested to the clergy of their dioceses, all of which are in Yorkshire, one of the dryest spots, that a special prayer be offered in their churches "until such time as the present drouth is definitely broken."

SHOOTS SELF DEAD WITH POLICE, SENT BY GIRL, AT DOOR

BEATEN, BOUND AND TORTURED, SHE AVERS

Member of Garden Theater Chorus Explains She Went to Apartment on Promise of Present.

Jack De Young Gans, spendthrift member of a well-to-do Little Rock, Ark., family, shot and killed himself yesterday in his suite at the Forest Park Hotel as police were entering to arrest him on complaint of a 17-year-old girl that he had tortured and criminally attacked her after luring her to the room on the pretext of presenting a gift.

Gans was 28 years old. He attracted considerable attention in 1926 by speculating in Wall street, running through $40,000 and leaving a trail of worthless checks which landed him in jail in New York City.

Guards Massed on Steps.

The girl upon whose complaint he was to be arrested here is Miss Muriel Doherty, member of the Garden Theater chorus, former student at Central High School, entertainer at the Avalon night club and winner in beauty contests. She resides at 4001 West Pine boulevard, with her mother and foster-father, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bartsch.

Miss Doherty appeared at the Newstead Avenue Police Station and made her complaint to Lieut. John Fleming, who, accompanied by Patrolman Martin Beyer, went to the hotel, at West Pine boulevard and Euclid avenue. The door to Gans' suite was locked. The policemen rattled the knob and were about to use a pass key to enter when a shot was heard. This was at 5:10 o'clock.

Unlocking the door, the policemen found Gans in bed, dying. A bullet had been fired into his right temple. A Luger automatic pistol was clutched in his right hand. He died without making a statement. The body was removed to the morgue.

Miss Doherty's Statement.

Miss Doherty's story, as reported by police, was as follows:

"I met Gans several weeks ago at the Avalon Night Club where I was working. At 2 o'clock this afternoon he telephoned me at my home and said: 'Hello, Muriel, what are you doing this afternoon?' I said I was going shopping downtown. He answered: 'Fine! I've a little shopping to do myself. I'll go along. What say?' I said all right. In a few minutes he arrived at the house in a taxi and I got in.

"'Listen,' he said, 'I've got a little present for you at the hotel. We'll drop by there before going downtown.'

"We went up to his rooms and sat down and chatted for about an hour. I grew restless and told him it was getting late and I'd better get downtown. He said: 'All right, I'll go and get that present for you.'

Hit on Head With Rolling Pin.

"We were both sitting on a divan. He got up first and as I rose, he grabbed me, pulled me into the bedroom, adjoining the sitting room, picked up a rolling pin and struck me on the head. I was only able to scream once and he hit me again."

Miss Doherty then related that Gans, using strips of awning evidently prepared in advance, tied her to the bedposts, tortured her savagely, whipped her with leather straps and attacked her. She said he gave her taxicab fare and told her to go home when he finally permitted her to leave.

Instead, Miss Doherty went in the taxicab to the police station. From there she was taken to City Hospital, where physicians said she had been attacked and was suffering from mutiple lacerations, abrasions and contusions about the body and scalp. She was taken to her home.

This morning Miss Doherty, a slender brunette, repeated her story at the inquest held behind closed doors. A Coroner's verdict of suicide was returned. She testified that Gans had "quite a lot of money," that she had not been to his room before, that he drank a gin rickey while in the room, that he threatened to kill her, said he "thought" he would shoot himself, and had a pistol in his hand when she left.

297 HOURS IN AIR, FLYERS REPORT 'EVERYTHING FINE'

—By Clint Murphy, Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

50 HOURS PAST MARK AND NOW IN 13TH DAY

Ship Flies Low to Give Morning Greeting to Wives — Chamber of Commerce Purse.

In high spirits and with the engine of their monoplane running "like a race horse," Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien today are in the thirteenth day of their endurance flight, which had carried them more than 50 hours beyond the former record at 4:17 p. m. At that hour the St. Louis Robin had been in the air for 297 hours.

"Everything is fine up here," the flyers announced, in a message dropped to Lambert-St. Louis Field at 7:17 a. m., when they had completed 12 days in the air.

The steady "pop, pop, pop" of the Curtiss Challenger engine bore out their statement and ground watchers confidently offered to wager that "Red" and "Obie" would set the new record at 300 hours plus before considering a landing. As for the flyers themselves; they have repeatedly stated that they will stay up as long as the engine and plane last.

Drop to 2000 Feet.

Overcast skies and a sprinkle of rain prompted the flyers to cruise around a 2000-foot altitude in the forenoon, as compared with 3000 to 35000 feet on previous days. The plane, which has been driven at about 48 miles an hour for some time, was speeded up somewhat in the forenoon.

A heavy shower downtown, which began at 1:47 p. m., and lasted 20 minutes, prompted some anxious inquiries about the flyers, who have had uniformly fine flying weather. At Lambert Field, however, the sun was shining brightly.

Jackson demonstrated last night that his nerves and limbs are still steady by getting out on the 4-inch catwalk of the plane to inspect the engine. He made the inspection at an altitude of 5000 feet while a Post-Dispatch photographer recorded the feat from another plane. The Robin never wavered during the performance, indicating that O'Brine exerted a steady hand on the controls.

A Flyer's "Good Morning."

Jackson gave a demonstration of his skill as a pilot while sending down the morning order for gasoline, oil and breakfast today. The Robin swooped low over the field and then climbed a bit in a double bank as the cylinder bearing the message, fell a short distance from the tent that is flight headquarters. Seeing his wife and Mrs. O'Brine in front of the tent, "Red" turned the ship sharply, clearing the wind vane of a hangar by about 50 feet, and then waved a cherry greeting for himself and his companion, who was asleep, as the plane again passed low over the tent.

"How's the gas and oil business?" the note to the ground crew inquired. "Is it getting any better? Sorry, but we can't use much this morning. May take some more later. You fellows sure have been on the job and deserve as much credit as we do. We could not stay up here if it wasn't for you. We sure appreciate your promptness and good work. Our motor roes not seem to show any signs of giving in. Oil pressure 90-95, temperature 55-65, mostly 60. R. P. M. (propeller revolutions per minute) 1325. It always reads the same. The only thing I notice is that the exhaust has lost some of its crack. Regards, RED."

O'Brine Hits a Knot.

A second message, addressed to "Shorty" Chaffee of the refueling crew, read: "Dear Shorty—How's every little thing this morning. We want about 60 gallons of gas and oil. Our motor sure is feeling good this morning. Just like a race horse. Wants to run away every chance it gets. Can hardly hold it down. Guess I'll have to hog-tie

PASTOR ACCUSES BISHOP CANNON OF MISUSE OF FUNDS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Bishop James Cannon Jr., leader of the Anti-Smith Democrats of the South, carried his political activity against Alfred Smith to the point in the last campaign that he lent funds belonging to the Methodist Board of Temperance and Social Service, of which he is chairman, to political organizations fighting the New York Governor, according to a letter written by Dr. Rembert C. Smith, a Georgia pastor, to the Lynchburg (Va.) News, and reproduced in the Washington Times today.

The Rev. Mr. Smith protested against Bishop Cannon's financial aid to the Anti-Smith party in Virginia, declaring that "the income of this board is secured as a result of an assessment levied on the church by the general conference, and no action by the general conference warrants the use of it for the help of any political party or candidate, and to lend it or use it for such purposes is in violation of the laws of the church.

"If every member of the church had desired the success of the Republican party and the election of Hoover, it still would have been improper to use this fund for the accomplishment of such purpose," said the letter. "But inasmuch as a large number of the members of the church did not desire the success of the Republican party or the election of Mr. Hoover, the lending of their money for these purposes was a violation of their inherent and inalienable rights."

Two loans were made, the Times says, of $5000 each.

"The fact that the money was thus lent has been admitted to the writer by Bishop James Cannon Jr., chairman of the board," said the Rev. Mr. Smith's letter.

TURKISH BOYS KILLS AUNT FOR RIDING HORSE ASTRIDE

Youth on Trial at Stamboul Says He Shot Her to Avenge Family Honor.

By the Associated Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 25.—A 17-year-old boy went on trial in the Stamboul Criminal Court yesterday charged with murdering his 19-year-old aunt because she rode a horse astride.

The youth declared the priest of his district had summoned him and complained of what he considered the girl's offense against decency. The boy said he remonstrated with his aunt, but when she declared that Turkish women were now free to do as they liked, he "avenged the family honor."

MAN HIT BY AUTO TUESDAY DIES OF HIS INJURIES

Martin Egan, 52 years old, of 593 DeBaliviere avenue, died this afternoon at St. Luke's Hospital of injuries suffered Tuesday when he was struck by an automobile as he attempted to cross Delmar boulevard at DeBaliviere.

Frank Podzuck of St. Louis County, driver of the car, will be re-arrested for the Coroner's inquest.

MESSAGES EXCHANGED BY HOUSTON AND ST. LOUIS ENDURANCE FLYERS

TELEGRAMS have been exchanged between Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine, pilots of the "St. Louis Robin," and Glenn Loomis and Joe Glass, pilots of the "Billion Dollar City," who are in their eighth day in the air at Houston, Tex.

The telegram from Loomis and Glass, received last night, was sent up to Jackson and O'Brine in the breakfast pail this morning. It read:

"Good luck, boys, but use discretion. We only have one good mag. Loomis and Glass, Plane Billion Dollar City."

LINDBERGH NEGOTIATING FOR NEW JERSEY ESTATE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is negotiating for the purchase of an estate in North Caldwell, N. J., Alexander H. Sands Jr., its owner, an official of the American Tobacco Co., said last night.

The property is part of Greenbrook Acres Inc., a real estate development atop a mountain overlooking the Passaic River Valley. Immediately surrounding the house are nine acres. The entire development, which includes two other houses, is 75 acres. Lindbergh may purchase any part.

The house itself, built three years ago by Sands at a cost of $100,000 contains 20 rooms and six baths and is of Georgian architecture, in red brick. Much of the land is wooded. Greenbrook Acres is two miles from a flying field the Curtiss Co. is developing.

WILL WITHDRAW CONTEST OVER CORONER'S ELECTION

Dr. E. H. Rund to Drop Suit; Opponent Gains 59 Votes in Recount.

Dr. E. H. Rund, defeated Democratic candidate for Coroner in the last election, will withdraw his election contest suit against Coroner William Dever, Dr. Rund's lawyer, Frank C. O'Malley, announced today.

Since June 3 when the recount began, 40 votes were added to Dr. Rund's total but this gain was offset today by the discovery of an error in addition in the Twenty-fourth Ward which added 59 votes to Dever's total.

The recount will cost the city $12,430.16 for clerical hire in connection with the work. The contestants must pay their attorneys and the watchers whom each maintained in the counting room at the City Hall. In the original count, Dever won by 800 votes.

MOUNT KILAUEA IN ERUPTION

Huge Crater on Island of Hawaii Resumes Activity.

By the Associated Press.

HONOLULU, July 25.—The huge volcano Kilauea on the island of Hawaii began erupting today.

The eruption occurred within the huge fire pit, 3500 feet in width and about 1350 deep. To view the spectacle people in Hilo, 35 miles away, prepared to move closer to Kilauea, 4000 feet above the sea on the flank of Mauna Loa, which bears a crater at its 13,675-foot summit. Kilauea, the world's largest active volcano, was last in eruption in February of this year.

FAMILY OF SEVEN DIES OF THIRST IN WESTERN DESERT

Auto Radiator Drained for Water to Drink — 17 Deaths of Heat in Imperial Valley.

By the Associated Press.

BLYTHE, Cal., July 25.—The Imperial Valley is experiencing one of the most violent heat waves in its history. Seventeen persons have succumbed to the heat in the last five days. The humidity, which has been extremely high, averaging about 78 for the last 10 days, was the chief cause of suffering. Temperatures have not been abnormally high during the period, averaging about 106.

Enrique Armenta, Mrs. Julia Perez and her six children were found dead of thirst on the desert. The party was traveling a little used desert road when their automobile developed engine trouble. The entire party of eight lost their lives. When the bodies were found it was discovered the water had been drained from the radiator of the car, presumably to drink. Armenta's body was found near the automobile. The bodies of Mrs. Perez and her children were found 12 miles away. Tracks indicated the mother and children had gone in search of help after Armenta's car had broken down, while Armenta remained with the machine in an effort to repair it.

Friends said Armenta, with Mrs. Perez and the children, had left Brawley, Cal., where they lived, Sunday on a trip to Blythe, a distance of about 60 miles through a region nearly devoid of human life.

Nine others, most of them Mexicans or Negroes, died of the heat in various cities in the valley.

SOUTH CAROLINA BANK CLOSED AFTER PRESIDENT KILLS SELF

Examiner Acts After Suicide of Charles D. Jones of Lancaster, Attributed to Ill Health.

By the Associated Press.

LANCASTER, S. C., July 25.—The First Bank & Trust Co. here was closed today following the suicide of its president, Charles D. Jones, who shot himself late yesterday.

Albert S. Fant, State Bank Examiner, ordered the bank not to open until a member of his staff had visited it.

Friends of the bank president ascribed ill health as the cause of his act.

By the Associated Press.

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., July 25.—The Bank of Ormond, only bank in this winter home of John D. Rockefeller, failed to open its doors today and was placed in the hands of the State Banking Department by order of the Board of Directors.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 25.—The First National Bank of St. Augustine and the Phifer State Bank of Gainesville, having aggregate deposits of more than $3,000,000, were closed yesterday because of excessive withdrawals and for the protection of depositors.

MOTORBOAT BEATS ROBERT E. LEE'S TIME TO ST. LOUIS

The Bogie Makes 1154-Mile Run From New Orleans in 87 Hours and 31 Minutes.

LOST NEARLY A DAY DUE TO MISHAPS

Three men in a boat, lean-faced and sunburned, pulled alongside the packet Piasa at the foot of Locust street at 6:35 a. m. today, cut the 350-horsepower motor of the 26-foot craft and turned to look at each other out of bloodshot eyes.

They sat and considered for a moment, as the waves slapped the Piasa and rebounded against their own craft, rocking it roughly.

"We beat it better than two hours," said Dr. Louis Leroy of Memphis, owner of the boat, the Bogie.

He referred to the 59-year-old record of the Robert E. Lee, famed in verse and barroom ballad, which steamed from New Orleans to St. Louis in 90 hours, 14 minutes, in a race with the Natchez in 1870. The Bogie's time of 87 hours, 31 minutes is 2 hours, 43 minutes less than the Robert E. Lee's mark. It was Dr. Leroy's third attempt to set a new record, mishaps due to driftwood breaking the propeller, bringing failure to his other attempts.

How Are Endurance Flyers?

"How are those endurance flyers doing?" was one of the first questions asked by Dr. Leroy. "I bet they're pretty near the record, aren't they?"

When told they had passed it and were still going, Dr. Leroy said: 'We went through something of an endurance test ourselves. For four nights we haven't slept and since Sunday afternoon we've lived on buttermilk and orange juice."

His appearance and that of his mates, Harvey Brown and Bob Hunter, both of Memphis, bore him out. Their eyes were red slits, their cheeks sunken, their clothing greasy and wrinkled. They estimated they had lost from 15 to 20 pounds each. Dr. Leroy's Van Dyke beard was ragged and all were unshaven. Their skin was a deep brown from the beating of the sun. The boat itself is open and offers no protection against sunshine or rain.

"We couldn't eat much," said Dr. Leroy. "Eating makes you sleepy and we couldn't afford to sleep. Everything is against your chance of keeping awake anyway, the breeze, the movement of the boat and the river weather. Eating just makes it worse.

"I'm going to let the mark stand for a while. If someone wants to beat it, he will have to have lots of skill, endurance, and luck."

Lost 20 Hours on Trip.

Hunter estimated they had lost 20 hours in stopovers, 12 at Greenville, Miss., where a new propeller shaft was installed. The propeller was changed three times due to being bent by driftwood. The Bogie is so constructed that a new propeller can be attached without taking the boat from the water.

"The strain on the eyes was worst," said Hunter," especially at night. We couldn't use lights because the slightest light would have blinded us. We didn't even smoke at night. The man at the wheel had to keep his eyes on the water and when he saw driftwood a few feet off, whip the boat around it. Sometimes we ran as slow as four miles an hour. Where can a fellow get some real food and coffee?"

Dr. Leroy's wife, who came to St. Louis by rail last night, was the reception committee of one which met the Bogie. Later Commodore Edwin Koenig of the St. Louis Yacht Club arrived.

The Bogie has a Scripps motor, of six cylinders. It is a V-bottom runabout, "very seaworthy" and can make 30 miles an hour, Dr. Leroy said. It was made especially for the New Orleans-St. Louis trip.

The Martha Jane, a small yacht, which started with the Bogie in a race for St. Louis, was forced out by motor trouble at Natchez, Miss.

Dr. Leroy, by completing the journey, wins a 5-cent bet from George M. Cox of New Orleans, owner of the Martha Jane. Both are motor boat racing enthusiasts.

ENDURANCE FLYERS NOW ON THIRTEENTH DAY IN THE AIR

it. O'Brine is singing his usual morning song. Gee! I thought the motor was knocking, but O'Brine just hit a knot. I'm sure in a fine place between the motor and O'Brine. Can't tell who makes the most noise, but you can tell them apart very easy as O'Brine has more vibration at high speed. I know now why the tail surface shakes. Regards, Red."

O'Brine made a similar comment in a message dropped at dawn. He wrote: "Thursday morning and all is well. Motor still O. K. Red passed out about 2 o'clock and is still sawing them off. He snores just like Joe Hammer, the little bulldog of the Missouri Robin. How's the ship, Houston, Tex., the Billion Dollar City. Are they still up? You know we can't land with them up. They might pass us and that will never do. Well I will turn things over to Red for awhile. O'Brine."

Jackson and O'Brine are reading newspaper accounts of their flight with considerable interest, and insist upon prompt delivery. A sidelight item in yesterday's Post-Dispatch told that Dr. A. C. Leggat, flight surgeon, expected Jackson, who perspires freely, to lose about 20 pounds on the flight, and for O'Brine to lose about 10 pounds.

"Pants Getting Too Tight."

"Tell Doc he's wrong," Jackson wrote in a note dropped at noon. "I'm not getting thin. I'm gaining weight. My pants are getting too tight for me."

A metal tube, six inches long and an inch in diameter, with a yard of red ribbon attached, is used by the endurance flyers for sending down special notes. Spiraling low over the field, the tube is tossed out by the flyers and picked up by ground men. Ordinary messages are put in empty food containers which are taken off by the refueling crew.

With the announcement of additional daily rewards, the flyers are now being compensated at the rate of $2673 a day, for each 24 hours in excess of the old record, which they will divide. The principal reward is the $100 an hour, offered by the Curtiss Aeroplane & Motor Co., manufacturers of the Challenger motor in the St. Louis Robin. A downtown department store and an electrical concern are donating $100 a day each, and an insurance company has pledged $25 a day. In addition cash is being accumulated toward a purse to be presented at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon in their honor. A Kansas City paint concern contributed $500 toward the fund, and the makers of the carburetor on the Robin made a similar contribution.

The first reward money to be turned over to the flyers was a check for $100, delivered at the field yesterday by P. I. Chandeysson, president of the Chandeysson Electric Co., who announced that he would appear at the field every afternoon with a similar check as long as the flyers were in the air. Many individual cash contributions are being receievd at the Chamber of Commerce.

Waiters on Ground.

While the flight appears to be an adventure into finance and romance for the two flyers, it has developed into a matter of grim waiting for the many ground watchers, whose business requires their regular presence at the field. Movie camera men, newspaper photographers, reporters, official watchers, sit grimly on uncomfortable chairs, their faces blackened and their tongues parched by incessant clouds of dust stirred up by whirling propellers, passing trucks and shuffling feet.

"Just one more place in the big trimotored plane. Take a 20-minute ride over Forest Park for $3," a loud speaker on top a commercial hangar announces. The one place is quickly filled. The three big propellers of the plane are speeded up as the pilot turns the ship out onto the field, and a blinding cloud of dust sweeps across the endurance flight headquarters.

Those in the path of the dust cloud rush gasping from the unwalled tent in which they have been sweltering. Some turn up coat collars, others stumble over tent ropes and chairs. "Gawd," gasps a movie man, "I didn't come out here to shoot a sand storm."

The dust settles, the plane takes off. The watchers, several hundred per cent dirtier, return to their vigil.

Watchers Only Groan.

"All right folks, the plane will be back in just 20 minutes. Get your tickets now," the unseen speaker with the cheery "selling" voice vibrates over the loud speaker. The answer is a groan from the watchers' tent.

As if in derision of the plight of the dirty, parched observers, Jackson dropped the following message last night:

"It is nice and cool up here, no smoke or dust. Could sleep all day if O'Brine would let me, but we must look after this Baby you know. It runs better over 3000 feet, so we stay between 3000 and 4000. We want a full load of gas, 120 gallons, and oil. Everything going fine, can't complain. All we hope is we can keep going. Our motor still running fine. Will look for you soon. Regards, Red and O'Brine."

For supper last night the flyers had sandwiches, slaw, milk and cakes. They remained within hearing of the airport during the night. A heavy bank of clouds during the early part of the night gave the several thousand spectators but scant opportunity of glimpsing the plane. Small groups remained at the field during the night and several hundred persons were on hand at the morning refueling.

Before the evening refueling the flyers made the following request for "smokes": "Red wants two cigars and I want two packages of cigarettes. Be damn sure you bring them up for I am out and I don't want to land to get them, O'Brine."

Showers Make Going Rough for the Houston Plane.

By the Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Tex., July 25.—Intermittent showers sweeping in from the Gulf made flying conditions rough today for Houston's endurance plane, but did not affect the determination of the pilots, Joe Glass and Glenn L. Loomis, to stay up longer than their rivals in the St. Louis Robin. At 10:49:54 a. m. the "Billion Dollar City" ended its 189th hour in the air.

A smashup of the refueling ship, which would have ended the endurance flight, was narrowly averted late yesterday when a girl stowaway secreted herself in the tail of the plane. Due to the extra weight the supply plane barely managed to clear the boundary fence on the take-off.

Minnesota Plane Avoids Storm, Pilots Miss Dinner.

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 25.—Successfully keeping out of the way of a severe storm, the monoplane Minnesota flew onward today in its endurance refueling record attempt.

Pilots Owen Haughland and Capt. P. L. Crichton had to subsist during the night on emergency rations carried on the plane. They missed their regular dinner last evening because of an early refueling due to the storm. Their meal was not ready when the gasoline was sent up. The Minnesota has been up since 6:40 p. m., Monday.

J. A. BELL, ONCE MILLIONAIRE AND BANKER, GETS PAROLE

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, July 25.—John A. Bell, one time millionaire coal operator and banker who has been serving a 6-year sentence for wrecking his Carnegie, Pa., Trust Co., was paroled in Criminal Court here today. Bell, once a candidate for the United States Senate, had served two years.

Bell, now poor and physically broken, is 75 years old, but has expressed the intention of "making good and paying back every cent I owe." The Carnegie crash involved millions of dollars. Shortly after his trial, Bell suffered paralytic strokes and his two years' imprisonment have been passed in a hospital.

Endurance Flight Sidelights

WATCHERS at flight headquarters, who have had their eyes, ears, nostrils and hair filled with dust sent up in clouds by the whirling propellers of sightseeing planes, had their revenge early last evening when a trimotored plane loaded with sightseers landed at the No. 1 air mail beacon, eight miles from the field, when one of the engines began sputtering. The landing ended sight-seeing flights for the evening.

Joseph Hammer, who, with W. Gentry Shelton Jr., stayed up in the Missouri Robin 117 hours, 20 minutes, has postponed returning to his air mail route until Jackson and O'Brine come down.

"We didn't break any record, but I had five days of fun watching Shelton's antics," Hammer said.

The loud speaker of one of the commercial companies at Lambert Field was tuned in on an orchestra program last night and a number of persons took advantage of the music to dance on the concrete in front of a hangar.

"It doesn't look like they will ever wear out," "Shorty" Chaffee of the refueling crew announced after delivering gasoline and breakfast to the flyers this morning.

F. B. Oswald, president of the Shamrock Oil Co., which has supplied the fuel for the flight, today announced a reward of $100 each to Wassall and Chaffee, the refueling crew. It is also expected Jackson and O'Brine will share their reward with the ground crew.

Volunteer radio announcer at field last night:

"And up above us, the St. Louis Robin, cruising around at a radius of 90 miles an hour."

The Cook Paint & Varnish Co., Kansas City, makers of the paint used on the St. Louis Robin, and the Stromberg Carburetor Co., which made the carburetor used, have announced donations of $500 each to the general fund being raised for the flyers. The Sligo Iron Co., which supplies the Curtiss-Robertson Co. with bolts and nuts, donated $200.

Two radio stations now have microphones at the field, broadcasting developments until late at night.

C. Ray Wassall, pilot of the refueling plane, left the field for several hours last night, so confident was he that the flyers needed no immediate attention. Wassall and Chaffee have been sleeping in a commercial hangar at the field since the flight started.

Each of the 450 employes of the Curtiss-Robertson Airplane Manufacturing Co., makers of the St. Louis Robin, has taken a personal interest in the flight.

Milt Girton, pilot for the Shell Oil Co., who taught Jackson to fly at Lambert Field in 1926, sent his congratulations to his former pupil yesterday. "Red took to flying like a duck to water," Girton said. "He was airwise from the word go and had a natural mechanical bent. He kept our plane in trim all the time and was always seeking to help other mechanics."

While it is impossible to estimate accurately the crowds at Lambert Field, approximately 100,000 persons have visited the airport since the endurance flight started.

The dust problem at Lambert Field has disclosed that there are no more sprinkling wagons, according to Field Manager Parks. "I have been trying for a week to find a sprinkling cart," Parks said. "All the city has is flushers, which are of no service in settling dust. Apparently paved streets have sent all the old sprinklers to the discard."

STABS MAN FOUND WITH WIFE

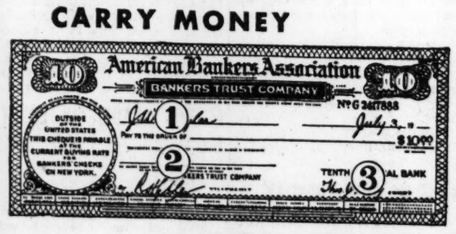

Illinoisan Voluntarily Reports Wounding His Cousin.

By the Associated Press.

CANTON, Ill., July 25.—Ernest Melvin, 30, of Blyton vicinity, west of here, reported voluntarily to the State's Attorney this morning that he had stabbed Glenn Postin, his cousin, twice in the back when he found him with Melvin's wife last night. Postin is in a hospital here in a serious condition. No charge has been filed against Melvin, pending developments.

Melvin, his wife and Postin are all cousins. Melvin said he had been suspicious of Postin since last fall when Postin and Mrs. Melvin were arrested at a dance hall for disorderly conduct. Mrs. Melvin is the mother of a month-old baby and two other children.

MISTRIAL IN CASE OF REYNOLDS HEIR IN AUTO KILLING

Foreman of Jury in London Court Is Seen Talking to Two Defense Witnesses, One His Friend.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, July 25.—The manslaughter trial of Richard Joshua Reynolds, wealthy 23-year-old American, came to an abrupt end today. The Judge discharged the jury and ordered a retrial when the jury foreman informed him that he had talked last night with two defense witnesses.

The Judge said that under these circumstances the trial could not proceed. One of the defense witnesses who talked to the jury foreman was a friend of the foreman, the latter admitted.

A new trial before a fresh jury was ordered to start tomorrow.

Justice Humphrey on taking his seat at the opening of today's session addressed the jury, saying that he had asked the members on the first day of the trial to be very careful not to speak to any person connected with the case or allow any such person to speak to them.

"Do any of you desire to say anything to me on the subject?" he asked.

The foreman of the jury replied: "I did see one witness last night, Mr. Atwood, who is a friend of mine. I didn't discuss the case beyond his evidence."

He added that he had known Atwood for sometime and that Atwood had spoken to him first. The foreman said that another witness named Taylor who had been with Atwood at the time also spoke to him.

"I only joked about the way Mr. Atwood spoke," said the foreman. "I am very sorry if I have done anything wrong."

Reynolds, a son of the late founder of the Reynolds Tobacco Co., is charged with responsibility for the death of Arthur Graham, who was fatally hurt when his motor cycle was struck by an auto driven by Reynolds who was accompanied by Ronald Bargate. The accident occurred in a London suburb on the night of May 14.

Reynolds, on the stand, admitted that he had several "pimmies," a mixture of lemonade and gin, but denied that he was intoxicated.

POLICE FIND NARCOTIC IN PARKED AUTOMOBILE

Owner, Arrested, Says He Held Drug as Security for Loan.

Finding a shoe box containing 10 ounces of heroin in an automobile parked at Twenty-second and Olive streets last midnight, police arrested the owner, Robert Hoffman, 23 years old, 6286 Cates avenue, University City. He told police that he held the drug as security for a $250 loan he had made.

Pius XI Leaves Vatican In Brilliant Celebration

down on the broad stony expanse of the square, the crowds assembled in a setting of great simplicity. Spectators were there from all the world.

A note of sobriety characterized the decorations of the houses fronting on St. Peter's Square. There was a curious absence of Papal flags, although many hangings of red damask were displayed. The central tapestry piece, depicting the Last Supper, was early hung as a background to the temporary altar in front of St. Peter's.

Shortly before 4 p. m., there were from 35,000 to 40,000 persons in the square. From 12,000 to 15,000 soldiers mounted guard. There were infantry in gray green uniforms, dismounted cavalry and metropolitan police in white helmets, tunics, and black trousers, carabinieri in full uniform with cocked hats, red plumes and white fourrageres, grenadiers in steel helmets and white gloves, Alpine troops with feathered hats, and Fascist militia in black shirts, gray tunics and black fezzes.

In the very middle of the square, adjacent to the central obelisk, two Red Cross tents were erected, with several nurses under a Major of the Medical Corps in attendance.

Many detachments of soldiers took the precaution to bring along their own canteens, from which drinks and ice cream were dispensed to the thirsty. A number of old women, carrying buckets of ice on their heads, did a landoffice business in the sweltering crowd, selling chunks of ice for parched throats at prices increasing a few cents every hour.

A party of nuns mounted to the roof of the Vatican itself, sitting in the broiling sun and overlooking the square.

A number of yellow and white parasols sprung up like mushrooms in the dense mass of the crowd in the square. Many men wore papal colors of yellow and white as kerchiefs about their necks.

For the first time since 1870 a detachment of Palatine guards entered St. Peter's and took up their stations at the bottom of the broad steps leading to the basilica.

The papal coat of arms was hoisted over the last supper tapestry about 4:30 p. m., by which time the crowd had grown to nearly 75,000.

Police Planes Circle Overhead.

Police airplanes hummed overhead to keep private airplanes, notably those of movie camera men, from circling over Vatican territory and particularly the square.

The Pope's emergence was made the occasion for a convention in Rome of representatives of Catholic seminaries and universities the world over. In their multi-colored robes, the members of the faculties and student bodies, together with members of the various monastic and preaching orders filled the square with one of the most picturesque assemblages it has contained since the age of the renaissance.

St. Peter's portico was hung with a series of magnificent tapestries as were the two wings of the colonnade for their entire length. These were the famous pieces given to Pius VII by the Emperor Napoleon after his coronation in Notre Dame of Paris and are the work of the master, Dohlen. In between them were hangings of red damask.

POWERS AGREE ON THE HAGUE

All but Belgium Have Voted on Reparation Meeting.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, July 25.—The principal Powers interested in the Young reparations plan, with the exception of Belgium, have agreed upon The Hague as the seat of the conference of Foreign Ministers to put the plan into effect, Foreign Minister Briand announced today.

The British Ambassador in Brussels has been charged with asking Belgium to agree to The Hague.

AMANDUS BRACKMAN TO BE COUNTY JUDGE

He and A. V. Lashly Will Fill Two Posts Created by Last Legislature.

Amandus Brackman, [illegible] Bend road, Shrewsbury, a Republican, will be appointed Judge of one of two additional divisions of the St. Louis County Circuit Court created by the last Legislature, Gov. Caulfield announced today.

The formal appointment will be made Aug. 27, when the act becomes effective. Arthur V. Lashly, a Democrat, of Webster Groves, who conducted a crime survey for the Missouri Association for Criminal Justice, was selected for the court several weeks ago. The law provided that the two major political parties be represented in the appointments.

Brackman is a member of the law firm of Brackman, Hamer & Versen, with offices in the Title Guaranty Building. He has served as City Attorney of Shrewsbury for several years, but has taken little active part in county politics.

Gov. Caulfield explained that the announcement of his intention to make the appointments was for the purpose of providing sufficient time to permit the appointees to arrange their personal affairs before taking their new positions.

Rules "Hunch" Raid Is Illegal.

OMAHA, July 25.—Evidence obtained in a "hunch" raid in which prohibition agents seized a 1½ gallon still was not good in Federal Judge J. W. Woodrough's court. Today he dismissed charges against Merle Born, in whose home the still was found. Raiding officers declared they had a "hunch" there was a still in Born's home, but had no warrant. The correctness of the "hunch," the Judge ruled, was no excuse for an illegal search.

TWO YOUTHS WHO SKIPPED MILITARY DRILL IN CITY JAIL

Violators of National Guard Rules Come in Contact With Many Types of Criminals in Cells.

26 SERVED TERMS THERE IN A YEAR

Relative of John Sanguinet Protests Against 25-Day Sentence for Missing Three Assemblies.

Two youths are serving terms in the City Jail for failure to attend drills of the 138th Infantry, National Guard of Missouri, of which they are members. In the fiscal year ending last April there were 26 young men sentenced to the jail for similar offenses by summary courtsmartial of the regiment and since April, according to jail attaches, there have been several others.

The confinement is legal. Officers of the regiment, which has about 800 enlisted men, say they regret the necessity of this sort of punishment, but find it necessary to maintain discipline; youths join the regiment knowing they must attend weekly drills, but fail to do so, the officers relate, and no other satisfactory form of punishment has been devised. The cost of maintaining a guardhouse at the Armory at Grand boulevard and Market street would be prohibitive, they declare.

Guardsmen who have been sent to jail and their relatives, however, denounce the practice of using the City Jail for offenders against military rules, in peace time. The citizen-soldiers whose offense is missing drill are thrown in intimate contact with men who have been convicted of civil crimes of every degree and with others awaiting trial. Thieves, moral offenders, narcotic peddlers and sometimes even murderers are their fellow prisoners. One of the guardsmen now in jail shares a sleeping cell with a man charged with a criminal attack on a woman.

Brothers in Jail.

John Sanguinet, 22 years old and his brother, Joe, 20, belong to the regimental service company as members of the band. John is a trumpeter and Joe plays the drums. They are sons of Mrs. Sarah Sanguinet, public stenographer at the Missouri Hotel. They have been irregular in attendance at Tuesday night drills. John's second and Joe's first three-year enlistment terms will expire next summer.

Reporting for drill on July 9, John and Joe were tried before Lieut. I. H. Hopmann, who constituted a summary court-martial, and pleaded guilty to missing drills. They were sentenced to 25 days in jail each and John was reduced from corporal to private. They broke away from an escort taking them to the jail, at Grand and Market. On July 16 their commanding officer, Capt. John H. Gerling, another guard officer and two city detectives sought to arrest them at a house on Pine boulevard where they had been staying with their mother.

They ran away but one detective caught John in the alley. Joe expects to report to the armory tonight and to receive a parole. Mrs. Sanguinet, though deploring her son's presence in jail, recognizes the necessity of discipline in the regiment and speaks highly of its officers. "I'm still enthusiastic for the One Hundred and Thirty-eighth," she says, "but I don't think it's right to throw the boys in contact with all sorts of criminals for only missing drill." Her sister has sought the aid of Congressman Cochran to get John released, and Cochran, after telegraphing Capt. Gerling for information, wired Adjutant-General A. V. Adams at Jefferson City asking for the youth's release. Capt. Gerling said the request could not be granted.

Missed Three Drills.

John recollects missing three drills lately: at the time of the first, he says, he was in Kansas City to see a friend about arrangements for working his way through the journalism school of the University of Missouri, starting next autumn; at the time of the second he was at the university in Columbia, and he doesn't recall where he was the other time. He doesn't know the reason for Joe's absence. John says he failed to give notice he would be out of town because he didn't think it mattered. Capt. Gerling, who is a Deputy City Assessor, the son of Acting Superintendent of Schools Gerling, claims to have seen the Sanguinet boys in town at times when they said they were away, and adds, "We let them get away with it as long as we could stand it."

The other guardsman in jail is Arthur Kress Jr., 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kress of 2602 Horder avenue, Jennings, a private in D company, a machine gun outfit. He enlisted for three years in January, 1928. He was arrested day before yesterday near his home and pleaded guilty before Capt. Gerling, as summary court-martial officer, that night. He

He spent the night at the police holdover and was taken to jail yesterday for a 25-day term, for missing four drills in June. He says he was cut and suffered a spinal injury in an automobile accident in Ferguson in June and has been unable to work, but did not get a chance to explain that at his trial. He asserts also that he telephoned the armory twice to give notice of his absence.

Capt. Gerling says Arthur pleaded guilty without trying to explain. Arthur served a five-day jail term last year for missing drill. A neighbor of Arthur's finished a 10-day sentence last week for a similar offense. Arthur is to be released ahead of time to go to the National Guard encampment at Nevada, Mo., next month, and John Sanguinet probably will receive a like parole.

KILLED IN SHOWING POLICE HOW TO AVOID BEING SHOT

ALLENTOWN, Pa., July 25.—Capt. William Kieb, widely known life-saving instructor, and field representative of the American Red Cross, was fatally wounded here today when demonstrating to local policemen how to get away from a man holding a pistol to one's back. The revolver used in the demonstration, thought to have been unloaded, contained a loaded cartridge.

Patrolman Warren Ander was holding the revolver. Kieb told him to pull the trigger as Kieb executed the maneuver he was demonstrating. The bullet penetrated Kieb's spine at the small of the back. Kieb fell to the floor, but did not lose consciousness, and gave instructions to the ambulance men, who took him to a hospital, where he died an hour after his arrival.

Impressions of Italy, given by Librarian Arthur E. Bostwick to the Lions Club at the American Annex Hotel yesterday, were:

"Italy, once one of the dirtiest of countries, has been cleaned up.

"Everybody drinks, but not strong liquor, and nobody gets drunk.

"Street car fares are 2½ cents, our money. Policemen settle petty misdemeanor cases on the spot, and save work for the courts."

Dr. Bostwick attended the international convention of librarians, which was a success socially and as an exhibition of rare books and manuscripts, but diversity of language hampered the conference programs.

Two Sisters Drown in Okaw.

By the Associated Press.

SHELBYVILLE, Ill., July 25.—Jean and June, 9 and 10 year old daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kroninger of Cowden, were drowned in the Okaw River near here late yesterday. Both parents were fishing in another part of the stream when the accident occurred.

taxi fare on leaving, Miss Doherty added.

Lieut. Fleming and Patrolman Beyer testified to finding Gans, wounded and unclad. They also found the rolling pin and other articles mentioned by Miss Doherty.

Harry Morgan, manager of the hotel, testified he had requested Gans to pay his bill there last Tuesday, at which time Gans said he had been "rather frivolous," had squandered a fortune and been cut off by his family. Gans promised to pay today.

"Did you know the girl was up in his room?" Morgan was asked.

"I hope I didn't," he replied. "We try to avoid that."

Gans had no money, his only valuable possession being a signet ring. His effects included a telegram from a sister, Mrs. J. F. Julian Blass of Little Rock, and a form showing he had applied for an Argentine police certificate of identification, stating he was born in Little Rock, Feb. 4, 1901.

Had Said He'd Kill Himself.

He had predicted in casual conversation that he would kill himself and last March 17 had written a will on hotel stationery, as follows:

"This is my last will. To my friends, J. Smith, J. Donnelly and O. Herman Gallagher, I give $100 apiece in appreciation. To Mrs. Julian Blass, the residue of my estate after all bills are paid."

Gans was the only son of the late Gus Gans, pioneer Arkansas merchant and founder of the Gans Dry Goods Co., at Little Rock. The son had spent most of the inheritance left him by his father except about $30,000 in property held in trust. He was at one time Little Rock representative for the John F. Clarke Co., brokers, of New York, but had not lived in Little Rock for five years, although returning there for visits at intervals. He had traveled extensively.

Arrested in New York.

After three months of Broadway night life, during which he ran through an inheritance, Gans was arrested in New York three years ago on charges of grand larceny and illegal possession of firearms. Complaint was made by a brokerage firm that he had purchased stock through them by presenting a worthless check for $1000.

Gans admitted he knew at the time he presented the check he had only $75 in the bank, the last of $40,000 bequeathed him by a relative. Gans said he expected his brother-in-law, Blass, vice president of the Bankers' Trust Co. of Little Rock, on which the check was drawn, to make it good, as he had done on former occasions.

Following this escapade, Gans went to South America as special representative of an oil company. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Blass of Little Rock and Mrs. Kirk Becker of New York.

London Gets Soviet Reply.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, July 5.—The British Government received today through the Norwegian Government a reply to the British proposals for the resumption of full diplomatic relations between Moscow and London. The soviet reply intimates that the Moscow authorities propose to send M. Bovgalevsky, Russian Ambassador in Paris, to London early next week to study with British Foreign Office officials the best means for the resumption of relations.

TWO QUIT POSTS ON BRENTWOOD POLICE BOARD

President and Secretary Charge City Marshal Ignores Orders and Fails to Enforce Law.

D. M. Wright, secretary of the Board of Police Commissioners of Brentwood, and F. M. Taylor, president of the board, have resigned, charging City Marshal Louis Lucas with failure to enforce the law and alleging that Mayor J. L. Willingham did nothing to prevent the sale of home brew at a recent festival held in Brentwood, the proceeds of which were used for street improvements. The resignations, submitted Tuesday, became effective today.

Wright said today it was a matter of common knowledge in Brentwood that beer was consumed at a festival sponsored by an improvement association on the night of July 6, and that when he had mentioned the fact at a meeting of the police Board the Mayor remarked: "Let us not overlook the fact, gentlemen, that the money raised at this festival will be used to improve streets."

Mayor Heard of Beer at "Party."

Willingham said he had heard beer was available at the festival, but described it as a "little party for home owners" on a street which is only two blocks long. An admission charge of 50 cents was made and the proceeds were to be spent by residents of the street for improving it, he said. The festival had no official status, and he was not present, he added.

"I never sanctioned the sale of beer for money," he said. "I did tell Wright and the board that before jumping on these home owners for having a little party we ought to get after some of the big violators who make a business of it."

Willingham said he thought Wright was inspired to make his charge by the action of the Board of Police Commissioners last Tuesday night in instructing 10 special police officers to refrain from making arrests for traffic violations. Wright had urged the appointment of special officers, he said.

"We're trying to get away from the 'cowboy' stuff in police work," the Mayor said. "I recommended to the board that only the two uniformed police officers be permitted to make arrests on the road and they agreed to that. Wright didn't like it."

Blames City Marshal.

Wright was one of six elisors appointed by Circuit Judge Mulloy to enforce the law in Brentwood last year after a special grand jury had charged that officials were not enforcing the law there. In his letter of resignation he includes among his reasons, "An inefficient city marshal who has refused to co-operate with the Board of Police Commissioners, and who has publicly stated that he will continue to refuse to take instructions from the Police Board.

"Failure of the city marshal to enforce the laws in some important instances and inefficient undertaking to enforce them in others."

Wright said the operator of a resort raided by Lucas on Saturday night had told another former elisor on Friday that he had been informed he would be raided.

REFRIGERATOR GAS DRIVES 19 OUT OF APARTMENT HOUSE

Tank Connected With Cooling Apparatus Explodes in Building at 5516 Natural Bridge Avenue.

Eighteen men and women and one child, living in a three-story apartment building at 5516 Natural Bridge avenue, were routed to the street at 3:30 a. m. today by sulphur dioxide fumes, following the explosion of a tank connected with a refrigerating machine in the basement.

After numerous complaints by residents that the machine was not functioning properly and was not making ice for the iceboxes in the various apartments, the tank was refilled yesterday afternoon by a representative of the company which services that particular machine here, a Post-Dispatch reporter was informed.

There are four refrigerating machines in the basement, one for each three apartments. Three of the 12 apartments are vacant. The tank which exploded was directly under the first-floor front apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wind and their 7-year-old daughter.

Awakened by Explosion.

"The explosion woke me and I had to fight for air, the fumes were so strong," Mrs. Wind said. "I opened a front window for air, but had to close it because the basement windows were open and the fumes were coming up that way.

"I aroused my husband and daughter and sent my husband through the corridors to arouse the other tenants."

The other tenants are: R. D. Newton, G. C. Collins, V. Felmar, J. C. Pairman, O. F. Sigler, G. E. Kornig, J. D. Lehr, A. M. Balle and their wives.

The fumes had not penetrated to the rooms on the second and third floors when the occupants were aroused, but were powerful in the halls as they hurried to the street.

Firemen and policemen were summoned. Basement windows were opened first and later the apartments were ventilated. Two hours after the explosion the residents were permitted to return to their homes. None was reported to have been affected by the fumes.

Expert Committee to Aid in Drafting Refrigeration Ordinance.

Preparatory to drafting an ordinance governing the installation and operation of mechanical refrigeration systems in St. Louis, Health Commissioner Starkloff and Director of Public Safety Steininger met today with local representatives of the mechanical refrigeration industry and others interested.

The meeting, which was held in Commissioner Starkloff's office, served to bring out various opinions concerning safe and unsafe refrigeration and resulted in a decision to create a committee to cooperate with the Board of Health in devising safety regulations which will tend to obviate the possibility of any menace to health from refrigeration systems here.

This committee, which will be composed of representatives of the refrigeration industry, refrigeration engineers not connected with any manufacturer, and members of the Health Department, will be subject to the call of Dr. Starkloff.

After a series of conferences, at which all data will be considered, the ordinance will be drafted for submission at the next meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

Endurance Dance Winners Waiting for Their $2000

Prize Money Placed in Escrow After Promoter and Legion Post Get Into Dispute Over Division of Funds.

Four disillusioned dancers—two men and two women—who staggered and reeled through 51 days of endurance at the Palladium Rink, are still waiting about St. Louis to get the $2000 in prize money they thought they had won when the dance ended last Saturday night.

Joe and Mary Rock, brother and sister team of Chicago, took the first prize, $1500—and Dan Salisbury and Vivian Saunders of Chicago took the second prize, $500. But payment has been held up on the checks and the prizes are "frozen" through an escrow arrangement at the Grand Avenue Bank.

"The checks are as good as gold," said C. J. Almstedt, finance officer of the Aubuchon-Dennison Post No. 186 of the American Legion, which sponsored the dance marathon. "The money is in the bank. But some differences have come up between the Legion committee for the dance, and Mark Ross, the dance promoter, and until those differences are settled, I can't put my signature on the checks the two prize winners hold."

He Doesn't Explain Why.

Almstedt was unable to explain why the prize winners should be made to wait for their money because of a "snarl" involving the Legion dance committee and Mark Ross, the promoter. Ross, Minneapolis promoter who came here to "put over" the dance, said last night at the Melbourne Hotel that he had put the prize money in the bank eight weeks ago and that if the dancers were not paid it wasn't his fault.

"I took a trimming here on this dance," said Ross. "It will put me $8000 or more in the red. Our overhead ran about $6000 a week. The total cost was about $45,000 and we took in only $37,000. The Legion cut in by percentage on the gross and they will make $5500. But I lose. Before the dance started I put checks for $1500, $500, $300 and $200 in the bank, $2500 for the prize winners. They paid off the third and fourth prize winners. The money is there to pay off one and two, if they release it."

After 51 Days of Dancing.

"Chick" Batavia, manager for Joe and Mary Rock, sadly exhibited their check for $1500 and said: "They say it's good as gold. But we'll be a lot happier when we get that last signature on there and can cash it. Fortunately, Joe and Mary Rock, who are staying with me, have enough money to keep them going for a week or so. At the same time, they could put their prize money to use. Dan Salisbury and Vivian Saunders, however, who took second money, really need the cash. Dan has a payment to make on his automobile and if he doesn't meet it he'll lose the car. It's tough, after dancing 51 days, to get 'cold money' you can't cash at the bank."

PARKVIEW DEPRIVED OF CITY SERVICE FOR CLOSING STREETS

Particular Police and Fire Calls Will Be Answered, However, Mayor Ruth Says.

Residents of Parkview, University City subdivision which has barred through traffic on its private streets, today were without the usual services of the city. Mayor Ruth ordered that police cease patrolling Parkview streets, that the city discontinue its garbage collection, and notified the St. Louis County Water Co. that the city would no longer be responsible for the annual rental of $50 charged for each of 12 fire plugs in the district.

Particular calls for police or fire service will be answered, the Mayor said.

Parkview, between Delmar boulevard and the University street car tracks and between Skinker road and the Kirkwood-Ferguson street car tracks, has kept chains across its through streets. Negotiations looking to opening of the streets have been carried on with trustees of the subdivision since last September. The city first set the date for withdrawal of its services for July 1 and granted two postponements. The Board of Aldermen last night denied another application of residents of the district for more time to consider the matter.

DRY AGENTS SEIZE WHISKY SENT TO MILLINERY FIRMS

Sam Schoenholtz of Forest Hat Co. and Ben Fischkop of Progressive Hat Co. Deny Ordering It.

Twelve shipping cases, each containing a case of imported whisky, were trailed from New York City to St. Louis and seized this afternoon by prohibition agents as an express company driver delivered them to the consignees, four wholesale hat and millinery houses on Washington avenue and Twelfth boulevard.

Sam Schoenholtz, president of the Forest Hat Co., 414 North Twelfth boulevard, his shipping clerk, William S. Hart, and Ben Fischkop, president of the Progressive Hat Co., were ordered to appear at the Federal Building tomorrow. They protested that they had ordered no whisky and could not understand why the shipments had been made.

A telegram from New York prohibition authorities prompted Deputy Prohibition Administrator Dillon to go to the American Express Co.'s office to inspect the cases, of which three each were addressed to the Forest company, the Progressive company, the Krischman Millinery Co., 1410 Washington avenue, and the Feder Hat Co., 1307 Washington avenue.

The shippers, according to the markings, were Style-Block, Inc., and Fashion Hat Block Co., New York, thought to be fictitious firms.

Dillon ordered the immediate delivery of the packages and accompanied the express truck on its rounds. At the Forest and Progressive offices the shipments were accepted readily but when the truck proceeded to the Washington avenue offices shipping clerks refused to accept the cases.

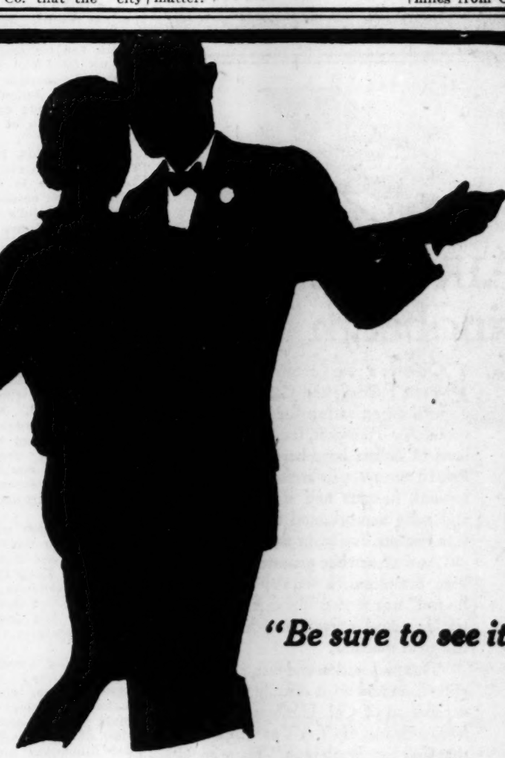

The 12 cases, each containing an assortment of Scotch, rye and Bourbon in pints and quarts, were taken to the Federal Building. Schoenholtz and Fischkop said they accepted the shipments presuming the cases contained millinery sent to them on consignment.

"The AIR LINE That Col. Lindbergh Built"

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Chairman Technical Committee, Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc. Aeronautical Adviser, Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

FOR over a year famous experts have been building the Coast-to-Coast ground organization for Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc.* Many millions of dollars have been invested in lighted airways, new airports, passenger stations, hangars and shops, teletype and radio network, and the finest private weather bureau in the world.

And after that groundwork had been completed, a ten day "dress rehearsal" was successfully carried on, to test in actual operation each part of the great machine.

This preparation and test, and operation from now on, is directly under the supervision of Col. Lindbergh. People frequently identify TAT as "the airline that Col. Lindbergh built." There could be no better guarantee of careful, thorough planning and operation than that fact plus the substantial ownership of TAT stock by the outstanding Pennsylvania Railroad.

TAT is now in regular operation, carrying passengers from Coast to Coast in 48 hours, on schedule. It has proved valuable too as a speedy, comfortable way to travel between the local points on its line. It is the outstanding accomplishment in modern transportation.

BRITISH CHIEF IN EGYPT FORCED OUT OF OFFICE

High Commissioner Lloyd Resigns When Labor Announces Policy — Tories Furious.

LONDON, July 25.—A new policy in Anglo-Egyptian relations impends, it is believed here, as a result of the surprise resignation, announced yesterday, of Lord Lloyd, British high commissioner of Egypt. Foreign Secretary Henderson admitted in the House of Commons that Lloyd was practically forced out of office by the Labor cabinet.

A storm of Tory anger followed announcement of the resignation, which came with no warning. The controversy in the House was short, however. To his Tory hecklers, Henderson replied that if they forced him to publish all despatches bearing on Lloyd's retirement, "I think, and Lord Lloyd agrees, it may not improve relations between Egypt and this country."

This was taken as an intimation that the Labor Government, if attacked on the question, would expose to the world the secrets of the British policy in Egypt, which would probably prove embarrassing to the Conservatives.

Lord Lloyd, a die-hard in politics and a strong-arm man in action, is generally credited with having kept peace in Egypt since his appointment four years ago by assisting reactionary elements to suppress parliamentary institutions, and with having inaugurated the present regime of repression.

The Foreign Secretary answered guardedly when pressed to explain why Lloyd resigned.

"I sent an intimation to Lord Lloyd based upon my reading of the attitude he had adopted toward the policy of the late Government," he said.

At this, Winston Churchill was on his feet, amid much excitement. "Was this resignation extorted by the Government?" he demanded. "If the resignation had not been forthcoming would dismissal have followed?"

Lloyd's resignation, Henderson responded suavely, was to have been expected considering the communications addressed to him.

The Lloyd incident may have important results. Agitation in Egypt against the present dictatorship, which the Nationalists claim was set up by Lloyd and is kept in power by British bayonets, will undoubtedly follow, and trouble in Egypt would cause the Tories to pass a vote of censure of the Government.

Lobby opinion, however, is that the Liberals would oppose the Lloyd regime in Cairo and that with their co-operation Labor could successfully meet a challenge in the House on this issue.

Labor Wants Egypt Independent in —Internal Affairs.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, July 25.—During debate today in the House of Lords on Lord Lloyd's resignation, Lord Parmoor reaffirmed the Labor policy of the 1924 Government towards Egypt.

Dealing with Egypt's internal affairs, he said, the Laborites had always desired, while reserving certain points such as international questions and the Sudan, that arrangements should be made which would enable Egypt to become an independent sovereign country as regards its internal affairs.

Lord Parmoor, who is Lord President of the Council, denied that there was any discourtesy extended toward Lord Lloyd and stated that all members of the Government regretted that the High Commissioner had found it conscientiously necessary to resign his position.

Regarding a suggestion that the resignation had been provoked, Lord Parmoor said he wished to make it as clear as he possibly could that if Lord Lloyd had any view of that kind such a charge was altogether incorrect.

HAS HUSBAND ARRESTED, HOME BREW CONFISCATED

Mrs. Kittie Burch, 1305 Monroe street, summoned policemen to her home yesterday and called their attention to two home-brew crocks, 18 quarts of beer and 20 empty bottles under her kitchen sink.

"That," she said, "is the cause of all our trouble."

The policement took the beer and Mrs. Burch's husband, Alva, 26 years old, to the station. Burch was booked on a peace disturbance charge on Mrs. Burch's charge that he brewed beer, drank it to excess and then beat her. He denied beating her.

DESPONDENT OVER DEATH OF WIFE; KILLS HIMSELF

John H. Steffen, 40 years old, a chauffeur, died at City Hospital yesterday afternoon shortly after he was found suffering from a self-inflicted bullet wound in the left chest at his home, 1832 Gratiot street.

Two notes, addressed to his father, Desk Sergeant Frank Steffen of the Wyoming Street District, and to his daughter, an invalid, explained that he was despondent over the death of his wife two months ago.

July, the Month of Clearing, Reaches Its Climax Friday...July 26

FOR this ONE DAY—just before stock-taking—we have assembled all sample lines, broken lots and small assortments of every kind. And to assure immediate disposal, we have priced them at drastic reductions—marking the prices down one-fourth, one-third, and in many cases to HALF PRICE AND EVEN LESS!

Selling Starts Promptly at 9 o'Clock Friday Morning—
No Telephone, Mail or C. O. D. Orders Accepted

In cases where there are only a few articles of a kind . . . in some instances only one . . . we have marked the merchandise at a mere fraction of its cost. For instance; there are a few dozen pairs of Women's Silk Hose at 35c; twenty little Children's Coats at $2; about 200 Women's Wash Dresses at $1; about 300 Men's Shirts at half price; sixty Women's Coats at $10; 14 Silk Comforters at half price; about 500 Silk Remnants at one-half the already reduced prices. But we hesitate to enumerate even these few items, as they are certain to create demands far beyond our power to supply. Unless you are here very early—at the opening of the store or shortly thereafter—articles priced so ridiculously low will have been sold.

To avoid disappointment, we suggest that you make note of the articles you require, and go first to the department that sells them: then go from floor to floor, as you will find innumerable opportunities for making substantial savings. Thousands of people who have attended our ONE-DAY SALES on previous occasions, are familiar with the unmistakable values presented in this event, and will be eager to profit by the money-saving opportunities. The ONE-DAY SALE signs will guide you to the extraordinary savings on goods that are seasonable and desirable . . . and drastically REDUCED.

APPAREL SHOP ROBBED THIRD TIME IN YEAR

Awakened at 2:30 a. m. today, Nat Davis, 4445 Page boulevard, found his home had been robbed of $650 in jewelry, he reported to police. Entrance had been gained through an open window.

For the third time this year, the Central Beauty Shop, 1003 North Grand boulevard, was robbed early yesterday, $350 in women's apparel being reported missing by the proprietor, Mrs. Goldie Myers. Clothing valued at $265 was taken Feb. 15, a month after burglars had stolen stock valued at $523.

Morris Lecrech, who resides in the rear of his dry goods store at 4653 Delmar boulevard, was robbed of $55 by an armed man who entered his living quarters last midnight.

Returning to his automobile which he had parked in Tower Grove Park yesterday afternoon, Elmer Volkerding, 7121 Dale avenue, was robbed of $3 by two men who drove away in his machine which contained sample cases of women's hosiery valued at $150.

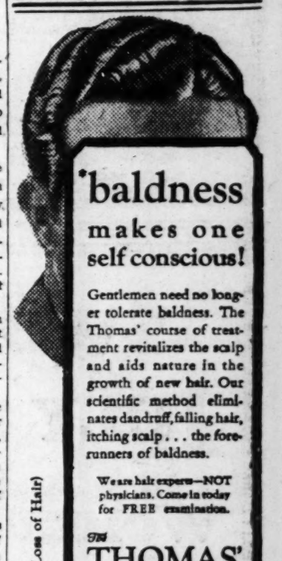

A man with a flashlight was frightened away by the screams of Mrs. Margaret Nolte, 5473 Union boulevard, who found him walking through her house at 9 o'clock last night.

The homes of Carl A. Saboe, 5072 Tholozan avenue, and Dr. Arthur Stockhoff, on the second floor, were ransacked yesterday afternoon. No account of the loss was made.

Three North Side families sat on their front porches last night while a burglar forced their rear screen doors and stole what valuables he could find.

Charles Snyder, 4469 St. Louis avenue, reported the theft of a diamond stick pin and 75 cents; Raymond Brockman, 3214 North Newstead avenue, two watches and $7; and Mrs. Parthena Ritchey, 4943 Warwick avenue, $25.

Mrs. Helen Willi, 1112A South Eleventh street, awoke at 1:30 a. m. and saw a man in her home. She screamed and the intruder fled through a window with her purse containing $9.25 and a pawn ticket.

7 MEN, 5 WOMEN TENTATIVELY O K'D FOR SNOOK JURY

Selection of Alternate Veniremen Begun at Former Professor's Murder Trial at Columbus, O.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., July 25.—Questioning of prospective jurors was resumed today as attorneys continued selection of the 12 persons who will decide the case of James H. Snook, veterinarian and former Ohio State University professor, accused of the murder of Theora Hix, 25 years old, his student paramour.

The eighth tentative juror was seated when both the State and defense accepted Elliott P. Rexford, 26, a chemical analyst. John F. Seidel, defense counsel, asked Rexford if the presence in court of the parents of Miss Hix would affect his decision, and when Rexford answered in the negative, the question was extended to include all the jurors.

A woman who said she was opposed to capital punishment was excused by Prosecutor John J. Chester Jr. Five women now tentatively seated on the jury said they had no objection to inflicting the death penalty.

Louis C. Davis, painting contractor, was seated tentatively as the ninth juror.

Mrs. Albert C. Brooks, wife of a retired farmer, and F. G. Mills, retired, were the tenth and eleventh jurors seated.

The jury box was tentatively filled this afternoon shortly after the noon recess had ended. The twelfth juror, Harold E. Brown, 28, a confectioner, qualified at 2:15 p. m. Selection of the thirteenth, or alternate juror remained, before peremptory challenging.

Insanity and self defense appeared as the most probable defense pleas of Snook. Each venireman was questioned concerning his understanding of insanity by defense counsel, who also sought to learn the attitude of talesmen toward justification for homicide where life was endangered, especially in the case of a struggle between a man and a woman.

All tentatively seated in the jury expressed willingness to inflict the death penalty, the chief concern of the prosecution, and said testimony that Snook and the young woman used narcotics would not influence them.

World Sailor Near Journey's End.

By the Associated Press.

CHERBOURG, France, July 25.—Alain Gerbault, who alone in his small sloop, the Firecrest, has circumnavigated the globe, neared the end of his journey last night, anchoring in Cherbourg Roads. He did not visit land, but left early today for Havre, where he will terminate his cruise officially. He will be dined and feted there by the city yachting organizations. His trip began from Cannes in 1923.

LOTTO AS BUSINESS BARRED IN COUNTY BY JUDGE MULLOY

In Lengthy Opinion He Dismisses Applications For Injunctions Against Sheriff Lill.

Lotto may be played as social entertainment or games may be operated by organizations for charitable purposes, but they cannot be conducted as a business, Circuit Judge Mulloy at Clayton ruled today in a lengthy opinion dismissing two applications for injunctions against Sheriff Lill to restrain him from interfering with Wellston lotto halls.

The petitions were filed after Lill had raided Robert Boothe's game at 6224 Easton avenue, and Lindy Hall, 6310 Easton, where E. J. Weis operated a game which brought hundreds of women to his tables, morning, afternoon and night. The raids were made last April 15, after Lill had conferred with Judges Mulloy and Nolte and Prosecuting Attorney Castlen.

The opinion held that the game was a lottery, in that a consideration, the element of chance and a prize were involved.

The Granite City Board of Health will meet tomorrow night to discuss the advisability of closing the pool in Wilson Park.

PRESENT AIR LINE HELD INSUFFICIENT EVEN IF IMPROVED

Early Closing Time Would Still Hamper Use if Always on Time, Says Ex-Congressman Newton.

DIRECT MAIL COULD START EAST AT 7

Radio Speaker Urges Good Attendance at Hearing Aug. 1 on Short Route to New York City.

St. Louis is too important a city to be left on an air mail "side switch," former Congressman Cleveland A. Newton declared in an address broadcast last night from station KMOX.

Newton is turning his attention, for the time, from the slowest and bulkiest form of transportation to the lightest and fastest. He was leader of the waterway bloc in Congress for eight years, and is general counsel of the Mississippi Valley Association. He is to present speakers on the proposal for a direct air mail line to New York, at a hearing of the Interdepartmental Committee on Airways Aug. 1, at Washington, and he urged his radio audience that St. Louis be well represented at the hearing.

Even if the present indirect route—67 per cent late by Reserve Bank figures—could be improved to the point of being 100 per cent on time, Newton pointed out, its midafternoon "closing time" here would make it unsatisfactory to St. Louis.

"No city in the United States has given a greater impetus to the development of aviation during the past five years than St. Louis," he remarked. "It was the confidence of St. Louis in aviation which inspired the president of its Chamber of Commerce and certain other patriotic citizens of this city to give Lindbergh the moral and financial support which made possible his world-famous flight from New York to Paris, and that flight of Lindbergh's has done more to stimulate the development of aviation than all other forces and influences combined.

New Line Urgently Needed.

"St. Louis is a great industrial center and in this line is growing by leaps and bounds. The security of her future development is guaranteed by the great agricultural and mineral resources around us, and yet when you consider St. Louis from the standpoint of her location, her commercial and industrial importance, she has not received the recognition to which she is entitled in the establishment of air mail lines and more particularly, in the establishment of air mail service. A thing of first importance to St. Louis now is a direct air mail line to New York City and that line should be extended from New York, stopping at Pittsburg, Columbus or Cincinnati and Indianapolis, through St. Louis, Tulsa, Oklahoma City and on to Fort Worth and Dallas.

"Our commercial relations with New York and cities along the line are steadily increasing and rapidly becoming more important. Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Southern Kansas and Southern Missouri are a natural trade territory for St. Louis. A rapid air line, direct from New York through the important cities along the line, through St. Louis and into our trade territory, would add a stimulus to our commercial development which would go beyond calculation.

"We now have an air-mail line from St. Louis by way of Chicago, Cleveland and on to New York. Because of the distance, poor connections at Chicago and bad weather conditions along the lakes, this service has not been satisfactory either to New York or to St. Louis. As a result, the great bulk of the mail which is in need of swift air service, has been constrained, because of the uncertainty of prompt delivery, to go by rail.

Could Start at 7 P. M.

"Assuming, for argument's sake, that this service could be improved to the point where deliveries could be made upon schedule time, this service is still unsatisfactory. Mail to be delivered in New York in time for distribution in the morning must be deposited in St. Louis before 3 p. m. the day before. The great bulk of mail from our clearing house, banks, commercial and industrial institutions is written up after 3 p. m. each day and is not ready for deposit before 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

"Aviation experts have assured the Aviation Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of St. Louis that a dependable air-mail service direct from St. Louis to New York, stopping at Indianapolis and Columbus or Cincinnati and Pittsburg, will permit the mail to leave St. Louis at 7 p. m. and arrive in New York on the following morning at 7, New York daylight saving time, which gives ample time for the mail to be worked and distributed upon the first delivery there. The same is equally true for mail leaving New York for the West. Then, too, a direct air-mail line from St. Louis to New York would give us air-mail connections with these important cities along the line, as well as to Washington, a valuable mail service which does not exist, while our New York mail is transported by way of Chicago and Cleveland.

Weather Most Favorable.

"Aviation experts advise us that a direct air mail line between New York and Fort Worth and Dallas by way of St. Louis, would traverse that part of the country where flying conditions are most favorable. It will be recalled that the great and successful transcontinental flyers, those great pioneers of aviation who have demonstrated the practicability and dependability of air transportation, practically all selected this route over which to make their flights.

"Then, too, the industrial and commercial importance of the cities along this proposed air line, we contend, more thoroughly justifies a Government air mail service than any similar line of cities in the United States. Not only would the cities along this line be benefited by this service, but the suburbs, other cities and industrial and commercial establishments for a considerable area on either side of the line would receive a corresponding benefit.

"This line would pass through one of the greatest agricultural and industrial and commercial areas in the United States, and certainly there is no territory more capable of sustaining an air mail line upon a profitable basis than this area."

Child Hurt in 15-Foot Fall.

John, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses Hitchcock, 3305A Nebraska avenue, fell 15 feet from a second-story window last night, suffering internal and spinal injuries. He was taken to City Hospital.

On the corner of an important thoroughfare, in the Piazza Regalmici in Palermo, is the beauty salon of André Fabbri, known to his patrons as André. This curious seal ornaments his shop front.

"The only soap I can rely on to cleanse the skin thoroughly is Palmolive"

says ANDRÉ of Palermo

The leading beauty specialist of southern Italy

SINCE he was 13 years old, André Fabbri has been making beauty products At that time he used to assist his father, in Milan—when he was not studying painting and drawing Today, André has renounced the arts. He devotes himself entirely to the profession of beauty culture, with his wife's assistance

He studied chemistry in Germany, Austria and Russia As a young man he learned the purpose and substance of cosmetics in Paris. And, today, he holds many International Prizes and Gold Medals for beauty competitions. His wife is his close coworker in the salon And they both insist on the use of Palmolive Soap "to keep skin supple and toned up, to free it of the day's accumulated dust and make-up."

So do all the experts

In Paris, in London, in Madrid, in New York one hears the same advice. The leading beauty specialists have tried out many methods of skin cleansing and they have decided that "the simplest method is by far the best—that is, the consistent use of Palmolive Soap and water."

In America there are more than 16,000 experts who subscribe to this theory And there are millions who use Palmolive for the bath as well, since it costs no more than ordinary soap.

Do you use Palmolive? If not, you'll want to try it tonight, for face and bath. And regularly every morning and night thereafter Here is the way to keep your face smooth, fresh, ready for make-up: massage a smooth lather of Palmolive into the skin for two minutes Rinse with warm water, then with cold. That's the world's most popular beauty treatment!

Madame Cecile André, wife of the head of Maison André, assists her husband in all his important salon work. She joins him in advocating daily use of Palmolive Soap.

A framed certificate of proficiency hangs on the wall of the Maison André, only one of many awards received by André of Palermo. His salon is extremely foreign in atmosphere, reflecting the Sicilian surroundings.

"Personally I am always anxious unless I know that a client is following my advice and using Palmolive Soap at home. I use no other in my salon, because I have found that this is the one soap that I can rely on to cleanse the skin thoroughly and at the same time keep it supple and toned up."

PETITIONERS PUT OUT OF BRITISH LABOR QUARTERS

12 Men and One Woman, Representing Unemployed, Ejected, Some With Force, by Police.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, July 25.—Police ejected 12 men and one woman, calling themselves the "Committee of Unemployed Workers," out of the Ministry of Labor office yesterday afternoon when they refused to leave the building after being denied a hearing by Miss Margaret Bondfield, Minister of Labor.

Last Tuesday they sent a request for an interview with Miss Bondfield, which she refused, so yesterday they decided to pay her an unannounced visit. As the "Big Ben" in the House of Commons tower struck noon they marched in a body through the door of the ministry and upstairs to the board room. There an official of the ministry asked what they wanted.

Walter Hannington, who said he is national organizer of the unemployed movement, demanded to see Miss Bondfield. When this was refused the committee asked to see J. J. Lawson, parliamentary secretary of the ministry. This also was refused.

The deputation then decided to remain until one of their requests was granted and an official telephoned to Scotland Yard, which immediately ordered 30 policemen to the ministry to eject the callers. An inspector ordered the deputation to leave.

"No. You'll have to put us out," was the reply.

And the police did, using force against some of the committee. Several scuffles followed. As some of the men were being led away they shouted, "Look how the unemployed are treated. Shameful! Shameful!"

When all were outside they attempted to hold a meeting in front of the ministry, but finally obeyed the police orders to leave, led by Hannington. One man, carrying a baby girl, said he had come from Wales with her to emphasize the distress of the unemployed in his part of the country.

BRYAN'S DAUGHTER WOULD DIVORCE R. L. HARGREAVES

Suit Against Beverly Hills (Cal.) Banker Charges Cruelty, Incompatibility.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 25.—Grace Bryan Hargreaves, daughter of the late William J. Bryan, has filed suit for divorce against Richard L. Hargreaves, Beverly Hills (Cal.) bank president. She also petitioned for the custody of their four children.

The suit charged cruelty and general incompatibility. A property settlement was reached before the filing of the suit, Mrs. Hargreaves' attorney said.

First admission of difficulties in the Hargreaves family was made in May. Then it was stated the difficulty was "largely a difference in temperament." The couple separated, but later reunited.

Mrs. Hargreaves inherited $250,000 from the commoner's estate.

"JELLYROLL" HOGAN FREED AFTER FIGHT WITH POLICE

"Jellyroll" Hogan, a Democratic politician and reputed head of the former Hogan gang, was discharged today when arraigned before Provisional Police Judge Foster on charges of resisting arrest and careless driving.

Two policemen testified that Hogan was driving recklessly and almost ran down one of them in making a shart left turn at Grand boulevard and Chouteau avenue June 21. They said he resisted arrest and fought until subdued.

Hogan testified he made the turn correctly, was "pushed in the nose" by one policeman, was threatened with revolvers by both policemen, and, in self-defense, "swung back at them a couple of times."

TWO PLUNGE TO DEATH FROM CHICAGO HOTEL WINDOWS

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 25.—A man and a woman plunged to death from hotel windows here yesterday.

The woman, about 40 years old and fashionably dressed, had registered at noon with a man as "Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Snowden, Springfield, Ill." but a German passport found in their room had been issued to Miss Alma Wiczman of Grafenheim, Schleswig-Holstein. It was for entry into Canada. Her companion disappeared from the hotel before police arrived.

The other victim registered at his hotel as "L. Ehlick, Kansas City," but police said there were other initials in his clothing and doubted this was his right name. He was apparently about 60 years old. Less than $1 was found in his clothing. A Coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide.

Killed in Auto Collision.

BEARDSTOWN, Ill., July 25.—Charles Davis, 44 years old, was instantly killed near Rushville, yesterday, when his automobile was struck by another driven by E. A. Gibson of Girard. Gibson said Davis drove in from a side road without stopping at the stop sign on the State route.

SUES TO VOID WILL OF MRS. SOPHIE CROW

Son's Divorced Wife Alleges Widow Was Incompetent, Claims Back Alimony.

A suit to void the will of Mrs. Sophie Mitchell Gay Crow, wealthy 85-year-old widow of prominent family who died July 2, on the ground she was of unsound mind and incompetent when the will was made last April, was filed today in behalf of Mrs. Katherine Marchand Humphrey, divorced wife of Edward G. Crow, a son of the deceased woman.

Mrs. Humphrey, in her suit, states that the property disposed of in Mrs. Crow's will is worth at least $1,000,000.

Mrs. Crow, who lived at 4429 Forest Park boulevard, left her estate to five grandsons and her son, Edward Crow. One-third was left to John G. Crow, grandson; another third to Wayman Crow, grandson; the remaining third was divided among Edward G. Crow Jr., grandson; Alexander Crow, grandson; Phillip Crow, grandson, and Edward G. Crow, son.

The brief filed by Mrs. Humphrey states that she was married to Edward G. Crow in 1909, and they were divorced April 29, 1920. The court ordered Crow to pay her $150 alimony, she stated, but he has never complied with this order. The suit is filed by Mrs. Humphrey as a creditor of one of the heirs.

Mrs. Crow was the daughter of a wealthy planter of the St. Louis district, and had been a belle in Civil War days. Her husband was Philip Augustus Crow, a merchant. She had large holdings in real estate.

KIRKWOOD SEWER PLAN EXPLAINED AT HEARING

Principal Objectors Are on Tract South of Big Bend Road.

A hearing on a plan to incorporate the proposed Kirkwood sewer district, embracing the suburb of Kirkwood and some surrounding territory in two watersheds, is being conducted at the Clayton Courthouse before Circuit Judge Edgar B. Woolfolk of Troy, Mo., who was called in under a change of venue application.

There are a number of objectors to the proposal, the chief objection apparently being that the city of Kirkwood can furnish adequate sewerage for the territory within its limits, as a municipality, without the expense of an independent district. Some objectors do not want their property included in the district because they have facilities to handle sewage.

Proponents of the sewer district include members of a group opposed politically to the administration of Mayor Richard L. Jacobsmeyer of Kirkwood. They are represented by the law firm of Wurdeman, Stevens & Hoester. In addition to a number of witnesses called for formal proving of the incorporation petition, the proponents have examined William Stoecker, who said he hoped to be engineer for the district, and J. N. Wilson, former city engineer of Kirkwood.

Stoecker, formerly city engineer of Webster Groves, is the engineer for four of the seven existing sewer districts in the county. He told in court about the tentative plan he had prepared for the sewer system and explained the topography of the district, which drains into the Meramec River and River des Peres. He gave it as his expert opinion that it would be comparatively cheaper for a large district to handle the sewer system rather than Kirkwood alone, because portions of the outside territory drain into the town, which woud have to take care of this sewage.

The municipality alone probably would handle the situation inadequately, the engineer asserted. He declared that modern sewers were necessary for this growing suburban district. He identified samples of noxious sewage taken from open creeks in the district. It is proposed to erect a sewage disposal plant on the outskirts of the district, he related, so that sewage would not flow into adjacent territory.

Wilson said that Kirkwood's original town sewers, built in 1904, served only two-thirds of the area of the municipality at that time, and much land has been added since by annexation. Only portions of the recent additions have been sewered, he continued, and some of this work is inadequate. Much of it was done by subdivision promoters.

Clarke F. Jacoby, a Kansas City consulting engineer, who has been employed as consultant by the county sewer districts, testified for the proponents today as to the necessity, of the Kirkwood district. He admitted on cross-examination that the towns of Kirkwood and Glendale, which comprise a considerable portion of the area of the proposed district, could unite as municipalities in establishing their own sewers, but he asserted that it would be comparatively cheaper to have a large district.

The chief groups of objectors are in a 157-acre district south of Big Bend road and between Denny and Geyer roads, including Maryhurst College, and in a 119-acre section west of Geyer road and between Big Bend road and Woodbine avenue, including St. Joseph's College. Some objectors are from Adele place, a subdivision at the southeast corner of Kirkwood and Manchester roads.

It is alleged that open sewers from Adele place drain into surrounding property. Former State Senator A. E. L. Gardner, a resident of Kirkwood, is an objector in behalf of his home property, The Lindens.

CALLES REACHES NEW YORK, SAILS FOR EUROPE TOMORROW

Former President of Mexico Retreats to Liner to Escape Reporters and Visitors.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Plutarco Elias Calles, former President of Mexico, arrived in New York last night by train, eluded reporters at the Pennsylvania station and went at once to the liner Ile de France, on which he will sail for Europe tomorrow.

It was understood Calles decided to stay on the ship rather than go to a hotel so he would be assured not to be disturbed. Dr. Ruedaniaguo and Maj. Antonio Juarez, who will sail with him, also remained on the boat, but the rest of his party went to a hotel.

Major-General Hanson E. Ely, chief of the Second Corps area, U. S. Army, went aboard the Ile de France for a five minute visit with ex-President Calles.

Arturo Elias, former Mexican Consul General in New York, declared Calles' trip abroad was solely to regain his health and not to refinance Mexican railroads.

HANGS HIMSELF IN BASEMENT

Arthur C. W. Miller, 46 years old, hanged himself last night with a rope suspended from a steam pipe in the basement of his home, 4522 Maryland avenue. His body was found this morning by his wife, Katherine, and his physician, James H. Cummings, 4545 Lindell boulevard.

Dr. Cummings told police that Miller, a former salesman, had been suffering for months with a mental aberration.

ALLEGED BRIBER DENIED SOFT DRINK LICENSE

University City Aldermen Won't Renew Permit of Steve Salarano.

Steve Salarano, saloonkeeper, at 6201 Olive Street road, from whom Ewart B. Colby, City Clerk of University City, is alleged to have accepted money in return for issuing a license to operate, was denied a renewal of his license by the Board of Aldermen of University City last night. Salarano's present license expires Monday.

In recommending that Salarano's application be refused, Alderman Arthur E. Ebbs, chairman of an aldermanic committee investigating the charge against Colby, said: "We are in the position of suspending a man charged with accepting a bribe and we cannot consistently grant the one accused of offering the bribe a license which will permit him to continue to do business."

Other Aldermen argued that Salarano had submitted supposedly valuable information to the Board and that to deny him a license would be to discourage others who might have information of a similar nature, but the motion to deny the license was passed without a dissenting vote.

Salarano Told to Stay Away.

The saloonkeeper was to have appeared before the board last night to further its investigation but Ebbs announced that he was not in the city. Questioned by Alderman Vogler, who arranged for the arrest of Colby and Salarano on July 11, when $100 in marked money was given to Colby by Salarano in the presence of Chief of Police Ward and others, Ebbs said that he had notified Salarano not to appear before the board after at first asking him to be present.

"We are not ready to hear from him," he said.

Ebbs would not amplify that statement when questioned after the meeting. His committee had interviewed all other witnesses connected with the incident, he said. He added that he did not know how much significance they would attach to Salarano's story.

Colby has been at liberty since his arrest under a $2500 common law bond. No formal charges have been brought against him, but the St. Louis County grand jury is expected to consider the case soon.

Suspension Is Lifted.

He was referred to at the meeting last night as "our suspended City Clerk," but his suspension was lifted last Friday to enable him to sign $400,000 worth of public improvement bonds which have been sold by the city. It was held that an acting City Clerk could not legally sign the bonds. The Aldermen said that Colby would again be suspended in about a week, when the work in connection with the bonds is completed. He was in Jefferson City yesterday arranging to have them certified.

The $100 which Salarano is said to have given him on the day of his arrest was to be the first installment on $400 he agreed to pay Colby for his license, the saloon keeper charged. In other years, since his arrest for a liquor violation in 1926, he paid Colby $1050 in addition to the annual license fee of $30.17, Salarano said.

BOY KILLED BY ELECTRICITY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ROGERS, Ark., July 25—R. C. Wyatt, 13-year-old son of Amos Wyatt, farmer, living near Calico Rock, Ark., died here Tuesday night as a result of burns received from a 22,000 volt line of the Southwestern Power & Gas Co. The boy in play climbed a 55-foot pole on which were three high voltage wires and after touching one became entangled in the others. He was extricated by employes of the company six minutes later.

With his parents he had been visiting his uncle and remained here when they returned home. Besides the parents, two sisters and a brother survive.

Gives Zest to Talk

THESE CHARMING PEOPLE

A WOMAN'S LAUGH falls gaily upon their ears, and the company hears of a well-played match. The talk turns to yachting and a youth tells of winning the King of Spain's cup. Fleet horses engage their interest and a Master of Hounds recounts a thrilling hunt in Maryland.

Among such conversation as this, as much a part of the scene as the butler, as necessary to it as the people themselves, is "Canada Dry" Ginger Ale.

The connoisseurs—people whose opinion and approval make for the success of things—drink "Canada Dry." In their opinion it is held high. For this fine old beverage makes its quality quietly felt. Their approval has been won by the marvelous flavor of The Champagne of Ginger Ales.

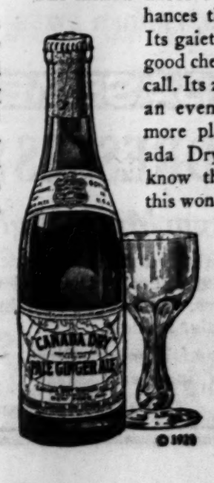

"'Dry,' like a good sauterne," one will say. "Mellow," adds another. "A ginger ale which has distinction," a third will say. True; for this fine old ginger ale is made with such expert care that naturally the mind turns to such approving comment.

Its quality and flavor proclaim the care with which it is made

Absolutely pure ingredients give "Canada Dry" basic excellence. Only high-quality Jamaica ginger is used. The blending and balancing of the ingredients are exactly proportioned. Hourly check-ups are made to watch for variations from those proportions. The carbonation, achieved by a secret process, enables "Canada Dry" to retain its sparkle long after the bottle is opened. And the resulting product is what you and countless others know as a better, finer, purer ginger ale. So pure is it that not only do leading hospitals serve it, but also many physicians prescribe it.

This mellow ginger ale sparkles with gaiety and refreshment

The mellow flavor of "Canada Dry" enhances the success of dinner. Its gaiety and joyousness add good cheer when good friends call. Its zest and sparkle make an evening of bridge even more pleasant. Order "Canada Dry" today, and you'll know the thrill of drinking this wonderful ginger ale.

MODEL SUES PRESIDENT OF CHICAGO CORPORATIONS

Seeks $100,000 Judgment After Learning O-Cedar Mop Man Was Already Married.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Charles A. Channell, president of the O-Cedar Mop Corporation, today was sued for $100,000 by Ruth Tremley, former Los Angeles model, who alleged breach of promise to marry. The bill charged that last Feb. 12 was the date set for the wedding. They left for New York, she alleged, with the idea of going to Europe for a honeymoon, but Channell returned to Chicago and she subsequently learned he was married.

Channell laughed at the suit, saying he had met the girl only once or twice and that he was "still in love with his wife."

Channell also heads the Channell Chemical Co., which he founded in 1909 and is a member of a number of clubs including the Stoke Poges Club of London and the Plantation and Bellevue Clubs of Paris.

CUT IN ARMY COSTS MEETS OPPOSITION

Senator Reed of Pennsylvania Fears It Will Reduce Efficiency.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Plenty of trouble faces President Hoover's Army Commission charged with cutting military expenditures.

Already the pruning knife has been directed at some of the many garrison posts scattered throughout the Western states. These states in most instances are represented in Congress by veteran administration leaders.

If the commission's ax falls in this direction, a storm of protest is in prospect in Congress, but Senator Bingham (Rep.), Connecticut, one of the most active preparedness men in Congress, has declared this should be one of the ways for economy if there must be greater economy.

He insists that the lessons of the World War show that training units should be in larger groups, and thinks three main division points for the Army—in the East, in the South and in the Far West—are enough. Many of the 70 or 80 garrison posts scattered over the country, he says, are relics of Indian warfare days.

Oppositon to any extensive paring down already has been voiced by Chairman Reed of the Senate Military Committee, who fears a corresponding reduction in efficiency. As a World War veteran, he speaks for a considerable number of the service men and his position as an administration leader in Congress gives added weight to his stand.

Then, too, there is the prospect of sharp division within the Army itself. Inevitably, it is felt, the commanders of various units will move to protect their forces if they are threatened before the commission, and their views undoubtedly will be reflected on Capitol Hill.

SECRET WHISKY TANK IN SALOON'S FOUNDATION

Detective Sergeant Finds That Long Iron Bar Inserted in Hole Would Turn Tap.

A tank containing 10 gallons of whisky was found imbedded in the foundation of a saloon at 1553 South Third street when Detective Sergeant Wille inspected the place yesterday afternoon. A turn with a long iron bar inserted in a hole in the masonry caused a stream of liquor to issue from a lower hole, he reported.

He arrested the man in charge, Steve Mekza, 42 years old.

Stills with daily capacities of 30 and 75 gallons were found by police yesterday in a vacant building at 1435A North Thirteenth street with 300 gallons of mash. No one was in the building.

Lott Plays

FRANCE IS FAVORED AT 2 TO 1 OVER AMERICA

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, July 25.—Staged with all solemnity in the presence of diplomats, the draw for the Davis cup challenge round between France and America resulted today in George Lott being paired with Jean Borotra and Big Bill Tilden bracket with Henri Cochet for the opening two singles matches tomorrow at the Roland Garros stadium.

The 22-year-old American youth, Lott, and his veteran basque opponent will take the courts at 2:15 p. m. (7:15 a. m. St. Louis time). Tilden and Cochet are scheduled to play at 4:30 p. m. (9:30 St. Louis time).

Both teams appeared satisfied by the results of the draw, for varying reasons, to the American viewpoint it appeared an advantage to have Lott start against Borotra, feeling perhaps more confident than he would against Cochet, ace of the French team. Tilden, too, will be fresh for his biggest test of the series on the opening day.

The French, on the other hand, suggested that Lott, perhaps burdened with responsibilities, would be less formidable than if he had drawn the second match.

There was a slight tendency to lengthen the odds but with plenty of American money in evidence, the figures were no more than 2 to 1 against the chances of the United States.

Sunday's play will be a reversal of Friday's single matches, Tilden meeting Borotra at 2:30 p. m. and Cochet taking Lott on at 5 p. m.

FOREIGNERS FORSAKE TENNIS FOR GOLF

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, July 25.—European tennis stars revert to the mashie, niblick and driver when wielding a racquet becomes too strenuous for their aging arms.

Andre Gobert, once supreme in French tennis, reached the semi-finals in the French amateur golf championships at Chantilly recently.

Jean Washer of Belgium, the sturdy southpaw, finalist against Tilden and Johnston at Saint Cloud, whose forehand drive streaked like lightning across the courts, now hits the pill just as hard from the tee. But he also hits them to all points on the compass.

He succumbed in the third round.

REGULAR GREENS ON 18-HOLE MUNICIPAL COURSE TO CLOSE

ALL regular greens on the 18-hole municipal golf course in Forest Park will be closed beginning Monday until the start of the national public links tournament, which is to be held in Forest Park, Aug. 6 to 10. The course will be open as usual, but temporary greens will be used. This announcement was made today by the Park Department.

HARD TACK WINS FIRST RACE OF HIS CAREER

By the Associated Press.

EMPIRE CITY RACE TRACK, N. Y., July 25.—The Wheatley's Hard Tack, which sold for $25,000 as a yearling, won the first race of his career when he romped away with the Knickerbocker Handicap here today. Hard Tack is a son of Man o' War-Tea Biscuit and is perfectly sound. He is heavily engaged in Saratoga stakes and if he holds his present form may change the entire 3-year-old standing.

Hard Tack broke well today and was sent right to the front. Rose, who had the mount, let him rate along and the big colt just galloped in the lead by several lengths to the stretch, where he drew away from Soul of Honor to win by four lengths.

Soul of Honor beat Chatover three lengths for the place. Flag Day, which was coupled with Hard Tack, was sore and pulled up last. Flag Day is not sound.

TROTTING HORSE SETS NEW SEASON'S RECORD FOR HARNESS RACES

By the Associated Press.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 25.—Walter Dear, W. H. Cane's brown colt which has been an outstanding favorite for the Hambletonian stake to be trotted at Lexington in October, made his first start of the season in the 3-year-old trot here yesterday afternoon and celebrated the event by setting a new record for the 1929 Grand Circuit. Walter Dear stepped the first heat, to beat out Contender, in 2:03½. The best previous mark by 3-year-olds this season was 2:04¼ which Contender hung up at Kalamazoo.

Following the sensational first heat, Walter Dear went the second heat in 2:06½ and the last heat in 2:04¼, thus bringing forth the three fastest heats of the season. Walter Dear and Contender easily outtrotted the field of nine which started the local event.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Terrific hitting by the Cubs in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings this afternoon enabled them to sweep the three-game series with the Giants. The score was 8 to 5 and as the Pirates were rained out the Cubs now boast a lead of one game and a half over the Pittsburgers.

Nine wallops by Joe McCarthy's sluggers in these three innings produced all eight runs for the Cubs, who finally routed their nemesis, Larry Benton, from the mound in the eighth.

Sheriff Blake started against the Giants but was removed in the eighth after the Giants had gained a lead of 5 to 4. One of the seven hits made off Blake's delivery was Melvin Ott's twenty-seventh homer, with one on in the second.

Hack Wilson's homer into the center field bleachers, his twenty-sixth of the campaign, added two in the seventh.

'WILD BILL' MEHLHORN NO LONGER WILD

NEW YORK, July 25.—"Wild Bill" Mehlhorn is no longer wild. The colorful pro who has supplied excitement in generous quantity on scores of golf courses played a steady game to win the Metropolitan open.

Bill played well enough in the first three rounds to go into a tie for the lead at the start of the fourth, and then scored a great 68 to win with 288 for 72 holes, even par. He was not under par 72 for the course in his first three rounds, but he was not much over two 73's and a 74, leaving him a stroke over on each of his first two rounds and two strokes for the third. He clipped four strokes off on his final chance more than enough as Wiffy Cox, in second place, scored 291. At that, Wild Bill took three putts on the eighteenth green in his last round. This may have been just to show that he could do it.

BARNES GETS 66 SCORE TO LEAD CANADIAN OPEN

By the Associated Press.

KANAWAKI GOLF CLUB, MONTREAL, July 25.—"Long Jim" Barnes, New Rochelle (N. Y.) professional, went into the lead for the Canadian open golf championship when he returned a brilliant 66, four under par, for the first round today.

The tall Cornishman, who has held both the American and British open titles, bettered par on both nines, going out in 32, three under perfect figures, and clipping a stroke from par with 34 coming home.

Don Carrick, Canadian amateur, played with Barnes and took 78.

Tommy Armour, the 1927 champion, shot a 69 to ease his way into second place. Out in 35, the Detroit pro came home in 34.

In spite of two sixes, George von Elm Detroit amateur, scored a 71, just one over par. Willie Lamb, Canadian Professional Association golf champion, took a 73. Gene Sarazen, with a six at the home hole, where his ball lodged behind a tree, took 74.

Leo Diegel, the defending champion, was even with par at 70, although he said he was not playing well. His score at the time he finished left the titleholder tied with Emmett French of Southern Pines, N. C., and George Elder, Montreal pro, for temporary second place.

After a six at the long sixteenth, Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., finished with a score of 72, two over par. Ross (Sandy) Somerville, Canada amateur champion, playing with him, required a 73, finishing with a bad six at the par four eighteenth, where he was trapped. Andy Kay, Canadian pro, playing with Diesel, had a 76.

Bill Mehlhorn, after playing the first nine with an indifferent score of 38, came in brilliantly with 33 on the second nine to score 71 and bank with the leaders. Joe Kirkwood, the trick shot star, duplicated Mehlhorn's score, going out in 34 and getting home in 37. Walter Hagen took 73 in spite of three birdies on the second nine. He was out in 34, one under par, but required 39 to get home. After taking a six at the thirteenth, the British open champion took another at the fifteenth. He finished with a good par four, barely missing a birdie three.

Abe Espinosa of Chicago, Western open champion, took 79, finishing with a six at the eighteenth.

Fields Is Favored to Defeat Dundee in Title Bout, Tonight

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, July 25.—With a gate of more than $160,000 assured for the first 15-round championship fight in Michigan under the new boxing law, Floyd Fitzsimmons' chief worry today was the weather, which threatened to dampen the ardor of 32,000 fight fans who purchased tickets for the Joe Dundee-Jackie Fields welterweight championship battle at the Michigan State Fair grounds tonight.

Joe Dundee, welterweight titleholder, tilted the scales at 147 pounds flat at the weighing in this afternoon for his bout with Fields. Fields weighed 145 pounds.

Dundee, the Italian champion from Baltimore, has not shown any considerable fighting ability since he gained the title two years ago and consequently will enter the ring tonight strongly suspected of being about to lose his crown. Fields, who is five years younger and carries considerably less ring experience, has come up rapidly and has plenty of betting support. Fields' supporters expect him to knock out the champion.

Elmer (Slim) McClelland, Detroit referee, will be the third man in the ring.

Both Fighters Confident.

Handlers of both fighters have announced that their boys are in perfect condition and would offer no alibis regardless of the outcome of the fight. Fields indicated that he did not intend to let the prestige of the champion impress him.

"I mean to come out of the ring the new welterweight champion," he declared. "I'm going to box and punch Dundee off his feet."

Dundee also expressed confidence as to the outcome of the fight. "I am in the best shape I have been in years," he asserted. "I hope to make my best fight in defending my title against Fields."

In experience Dundee has considerable advantage over the challenger. He has nearly 100 ring battles behind him, compared with Fields' 44. Dundee has knocked out Mickey Walker, now the middleweight champion, Tommy Freeman, Hilario Martinez and Clyde Hill. Against this Fields has a record of 10 knockouts and eight decisions in 18 fights during the past 18 months. His knockout victims include Sergeant Sammy Baker, Don Frazer, Jock Zivic, Joe Vargas, Pete Myers, Mike Payan, Tommy Elks, Jackie Horner, Al Van Ryn and Joe Cooper.

BIRDS BUNCH FIVE SINGLES IN FOURTH FOR THREE RUNS

By J. Roy Stockton
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, July 25.—The Cardinals made it three victories in a row over Burt Shotton's Phillies by winning this afternoon's game.

The score was 10 to 3.

Several hundred student soldiers from Jefferson Barracks witnessed the game as guests of Owner Sam Breadon. They brought a band along and entertained the fans before the game.

Probably the smallest crowd of the Cardinals' season, not more than 1500, being present when play started.

McCormick, Moran and McLaughlin were the umpires.

The game:

FIRST INNING. — PHILLIES—Thompson singled to center. Miller fouled to Wilson. O'Doul hit a home run into the right-field pavilion, scoring behind Thompson. Klein walked on four pitched balls. Whitney forced Klein, Gelbert to High. Hurst, dodging a fast ball, popped to Bottomley. TWO RUNS.

CARDINALS — Thevenow threw out Douthit. Frisch flied to Miller. High lined to Thompson.

SECOND — PHILLIES—Thevenow popped to Gelbert. Lerian walked. Benge struck out. Thompson singled to center, sending Lerian to third. Miller flied to Roettger.

CARDINALS — Bottomley popped to Thompson. Hafey doubled to left center. Roettger flied to Miller. Wilson walked. Gelbert doubled to right, scoring Hafey and Wilson. Benge tossed out Haines. TWO RUNS.

—THIRD — PHILLIES — Frisch threw out O'Doul. Klein flied to Douthit. Whitney also flied to Douthit.

CARDINALS — Douthit lined deep to Klein. Frisch flied to Miller. Thompson threw out High.

FOURTH — PHILLIES — Hurst was called out on strikes. Frisch threw out Thevenow. Lerian grounded to Gelbert.

CARDINALS—Bottomley singled to right. Hafey singled to right, sending Bottomley to third. Roettger singled to center, scoring Bottomley and sending Hafey to third. Hafey scored on Wilson's sacrifice fly to Miller. Gelbert singled to center, Roettger stopping at second. Haines singled to right, scoring Roettger, but when Gelbert also tried to score he was out, Miller to Lerian. Douthit flied to Klein. THREE RUNS.

FIFTH — PHILLIES — Benge fouled to Frisch. Haines threw out Thompson. Miller popped to Frisch.

CARDINALS—Frisch doubled to right center. Frisch went to third on High's sacrifice fly to Klein. Bottomley flied to Miller, Frisch scoring after the catch. Hafey popped to Thevenow. ONE RUN.

SIXTH — PHILLIES — O'Doul flied to Hafey. Klein bounced a home run off the roof of the right field pavilion, his thirtieth of the season. Frisch threw out Whitney. Hurst popped to High. ONE RUN.

CARDINALS—Roettger struck out. Wilson drove deep to Klein. Gelbert singled to center for his third straight hit. Haines flied to Klein.

SEVENTH—PHILLIES—Haines tossed out Thevenow. Lerian flied to Douthit. Southern batted for Benge and lined to Douthit.

EIGHTH—PHILLIES—Thompson struck out. Miller grounded to High. O'Doul popped to Bottomley.

CARDINALS—Gelbert doubled to right for his fourth straight hit, but was out trying for third, Miller to Thevenow to Whitney. Haines struck out. Thevenow threw out Douthit.

WOMEN'S WESTERN GOLF TITLE PLAY IS SCHEDULED AUG. 12

CHICAGO, July 25.—The Women's Western Golf Association club team championship will be decided Aug. 12 in a "contest against par" over the home courses of member clubs.

Teams of four players named before Aug. 8 will play 18 holes on their own courses under rules laid down by the association, the best total score to be rewarded by possession of a cup for one year. Permanent possession will be gained by three victories in the competition.

Petrolle Signs for Bout

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 25.—Jack Hurley, manager of Billy Petrolle, yesterday announced his battler would meet King Tut at Detroit, Mich., Aug. 8, in a 10-round bout at 137 pounds. Earl Mastro, featherweight star, and Pete Nebo of New York, will be on same card against different opponents.

BROWNS RAINED OUT AT BOSTON; TEAM GOES TO NEW YORK

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, July 25.

THE Browns were rained out this afternoon in their final game with the lowly Boston Red Sox. As soon as it was determined that the contest could not be played, the Howley men entrained for New York where they open a series in the world champion Yankees tomorrow. The Browns won one game here and lost one.

92 GOLFERS TO COMPETE IN ST. LOUIS OPEN TOURNAMENT TOMORROW

TWO ROUNDS OF 18 HOLES EACH WILL BE PLAYED AT BELLERIVE

By W. J. McGoogan

Ninety-two amateur and professional golfers of the St. Louis district and including five from Springfield, Mo., two from Madison, Ill., and one from Mounds, Ill., play tomorrow for the St. Louis open golf championship at Bellerive Country Club, on Natural Bridge road.

The competition will be 36 holes of medal play, 18 holes in the morning starting at 9 o'clock and 18 in the afternoon starting at 1 o'clock.

Rules of the United States Golf Association will govern the play except that a ball out of bounds, lost ball or an unplayable lie will be penalized by the loss of distance only.

The pairings announced today by William Shrader, secretary of the Missouri Professional Golfers' Association which organization is handling the event, list the contestants in threesomes which are scheduled to leave the first tee at intervals of five minutes.

Jim Manion Defends Title.

Jim Manion, defending champion who won the title last year with a score of 142 is paired with Walter Kossman and Scotty Stevens at 9:40 o'clock, while a threesome composed of all champions is scheduled to get under way at 9:55 o'clock. In this trio are Clarence Wolff, St. Louis District champion, Clarke Morse, Missouri Open champion and Elliott Whitbread, Missouri Amateur champion.

The five Springfield, Mo., golfers are Ole Clark, J. L. Dobson, Hayden Newton, Jess Newton and Raymond Dobson. Hayden Newton is the young professional who won one of the places allotted to this district in the National Open championship in which event he competed but failed to place.

The other two professionals who represented this district in the National Open, John Manion of Sunset and Ben Richter of Triple A also are entered.

Course Is Open Today.

Bill Mertz of St. Clair who won the Southern Illinois championship so many times that he became ashamed of himself and withdrew from the competition last year to give somebody else a chance, the title passing to his brother, Harvey, is entered. He is paired with Bill Schwartz and John Manion starting at 10:15 o'clock.

The Bellerive course is open to entrants in the tournament for practice all day today.

Grid Star in Hospital

The football player slated for the quarterback post at St. Louis University this fall, Charles McKinney, will be operated on today for appendicitis. It is not likely that McKinney will be able to return to practice in time for the Billiken's early season games.

WHITE SOX AFTER PLAYERS.

PHILS PURCHASE PITCHER.

Harry Smythe, a southpaw, recently purchased by the Phillies from the Asheville club, won 15 and lost but five contests with the South Atlantic League club.

SPORT SALAD

by L. C. Davis

All Is Well.

THOUGH Sam admits he made a boot
In managerial shifting,
There is no rift within the lute,
And darkling clouds are lifting.
It's quite all right to take the blame,
But why be sad and solemn?
For everyone who plays the game
Must have his error column.

Of course, it was a costly slip
That sent the Red Birds skidding,
When for another championship
Those Cardinals were bidding.
Now all is "mighty lak a rose,"
And back the fans are flocking,
Including the "I-told-you-so's"
Who Bill, last fall, were knocking.

With Bill McKechnie back again,
Our hopes will seethe and bubble;
The pitching arms will feel no pain,
Lumbago will not trouble;
The Charley horse will bolt in fright,
And beat it to the timber,
As batting eyes regain their sight,
And legs and arms grow limber.

THE new Bills may be quite okay
And worth their face in gold,
But Brother Breadon's free to say
That he prefers the old.

AMPLIFIERS WILL BE GIVEN TRIAL AT CARDS' GAME

An amplifier system will be given a test at Sportsman's Park, beginning Saturday, when the Cardinals play the New York Giants, by means of which spectators in all sections of the grandstand, pavilion and bleachers will be enabled to hear all announcements of batting orders and substitutions of players during games.

In making known today the decision to install the loud-speaker device, President Sam Breadon of the Cards said the system had a carrying distance of 440 yards, which would cover the ball park easily. The introduction of the system, which for the present is for test only, will be marked by a concert for entertainment of early arrivals.

Erskine Mayer, former National League pitcher, is in the business of installing these systems, which are in use at some race tracks and will be among improvements at Fairmount Park, near Collinsville, next fall.

ABAD SIGNS FOR BOUT HERE ON AUG. 7

Matchmaker Jack Tippett announced this afternoon that he had signed Davey Abad to box either Joe Cook, Chico Cisneros or Fernandez in the feature bout of a card which he will present at Battery A on Wednesday, Aug. 7.

Tippett stated he had received assurances from the Louisiana and the Ohio commissions that Abad was no longer on their suspended lists and could be signed for bouts.

Red Birds 2, Bly-Moss 1

A single and a triple, followed by a clean steal of home plate, accounted for two runs, enough for the Red Birds girls' indoor baseball team to defeat the Bly-Moss squad, 2 to 1, last night in a Girls' Muny Indoor League game. The teams are tied for first place. Each has three victories and one defeat.

YOUTH HURLS NO-HIT GAME FOR LEGION

HELENA, Ark., July 25.—Norbert Luken, 16-year-old Helena, Ark., pitching sensation, won his fifth consecutive victory in the American Legion junior league here by turning in a no-hit, no-run game.

In the five games played, he allowed but seven hits. His team is expected to make a strong bid for national honors in the American Legion eliminations that will end with the junior world's series.

CHAMPION FRENCH FEATHER SENT DOWN FOUR TIMES; CALLAHAN LOSES TO BERG

By Leased Wire From New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Al Singer of the Bronx knocked out Andre Routis of France, featherweight champion of the world, in 5 minutes and 55 seconds of fighting at Ebbetts Field last night. The end came in the second round, five seconds before the bell was due to ring. The old one-two started Routis on his way to oblivion in that second round. The left followed almost immediately after right, staggering Routis. Singer, quick to sense his advantage, sprang in and whipped a crushing right to the jaw.

Routis tumbled to the floor. He crouched there, his mouth dripping blood. Then he tried desperately to raise himself. With a supreme effort, he got his nose off the floor and then wabbled up to a standing position. His knees were baggy.

Champion Down Four Times.

As he did so, Singer sent a whistling right to the jaw and Routis again plunked to the canvas. With the aid of the ropes he got up and then came the finishing blow, another right to the jaw as Routis came up again. Routis was tottering downward, which would have made his fourth time down on the floor, when Eddie Forbes stepped in between the fighters, raised his own right hand high above his head and seizing the crumpled Routis in his left arm, declared Singer the winner.

Singer actually dropped his man cleanly three times in this round, but Routis was down four times before the referee stopped it.

Right from the start it was apparent that Singer outclassed Routis in every department. The only thing the champion had was a heart of oak. This was not enough to bring him victory over the clever, hard hitting Singer, who fought one of the best battles of his career last night.

A crowd of 21,000 jammed the park to its capacity. Every seat was occupied, and Brooklyn society turned out for the bouts. Mayor Walker viewed the bouts from a ringside seat.

Berg Wins Over Callahan.

Jackie "Kid" Berg of England proved too active for Mushy Callahan of California, holder of the junior welterweight championship, in their 10-round bout. Berg's youth and aggressiveness won for him. He made Callahan hold throughout. The winner weighed 143½, while Callahan scaled 145¼. If the title had been at stake there would be a new junior welterweight champion today.

The junior champion tired in the fifth round and never recuperated. His legs seemed to give way on him and he passed over the punch which he possessed heretofore. Several times Referee Jed Gahn warned Callahan for hitting low, but none of his low punches seemed to bother Berg.

Three Big Indoor Meets for Tigers New Field House

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., July 25.—Completion of the new University of Missouri $225,000 field house by Jan. 1 will make possible the staging here of two great Middle Western indoor track carnivals and the holding of a conference indoor meet here for the first time in 15 years, it was announced here today by C. L. Brewer, director of athletics.

The Big Six indoor track meet was scheduled this spring for March 7 and 8 and awarded to Missouri U., with the stipulation that its new field house be completed in time to house it. Contractors have guaranteed completion of the athletic plants by Jan 1, assuring the meet.

Besides the Big Six meet, a college indoor track carnival invitational to all schools in the Middle West will be staged. A similar indoor event for all high schools in the Middle West will be held. No dates for these events have been announced, but both will be in February before the conference championships.

Both of the invitational meets will be made annual affairs.

"GREASY" NEALE GOES TO ROCHESTER CLUB AS SOUTHWORTH'S COACH

Earl "Greasy" Neale, who was brought to the Cardinals as coach by Billy Southworth when the latter accepted the management of the club last spring, was released yesterday to go with Southworth to Rochester as coach there.

Sam Breadon, Cardinals' president, in announcing Neale's resignation, said that no coach would be added to take Neale's place for the remainder of the season. Gabby Street, also a coach under Southworth, will remain under McKechnie.

"WHY I Spotlight the truth about unsanitary cigars"

—says Alfred W. McCann
D.Litt., A.B., LL.D.
Noted Pure Food Expert

How often have you been disgusted with the filthy, germ-breeding places where some cigars are made . . . dark, stuffy factories . . . warm, dingy shops and windows . . . where cigars are rolled by careless, dirty lips and fingers and spit on the ends! What a far cry this is from the modern, certified "Cremo-method" of manufacture!

FRENCH FEATHER SENT DOWN FOUR TIMES; CALLAHAN LOSES TO BERG

By Leased Wire From New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Al Singer of the Bronx knocked out Andre Routis of France, featherweight champion of the world, in 5 minutes and 55 seconds of fighting at Ebbetts Field last night. The end came in the second round, five seconds before the bell was due to ring. The old one-two started Routis on his way to oblivion in that second round. The left followed almost immediately after right, staggering Routis. Singer, quick to sense his advantage, sprang in and whipped a crushing right to the jaw.

Routis tumbled to the floor. He crouched there, his mouth dripping blood. Then he tried desperately to raise himself. With a supreme effort, he got his nose off the floor and then wabbled up to a standing position. His knees were baggy.

Champion Down Four Times.

As he did so, Singer sent a whistling right to the jaw and Routis again plunked to the canvas. With the aid of the ropes he got up and then came the finishing blow, another right to the jaw as Routis came up again. Routis was tottering downward, which would have made his fourth time down on the floor, when Eddie Forbes stepped in between the fighters, raised his own right hand high above his head and seizing the crumpled Routis in his left arm, declared Singer the winner.

Singer actually dropped his man cleanly three times in this round, but Routis was down four times before the referee stopped it.

Right from the start it was apparent that Singer outclassed Routis in every department. The only thing the champion had was a heart of oak. This was not enough to bring him victory over the clever, hard hitting Singer, who fought one of the best battles of his career last night.

A crowd of 21,000 jammed the park to its capacity. Every seat was occupied, and Brooklyn society turned out for the bouts. Mayor Walker viewed the bouts from a ringside seat.

Berg Wins Over Callahan.

Jackie "Kid" Berg of England proved too active for Mushy Callahan of California, holder of the junior welterweight championship, in their 10-round bout. Berg's youth and aggressiveness won for him. He made Callahan hold throughout. The winner weighed 143½, while Callahan scaled 145½. If the title had been at stake there would be a new junior welterweight champion today.

The junior champion tired in the fifth round and never recuperated. His legs seemed to give way on him and he passed over the punch which he possessed heretofore. Several times Referee Jed Gahn warned Callahan for hitting low, but none of his low punches seemed to bother Berg.

Three Big Indoor Meets for Tigers New Field House

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., July 25.—Completion of the new University of Missouri $225,000 field house by Jan. 1 will make possible the staging here of two great Middle Western indoor track carnivals and the holding of a conference indoor meet here for the first time in 15 years, it was announced here today by C. L. Brewer, director of athletics.

The Big Six indoor track meet was scheduled this spring for March 7 and 8 and awarded to Missouri U., with the stipulation that its new field house be completed in time to house it. Contractors have guaranteed completion of the athletic plants by Jan 1, assuring the meet.

Besides the Big Six meet, a colorge indoor track carnival invitational to all schools in the Middle West will be staged. A similar indoor event for all high schools in the Middle West will be held. No dates for these events have been announced, but both will be in February before the conference championships.

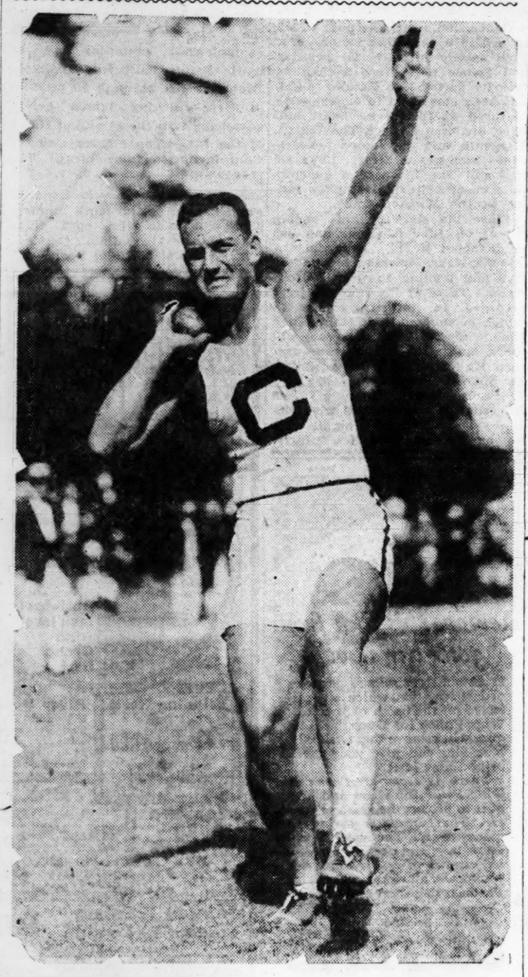

Both of the invitational meets will be made annual affairs.

"GREASY" NEALE GOES TO ROCHESTER CLUB AS SOUTHWORTH'S COACH

Earl "Greasy" Neale, who was brought to the Cardinals as coach by Billy Southworth when the latter accepted the management of the club last spring, was released yesterday to go with Southworth to Rochester as coach there.

Sam Breadon, Cardinals' president, in announcing Neale's resignation, said that no coach would be added to take Neale's place for the remainder of the season. Gabby Street, also a coach under Southworth, will remain under McKechnie.

Former Soldan High Athlete Who Helped U. S. Team Beat Britons

LAWRENCE H. LEVY.

Another St. Louis boy occupied the spotlight athletically last week when Lawrence H. Levy, a former Soldan High School athletic star, now attending Cornell University, won the shotput from his British rivals with a heave of 46 feet 4 inches. A Cornell and Princeton combination was victorious over the Oxford-Cambridge team of England in this meet.

The previous week Sidney Kieselhorst of Yale, also of St. Louis, distinguished himself and helped the Yale-Harvard team by winning two events from the Britons.

Levy, who resides with his parents at 5915 Lindell boulevard, is now in his third year at Cornell and has been a member of the track team there for two years. He is a 200-pounder and also plays football, but has not made the varsity team as yet.

At Soldan High, Levy won "letters" in football, baseball and track and field sports.

Clyde Van Dusen is the top weight in the North Shore Handicap which is to be run Saturday at Arlington at a distance of one mile with $7500 added. The winner of the Kentucky Derby is assigned 126 pounds, Derby weight, with E. B. McLean's Neddie next with 121. Rose of Sharon has 118 and Francis Milward 107. Blue Larkspur is not an eligible for this event. Grey Coat, which beat the Bradley colt in the Dwyer stakes, however, has 116 assigned him.

With racing close at hand at Saratoga, which is the real battleground for supremacy among the ranks of the 2-year-olds, with the many rich juvenile stakes to be decided at the racing there, the best of juveniles that have so far been shown are being noted by handicappers and horsemen. The West is well represented this year with Tannery, Thistle Ann, Ma Yerkes, Try Too, Morsel, Dedicate, Lost Agnes and Lucille. H. P. Whitney's Boojam and Prometheous are well regarded with the former already being acclaimed the best juvenile of the year by some Eastern writers. The Rancocas Stable's Mokatam also is well regarded in the East.

John I. Day, now serving as one of the stewards at the Bainbridge meeting, is to be the general manager at Miami this winter, according to an announcement made recently in New York. Day has been there for all three years of racing at the Hialeah track as a steward and will succeed Frank Bruen as manager. Bruen was made general manager after the death of Luke Cassidy, who was the builder of the modern plant.

The racing yesterday at Arlington was conducive of very fast time and in every race the winner was credited with doing some real running. My Dandy, the popular gelding in the Reichert Brothers' Stable was only beaten a neck in the remarkable fast time of 1:10 3-5, which is a new track record for the six furlongs. Few horses run six furlongs around a turn in better than 1:11 although the record is 1:09 3-5 established by the fast horse Iron Mask at Juarez. The track there was extra hard and fast.

Horses that acquired a following at Fairmount continue to win races and yesterday at Arlington two of them, Bobashela and Spanish Aster both won, while at Bainbridge no less than four former Fairmount horses were first in their races. They were Frank Hawley, Sport Dress, Vicksburg and Vachell.

My Dandy will more than likely improve from his good race at Arlington Wednesday as this was his first out in some time, in fact his first start since leaving Fairmount. Should he improve he might wind up beating all the sprinters around Chicago before the season is over, which would be quite a triumph for the game little Texas-bred racer which was a very sik horse at New Orleans last winter and is just rounding into form.

There were few more popular horses racing in recent years than the fast Panzareta, the mare bred by the Newman Brothers on their West Texas ranch. She won from Coast to Coast and was as popular in Canada as in the United States. She is buried in the center field at the New Orleans Fairgrounds.

Racing ends at Empire City Saturday and opens at Saratoga Monday. The racing scene thus shifts from around Greater New York to the beautiful plant up-state where the thoroughbreds will perform in August. The many stakes that are rich in tradition, which are run annually at the Spa, attract the best thoroughbreds in the country. It is here that the two-year-old champion is often crowned as well as the racers in other divisions.

For failing to keep an engagement to ride for which he had declared himself available, Jockey P. Neal was denied the privilege of accepting outside mounts by the Arlington stewards until Saturday, his riding being confined to the stable by which he is employed. This is a hardship on both horsemen and racegoers as the lad is a capable apprentice with a quite a following.

GOLDMANS ENTER STATE SEMIFINAL IN LEGION PLAY

The Goldman Juniors will represent the St. Louis district in the State semifinals of the American Legion Junior Baseball League, at Springfield, Mo., Saturday, as a result of winning the deciding game of the district series here yesterday from University City, 12 to 6. In the series here, the Goldman's represented the city, and University City the county.

An easy victory was registered by the Goldmans in their first game with University City last week, winning 18 to 3. On Tuesday the University City team showed a better brand of play and held the Goldmans to a 7-7 tie, at Sportsman's Park. In 14 games the Goldman's have not been defeated.

Taking the jump in yesterday's contest, the Goldman's scored four runs in the first inning, three in the third and four again in the fourth, meanwhile holding University City scoreless. The Goldmans were then idle in a scoring way until the ninth, when they shoved across a run.

Lahey, who had held University to one hit in five innings, weakened in the sixth and University City scored five runs. The only other run scored by the county champions was a homer by Feldman in the seventh inning.

The new district champions will depart late tomorrow night for Springfield. Two games of the series will be played Saturday, with the third, if necessary, on Monday.

Legion officials are accepting reservations for those who care to accompany the team, at the office of the State American Legion secretary, Al Haemerle, 612 International Life Building, 722 Chestnut street.

SHIKAT AND LONDOS TO MEET IN PHILADELPHIA IF GERMAN WINS HERE

Confirming reports from Philadelphia to the effect that Promoter Ray Fabiani of that city had closed negotiations with Dick Shikat and Jimmy Londos for a mat duel in the Quaker City, Tom Packs, local promoter, stated that he was compelled to withdraw from the bidding because St. Louis lacks an outdoor arena of the size the match would require.

Fabiani is said to have guaranteed the principals a purse of $31,000.

The Shikat-Londos bout will bring together two outstanding contenders for the heavyweight title.

Shikat must dispose of Joe Komar, 225-pound Lithuanian, to definitely clinch the match with Londos. The German mat artist engages Komar tomorrow night in a one-fall finish match at the Battery arena.

Kola Kwariani of Russia, and Jim Clinstock, Oklahoma Indian grappler, will meet in the semi-windup of the Battery show while the second preliminary brings together Milo Steinborn of Germany and Jim McMillan of Chicago. Tony De Veechi, local Italian heavyweight, and Earl McCabe of Hannibal, Mo., meet in the curtain-raiser.

Comfort Can Be Obtained Only Through Constant Practice in Golf, Horton Smith Declares

By Horton Smith,

North and South and French Professional Golf Champion.

MONTREAL, Canada, July 25.—En route here for the Canadian open championship, which starts today, I was somewhat amused by the emphatic assertion of one of my fellow-passengers that "nobody can play golf well unless his or her shots are comfortably made."

This ardent champion of comfort was voicing an opinion, the influence of which has done more to spoil, or retard the development of latent golfing talent than all physical faults and fallacies concerning the game combined.

H. SMITH

Comfort, of course, is the primary thought of the average easy-going player at any game, and in golf the quest of comfort is especially conspicuous. It is frequently carried to extremes, as all teachers of the game know full well.

And yet, a reasonable degree of comfort is needed and can be attained, but not by lackadaisical, comfortable methods.

Some Uncomfortable Details.

There are certain decidely uncomfortable details of golf that must be mastered if one means to play well.

For example, the most comfortable way to swing is to get the right elbow higher than the right shoulder at the top of the swing. But that is wrong and it produces neither long nor accurate drives.

Everyone who has tried it knows that it is most comfortable to have the right hand far under in gripping a club. But such a faulty grip results almost invariably in pulled shots.

Numerous other instances might be cited to show that the correct way of playing golf is essentially not the easiest way, i. e., from the most comfortable position.

However, most beginners and many who have been "dubbing" about links for years take golf too easily at first. At an early stage, they decide that they have certain individual "styles" (comfort being their chief criterion), and so go on hooking and slicing. And how easy it is to hook and slice, except when a player wants to do so! Such errors are comfortable things to execute, but the opposite of that when contemplated.

Constant Practice Needed.

It is grimly amusing to hear many, who play but a few rounds of careless golf in the course of a month, talk quite solemnly about "my style" this, and "my style" that; when a glance at their play shows in short order that in reality they have no "style" at all.

In the first place, genuine style cannot be acquired without intensive and constant practice; and, even then, it still eludes some. Above all, such steady practice cannot be comfortable—why even such fundamental details as the grip and stance are horribly annoying to nearly every beginner.

Yet by glossing over practice and slighting fundamentals, because they are not comfortable, many players are duffers for years. Many do not even bother their club professionals once they have been told the elementary uses of their clubs and the locations of the holes on the course.

To improve play, forget or completely subordinate that comfort idea, have your club pro do his best to teach you the game's essentials, and then practice, practice, practice! And, after a while, you'll find your game feeling rather comfortable—comfortable, at least, compared to what you went through to make it better.

Miss Wills Beats Betty Nuthall in Match on Ship

NEW YORK, July 25.
By the Associated Press.

A WIRELESS message from the steamship Aquitania told of the victory of Helen Wills over Betty Nuthall, English champion, in an exhibition game of deck tennis aboard the liner.

The message read: "Hundreds of passengers, including member of the British Wightman Cup tennis team, watched Helen Wills defeat Betty Nuthall, 6—2, 6—2, in an exhibition game of deck tennis on the Aquitania today. Capt. Diggle, commander of the Aquitania, was the referee. 'Play you again in regular tennis soon,' was Helen's good-by to Betty."

Retains Checker Title

BRANSON, Mo., July 25.—T. L. Bouse of Rossville, Kan., successfully defended his Ozark checker championship last night when he defeated all comers in the annual tournament. C. Hamilton of Poplar Bluff, Mo., was second, Gus Swenson, Arkansas City, third; G. G. Sloan, Kansas City, fourth; J. Dixon, Harrison, Ark., fifth, and L. C. Duff, Branson, sixth.

SONNENBERG IS VICTOR IN TITLE WRESTLING BOUT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 25.—Gus Sonnenberg successfully defended his world's wrestling title here last night, defeating Joe Malcewicz of Utica, N. Y., in two straight falls.

He took the first in 42 minutes, 22 seconds, with a body slam. The second came in 11 minutes, 42 seconds.

Breaks Course Record

Lester Slattery yesterday broke the course record of the Crystal Lake Country Club by shooting a 63 over the par 71 course. He went out in 32 and came home in 31. Jimmy Manion, on June 9, set the former record of 67. With Slattery yesterday were Joe Murray, Tom Cratt and J. A. Collum.

FANS ASSURED OF AT LEAST TWENTY BOUTS AT FLORI ARENA

Some 30 boxers who are carded to appear in matches tomorrow night in the third annual Western A. A. U. junior boxing championships at the outdoor Flori-Olympian Arena will engage in final workouts today.

Matchmaker George Wilsman, who is holding the show under the supervision of the Western A. A. U. and Croatian A. C., stated that there are enough entries to assure local ring followers of at least 20 matches.

In several of the divisons there are boxers who stand out as prime favorites, but in most of the classes the battlers are equally rated.

In the heavyweight division, Karl Holst looms as the best bet. Holst has won his last six matches. Louis Woolsey and Sammie Kidd, two local sluggers, are the most promising in the light-heavyweight division.

Johnny Miles, powerful-hitting South Broadway A. C. middleweight, is the advance pick in the middleweight class, while Herbert Kranze is slightly favored over Bob Forhan, of East St. Louis, in the welterweight group.

Elmer Willis, of Gillespie, Ill., and Eddie Geen, Flori-Olympian star, have looked good in recent training sessions and are rated evenly in the lightweight group. However, Tony Lopipara, of the Flori-Olympian A. C., must be considered as the "dark horse."

The featherweight division has attracted seven fighters, but Joey Sansone, of the Flori-Olympian A. C., Pete Sarahas, of the St. Louis Rowing Club and Leo Asby, of the Pine Lawn A. C., are more formidable than the others.

Althought Joey Parks, of the Missouri-Pacific A. C., is the popular favorite among the featherweights. Wilsman expects the title to be won by either Donato Domino, a Filipinno; John Tomazi, of the Flori-Olympian A. C., or Tom Chioleri, of Gillespie, Ill.

Woodrow Williams, slugging flyweight, who was runner-up in the senior district tournament and the International Amateur Boxing Championships recently held in Chicago, is selected to set the pace among the little fellows. "Peanuts" Borich, a student of Coach Dumas, of the Missouri Pacific A. C., is another worthy boxer in this division.

Al Stillman to Meet Power in Bout Next Week

Eddie Felix, matchmaker for the Edward E. Walker American Legion Post, today announced that he had signed Al Stillman and Frank Power, local middleweights, to battle in the feature match on next Wednesday's professional boxing program at the open-air Flori-Olympian Arena, 3547 Pine street. The match is scheduled for 10 rounds. The pair will weigh 160 pounds.

Both boxers have been fighting in the professional ranks a little more than a year and have yet to suffer defeat. Stillman defeated Power in two of their three meetings in the amateur division. Their first bout resulted in a technical triumph for Power, while Stillman scored a knockout in their next battle and outpointed his old rival in the third bout.

Since he has been boxing as a professional Stillman has chalked up 10 straight knockout victories. His list of victims include Jack Doyle, Indianapolis; Tut Seymour, Biloxi, Miss.; Bobby Cox, Miami, Fla.; Jimmy Cummings, New Orleans; Jack Broughton, Salt Lake City; Jack Mahoney, Milwaukee; Johnny Littleton, Mobile; Dave Ostrov, Chicago, and Mike Clayton and Jimmy Reed, both of St. Louis.

Power's record, while not as impressive, shows three kayo triumphs. He stopped Jack Casey of Boston, Norman Travis of Belleville and Jack Doyle, Indianapolis, while he outboxed Tommy O'Brien, Los Angeles; Jimmy Reed and Doyle in a return match.

Matchmaker Felix stated that the middleweight scrap will be the principal match of a program of six fights. It is his intention to book another 10-rounder, two six-round scraps and a pair of four-round preliminary bouts.

Wray's Column

PROFESSIONAL betting odds against the clubs in the two baseball pennant races show that both St. Louis teams are entirely out of the picture as possible pennant winners.

NATIONAL.		AMERICAN.
Chicago	3—2	Phila.	1—3
Pittsburg	2—1	Yankees	3—1
New York	5—2	Browns	15—1
Cardinals	10—1	Detroit	30—1

The other teams in the race in both leagues are quoted variously at from 25 to 100 to 1.

An interesting feature in connection with these prices is that the Browns, although in third place, and actually seven games or so better off than the Cardinals, according to their respective league standings, are quoted at 15 to 1, while the Cards are only 10 to 1.

The book odds make the Athletics a prohibitive favorite in the American League and in the National League favor the club that has been running second for some time, but which yesterday took the lead—the Cubs.

As far as the odds go it is evident that the layers believe the Browns and the Cardinals are running for Sweeney—or, at best, third place money.

Browns Have Done Well.

THE figures, as shown in the standings, favor the Browns in the following particulars:

The Browns have won 7 more games and lost 5 fewer than the Cardinals.

The Browns are more than 24 games ahead of the last place team, while the Cardinals are closer to the bottom of the league than to the top, being 10½ games ahead of Cincinnati.

The Browns have a 65-point better winning record on the season than the Cardinals.

Despite all this, the odds against the Browns are greater because of the tremendous spurt of the Athletics. At that, the White Elephants are 15 games ahead of the Browns, while the Cubs are 12½ games ahead of the Cards.

If the Browns are 15 to 1, the Cardinals have even less chance of victory because of the strength of the three teams ahead of them.

In Rebuttal.

"CASH CUSTOMER" started something when, in this column, he went to bat with the statement that the public wanted home runs and the lively ball. The following letter breathes total negation of Cash Customer's view and makes a plea for the return to scientific baseball:

"After reading the letter of Cash Customer in your column I decided to answer it.

"We have a club of 20 members who go to see local ball games, 3 or 4 times each week, and we all agree that we would like to see ball games that last not much longer than an hour and a half, unless they are prolonged by extra innings. We also want to watch well-pitched baseball games where you can see some nifty playing—bunts, steals, hit-and-run plays and the squeeze.

"That's the real thrill, not these sand-lot shows where the bases are clogged every inning or so and then someone hoists a rabbit ball out in the street two or three times a game.

If we want to see sand-lot games we can get plenty of them every Saturday and Sunday in the Municipal League."

GEORGE RUDOLPH.

George's view is shared by a lot of others. But they are not at the park on Ladies' day, when the home run gets a unanimous approval.

Attaboy, Sam!

SAM BREADON, appreciating the fact that "Service" is the slogan for those who are dispensing sport entertainment, as well as for those who merchandise commodities, will try-out an amplifying system at Sportsman's Park, Saturday. The announcers will make plain to all stands all changes in lineup during the game and all news of material aid to spectators in following the game.

The value of the amplifiers to the public depends upon what information is distributed by means of them. There seems no real reason why the announcements could not be made to include official rulings on plays, disputes, and other points of interest in the game not clear to the spectator. The ball park owners cannot afford to have it said that a radio broadcast gives the listeners for nothing more information about the game than can be gleaned by those who pay their dollars at the gate and sit in the grandstand!

And yet, up to this time, that has been exactly the case. The slogan "service" includes a lot of other features than the amplifying system which magnates, in course of time probably will realize. At the same time the thanks of fans are due Mr. Breadon for stepping out in the matter of improved announcers.

9000 PERSONS SEE SCHMELING IN CHICAGO GO

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Nine thousand sticky, perspiring fight fans who assembled last night to watch Herr Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, make his Chicago debut, were forced to stand outside the Chicago stadium while Promoter Paddy Harmon "broke" a strike of ticket sellers.

The difficulty arose when Harmon insisted upon using his own ticket sellers, which caused employes connected with the ticket sellers and ushers union to walk out. Harmon called upon friends for assistance in the emergency and after a short delay, the doors were opened. While the strikers outside jeered, members of the directorate of the stadium corporation conducted patrons to their seats.

Les Marriner, former University of Illinois tackle, chalked up a clean-cut victory over Tony Fuente, Los Angeles, Mexican heavyweight trial horse, in their six round bout. They were headliners in the heavyweight carnival. Marriner outboxed the Mexican, scoring freely with left hooks to the jaw and right crosses. They both weighed 192¼.

Salvatore Ruggirello, newest heavyweight importation from Italy, made his American debut by knocking out Jack League, San Antonio, Tex., in the fifth of their scheduled six-round bout. League, the more experienced boxer, was floored twice in the first round. Then he came back to set the pace, winning three rounds in a row. The big Italian finally finished him with a straight right to the jaw. Ruggirello weighed 203, with League scaling 205.

BURGESS IS IN 4TH ROUND OF CLASS A MEET

By Davison Obear

Play in the Municipal Class A tennis championship at Forest Park is now in the fourth round of the singles and the third round of the doubles. The tournament opened last Saturday with an entry of 112 players in the singles and 32 teams in the doubles.

A. W. Burgess, one of the title favorites, was the first player to reach the quarter-finals. He won his fourth round contest from Gus Risse yesterday. In the first set Burgess was erratic, while Risse gained a number of points by net play. The match required three sets, Burgess winning, 8—10, 6—2, 6—1.

Nelson Hower advanced by eliminating Vincent Meyerose in a close three-set contest in third round. The score was 4—6, 6—0, 6—4. Only two doubles matches were completed yesterday. The team of Trimp and Berg won from Crandall and Gleason, 7—5, 4—6, 6—3, in one of the doubles matches, while Inouye and Coburn defeated Herchert and Fletcher, 6—3, 8—6, in the other.

Entries for the Municipal juniors, boys and girls tournament, will close tonight. Play will probably start Saturday. Players may enter through the park club officials or may turn in their entry to Charles H. Borne at the Jefferson Memorial courts this afternoon.

Concession Will Run in Feature Madison Event

Concession, a brindle pup, which turned in a sparkling victory over such speedy juveniles as Decision and Solace to capture a thrilling futurity sprint last Monday night, has been moved up to engage such matured speedsters as Swift and Sure, Spalding Bowser, The Villian, Hargento and the more experienced youngsters, Sizar, Copa De Ora and The Bison in a quarter-mile event featuring tonight's racing at the Madison track.

Since the start of his racing career on June 8, Concession has participated in 14 engagements, winning four, finishing second in five and landing third place four times. Three of his victories were recorded in futurity events in which he covered the distance each time in :29 1-5. Tonight's race will mark his second trial at the quarter. He lost to Solace by a head in his previous race at the distance.

Speedy Manna, Toreador and Nantenan, a trio credited with victories last Tuesday night, are among the contenders in a futurity event carded as the tenth number. They will go to the post along with Smoke Alley, Dam Careless, Solase, Laurel Hill and Decision.

MRS. MALLORY BEATS SARAH PALFREY TO GO TO NET SEMIFINALS

MANCHESTER, Mass., July 25.—Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory of New York, seven times winner of the American women's tennis championship, yesterday had to battle Sarah Palfrey, 16-year-old Brookline girl, through 90 minutes of nerve-wracking tennis before advancing into the semifinal round of the fifth annual Essex Country Club invitation tournament. The scores were 6—2, 2—7, 9—7.

Starting Gate at Hawthorne Will Have 14 Stalls

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 25.

THE Hawthorne race track will be equipped with a starting device, designed to prevent injuries at the post during its 19-day meeting which starts Aug. 3.

The device has 14 padded and reinforced stalls, open at both ends, and is placed behind the barrier. The horses are moved up into the stalls which it is planned, will prevent crowding and loss of alignment at the post.

Ex-Gov. Smith Tells of Boyhood On East Side; Swam in Tank Cars and Played Around Ships

Former New York Executive Writes Autobiography—Describes Hardships—Went to Work at 4 a. m. in Fish Market.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The sidewalks of New York, the crowded city streets which became the boyhood playground and work-place of former Governor Alfred E. Smith, emerge from memory in his autobiography, "Up to Now," in a light as halcyon as the boyhood scenes of Calvin Coolidge.

The first 10,000 words of Smith's autobiography appear today in the Saturday Evening Post, recalling a childhood in what is now the overcrowded East Side. They make clear that 40 years ago these streets might have been the setting for a childhood story as American as "A Real Diary of a Real Boy," a simple, neighborly setting, though more exciting than the country; for here were ships, fire engines and the newly-opened Brooklyn Bridge.

"During my governorship I was interested in the setting-up of playgrounds and places of recreation for the children of New York," he writes. "Naturally my mind drifts back to the lack of playground facilities and of ordered and properly directed recreation when I was a small boy. But somehow or other, everybody is cared for, and we were not without amusement and opportunities for exercise and recreation, even though they may have been very crude.

"No gymnasium that was ever built, no athletic club in the country, could offer to anybody the opportunities given to the small boy along the waterfront, using the newsprit and the rigging of ships as a gymnasium. When the ship came into port laden to the waterline, trapezes, hand bars, everything that would take the place of the modern gymnasium was available.

"The East River was the place for swimming and as early as April and as late as October the refreshing waters of the East River, free entirely at that time from pollution, offered the small boy all the joys that now come to the winter or summer bather on the shores of the Atlantic ocean. The dressing rooms were under the docks.

"Boys learned to swim in the tank cars behind the fish market. Roller skating in City Hall Park was a luxury. A trip to Central Park was a birthday treat and Coney Island was entirely out of the world."

After the blizzard of 1888, Smith walked across the East River on the ice. A family was marooned on his mother's snowed-in candy store. With the schools closed he rode with Fire Engine Company No. 32 on emergency duty.

There was work to do, also, helping support the family. Smith tells of the Fulton Fish Market days which began in 1892, when he was 18 years old, and he had to make more money than could be earned in an office.

"I received $12 a week. Salaries were large because the work was very hard. I reported for duty at 4 o'clock in the morning and worked until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, five days of the week, and reported at 3 o'clock in the morning on Fridays.

"The great science about the wholesale fish business in my time was a knowledge ahead of time of the catch. Fish had to be sold when caught, as the method of preservation was entirely by loose ice. Economy suggested that the market be cleaned every day and the shrewd commission merchant was the man who had a knowledge in advance of either a glut or a scarcity.

"Part of my job was the use of a pair of strong marine glasses from the roof of the fish market in order to pick out the fishing smacks of the fleet operated by my employers as they turned out of Buttermilk Channel into the lower East River. A low craft was a big catch. Riding high on the crest of a wave was a failure."

Mayor Burns Library Books; Fined.

By the Associated Press.

MADRID, July 25.—The Government has ordered the dismissal of the Mayor of Villarin, a town in the province of Zamora, who recently took from the municipal library the books of the noted Spanish novelist, Perez Galdos, and publicly burned them. Before the dismissal, the zealous Mayor was ordered to reimburse the library.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., July 25.—Mrs. Esther Helein and her three small children were killed in their apartment today by escaping illuminating gas. Police found a note indicating she was tired of life.

NEW PLANS FOR DITCH AT LAMBERT FIELD

City Proposes to Dig Drainage Trench on East Edge of Airport.

Plans for detouring a drainage ditch, planned originally to bisect Lambert-St. Louis flying field, were presented by St. Louis city officials today to the County Court, or supervisory board, at Clayton.

As first planned, the Cold Water Creek ditch cuts diagonally across the most used portion of the municipally owned flying field.

The city, represented by W. W. Horner, chief engineer of the Streets and Sewers Department; Park Commissioner Pape and Associate City Counselor Bull, offered its substitute plan. The plan is that the city shall dig a detour ditch at its own expense along the east edge of the field, the cost being about $75,000.

Teh only objection raised has been the question whether this change would endanger the validity of the bonds issued by the drainage district for the work. The County Court decided to defer the matter 30 days and to seek advice on this point from B. H. Charles, bond attorney, now out of the city.

About 30 days' work remains to be done before the ditch reaches the northern boundary of the field. After that, it is likely that the work south of the field will be done, leaving the work within the flying field to the last. The city will have to transport the contractor's machinery across the field, a distance of 6000 feet.

CADET, Mo., July 25.—The drier plant of the National Pigments and Chemical Co. here and two freight cars were destroyed by fire at 11 o'clock last night with a loss of approximately $100,000.

INJUNCTION AGAINST RAIDS ON DOG TRACKS DISSOLVED

Without Power to Stop Police Action Against Questionable Enterprises, Chicago Judge Says.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Holding that no court of equity has the right to enjoin the police department from exercising its powers over questionable enterprises, Judge George Fred Rush today dissolved a temporary injunction which protected dog tracks from raids.

The injunction was issued by Judge Harry M. Fisher pending the report of a Master in Chancery on the legality of pari-mutuel betting at dog races.

The matter was brought before Judge Rush on petition of attorneys for the Hawthorne track, who sought to have several officials held in contempt of court for raiding the track last Tuesday night in defiance of the injunction. "Scarface" Al Capone is said to be either owner or protector of the track. E. J. O'Hare of St. Louis is president of the track.

The track was raided again last night, but no mention of the last raid was made in today's hearing.

Following the hearing, officials of the dog track declared they would open for business as usual tonight. Assistant State's Attorney Lee La Rochelle, at the same time, said the tracks would be raided until forced out of business.

CHICAGO GETS SUBWAY OFFER

CHICAGO, July 25.—Joseph Mantell of the Chicago Engineering Subway Co. has offered to build 54 miles of traction subway by 1933, the entire cost to be borne by private interests backed by a New York financial group. Mantell told the Transporation Committee of the City Council yesterday the system would cost $260,000,000 and collect only a 7-cent fare.

Members of the committee were skeptical of the financing plan and several voiced the opinion that a subway could not operate at a profit on a 7-cent fare.

$100,000 IN STOCK MISSING

Guaranty Trust Co. Reports Loss of 1900 Shares.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Nineteen hundred shares of negotiable stock, valued at more than $100,000, was reported to police by the Guaranty Trust Co. today as having been lost either in transit to a stock brokerage house or shortly after its receipt there. Transfer of the stock immediately was ordered stopped.

An employe of Abbott, Hoppin & Co. receipted for a package supposedly containing 2000 shares of American Superpower stock but when a check was made a short time later only 100 shares were found. The stock had complete stock powers attached to it.

Starting Gate at Hawthorne Will Have 14 Stalls

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 25.

THE Hawthorne rack track will be equipped with a starting device, designed to prevent injuries at the post, during its 19-day meeting which starts Aug. 3.

The device has 14 padded and reinforced stalls, open at both ends, and is placed behind the barrier. The horses are moved up into the stalls which it is planned, will prevent crowding and loss of alignment at the post.

Former Governor Alfred E. Smith's own story
"UP TO NOW"
Begins in This Week's Issue of
THE SATURDAY EVENING POST

SWIMMING in the East River; working at the Fulton Fish Market; earning needed money as a "truck chaser"; playing star rôles in neighborhood dramatics; serving subpœnas on jurymen; and then—the State Assembly, Sheriff of New York County, Speaker of the Assembly, four times Governor of the Empire State.

All this Alfred E. Smith presents in his own story of his life, beginning today in The Saturday Evening Post. But "Up To Now" is more than a picture of one man's colorful life. It is a story of New York, its political and economic development. It is a story of opportunity, of what a boy can achieve in America. The narrative is told without prejudice and with characteristic brilliance. Begin it today—in the July 27th issue—now on sale.

At the serious age of ten—when the Brooklyn Bridge was opened.

Age 18—when he worked in Fulton Market and as a "truck chaser."

When the future Governor was Speaker of the Assembly.

FARM BOARD TO MEET GRAIN TRADE LEADERS

Meeting in Chicago Will Consider Means of Relief for Wheat Growers.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The interest of those who fought for farm legislation to relieve conditions in the wheat belt was focused today upon the meeting of the Federal Farm Board tomorrow in Chicago to get first hand information on what the farmers of that region think should be done to help them.

More than 30 officers of farmer-owned co-operatives and pooling agencies have been invited to appear before the board to give their opinions as to ways in which it "can best serve the grain-growing farmers of the nation."

Members of the board said it was their intention to bring the interested persons round the table for a general discussion of conditions and remedies.

While the names of those invited to give their views were not made public, the board's statement that the list would include officers of state farmer elevator associations in Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma and Montana, and of the wheat pools in most of the Middle Western states.

In addition, representatives of the farmer-owned commission agencies at Kansas City, St. Louis, Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Enid, Okla., and Hutchinson, Kan., have been invited.

Although called to deal primarily with wheat and coarse grains, the Chicago meeting will be presided over by a board still without a member—drawn from that field of agriculture. President Hoover is still considering a list of nominations for the vacancy on the board held open for a spokesman for wheat.

RUSSIA AND CHINA REPORTED TO HAVE OPENED PARLEY

Representatives Said to Be in Direct Negotiations at Harbin or Mukden in Railway Dispute.

CHINESE FOREIGN MINISTER HOPEFUL

Expects Settlement of Dispute Without War — U. S. Attaches to Study Situation at Border.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, July 25.—Official quarters today awaited official reports of opening of direct negotiations between Soviet Russia and Nationalist China for solution of the Chinese Eastern Railway controversy. Officials are certain hostilities have been averted.

It was thought possible the direct negotiations, following preliminary meetings of which first notice was received yesterday, had already begun either at Harbin or Mukden, capital of Manchuria.

The Russian plenipotentiary, it was thought would be either L. B. Serebriakov, a member of the railroad commissariat who was said to have proceeded to Harbin, or B. N. Melnikov, soviet Consul-General at Harbin, or both. Gen. Chang Tso-hsiang, Governor of Kirin Province, Manchuria, was the only Chinese mentioned in the negotiations.

Reuter's dispatches from Tokio this afternoon quoted a telegram from Manchouli, Manchuria, saying Chinese troops had fired on five Soviet airplanes which appeared over the border town about 7 a. m. Later in the morning distant sounds of firing were heard but died down soon afterward.

The newspaper Nichi in a special dispatch from Manchouli said Russian and Chinese troops had opened fire on each other when 16 Russian airplanes appeared over the city.

Chinese Foreign Minister Expects Peaceful Settlement.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, July 25.—O. T. Wang, Foreign Minister of the Chinese Nationalist Government, in an interview today said China was willing and prepared to begin negotiations with the soviet Government for settlement of their differences in connection with the Chinese Eastern Railway. No third party for mediation is necessary, the Foreign Minister said, indicating that he thought it likely negotiations would take place in Moscow rather than Harbin.

He was optimistic that the dispute would be solved and he declared in conclusion: "We are now awaiting Moscow's indication of its attitude toward suggested procedure and also information with regard to a possible date for opening of negotiations."

The Foreign Minister said that Chu Zoa-yang, who is Chinese Minister to Finland, and also ready to act as charge d'affaires in Moscow, leaves Nanking July 27 for Moscow by way of Harbin. He will be armed with full powers to represent China in any negotiations.

"I wish to make known the present situation concerning the entire question, in order to dispel wrong impressions, possibly resulting from the flood of reports circulating throughout the world," said Wang. "Present indications are that the negotiations which it is expected will open in Moscow soon will settle the dispute, we are now awaiting indication of the Russian attitude on this projected procedure."

Stimson Thanks Briand for Intervention in Controversy.

PARIS, July 25.—Foreign Minister Briand of France received a message of thanks from Secretary of State Stimson for his prompt move in calling the attention of Russia and China to their obligations as signatories of the Kellogg pact.

Norman Armour, charge d' affaires at the United States embassy, acting for Stimson, expressed to Briand the opinion that his calling the Soviet ambassador and Chinese minister here to discuss with him the Chinese-Russia controversy was wisely timed and had averted war.

U. S. Delegation Reported on Way to Manchurian Frontier.

PEIPING, July 25.—A News Agency dispatch from Harbin said the special interests of the United States in the Chinese-Russian situation was indicated by the arrival there of Capt. Halsey Powell, naval attache; Lieut. Charles Campbell Brown, naval aid, and Maj. John Magruder, military attache from the United States Legation at Peiping. It was said that Powell was planning to proceed to the frontier to study conditions.

"I wish to make known the present situation concerning the entire question, in order to dispel wrong impressions, possibly resulting from the flood of reports circulating throughout the world," said Wang. "Present indications are that the negotiations which it is expected will open in Moscow soon will settle the dispute, we are now awaiting indication of the Russian attitude on this projected procedure."

Stimson Thanks Briand for Intervention in Controversy.

PARIS, July 25.—Foreign Minister Briand of France received a message of thanks from Secretary of State Stimson for his prompt move in calling the attention of Russia and China to their obligations as signatories of the Kellogg pact.

Norman Armour, charge d' affaires at the United States embassy, acting for Stimson, expressed to Briand the opinion that his calling the Soviet ambassador and Chinese minister here to discuss with him the Chinese-Russian controversy was wisely timed and had averted war.

U. S. Delegation Reported on Way to Manchurian Frontier.

PEIPING, July 25.—A News Agency dispatch from Harbin said the special interests of the United States in the Chinese-Russian situation was indicated by the arrival there of Capt. It was said that Powell was planning to proceed to the frontier to study conditions.

DEAN OF CARDINALS TELLS SIGNIFICANCE OF POPE PIUS' EMERGENCE FROM VATICAN

Pontiff Gives Practical Execution to Treaty Granting Him Sovereignty—Has Yet to Pass Bounds of Vatican City.

By VINCENZO CARDINAL VANNUTELLI.

(Copyright, 1929.)

VATICAN CITY, July 25.—The material fact of Pope Pius' emergence from the Vatican Palace to St. Peter's Square may seem of itself of no particular importance because it was a mere step. At the same time the spiritual value of the act is incomparably greater than the material. Pius XI, participating for the first time in a public ceremony outside the Vatican Palace in which Pontiffs have been secluded for 59 years, in order to affirm the impossibility to accept the situation created on Sept. 20, 1870, gave practical execution to this treaty which recognized the rights of the Pope and the existence of his own complete and full sovereignty within the limits of the state in which no spiritual or temporal power may be exercised save his own.

All these circumstances show that in the procession the attention of the world was not merely centered on the religious ceremony, but on the fact by which once again the excellence, rights and spiritual sovereignty due to the supreme head of the Catholic Church are asserted.

It is necessary to understand the meaning of the emergence the Pope has made. To be exact, one should say that the Pope emerged out of the limits of the Vatican Palace but did not cross the limits of the Vatican city. As is known, this comprises, besides the Vatican Palace Gardens and the territories extending behind the Basilica, St. Peter's Square. Clause III of the treaty says textually, "It is understood, however, that St. Peter's Square, though forming part of the Vatican city, will continue ordinarily open to the public and subject to the authority of the Italian police, who will cease their functions at the foot of the steps of the Basilica, unless requested to intervene. When the Holy See decides to close St. Peter's Square temporarily to the Italian public, the Italian authorities, unless invited to remain, will withdraw to the limits of the Colonnades of Bernini."

In the execution of this clause, at noon on June 7, after the exchange of ratifications of the Lateran accords and following the effectiveness of same, the Italian police in the Vatican Basilica maintaining public order, withdrew and were substituted by the Governor of Vatican City by the pontifical gendarmes who since then carry out all the police functions at St. Peter's. In St. Peter's Square, however, nothing has been changed since, as the treaty says, it continues "to be open to the public and subject to the authority of the Italian police."

Called Upon Italian Police.

Today was the first occasion contemplated by the aforementioned clause. The Pope temporarily withdrew St. Peter's Square from public view, giving it over to the great crowd which came to assist at the pious ceremony. At the same time the Italian authorities did not withdraw. The Vatican does not dispose of a sufficient armed force necessary for the order which the services occasioned. Therefore, no sooner the Pope had the idea of this procession than the Vatican authorities entered negotiations with the Italian military police authorties in order to have sufficient force to protect the procession and regulate the movements of the enormous mass of people assembled in St. Peter's Square.

At the same time, all this did not really constitute the outcoming of the Pope from the Vatican in the commonly understood sense of the word. The Pope issued from the Vatican Palace but he remained within his own territory as he did not pass over the frontiers of the Vatican City. When one speaks of the Pope's coming out it is generally understood he will go to some part of the city of Rome or Italian territory. When the Pope really emerges from his territory, he will not organize a ceremony with which to make his first appearance among the people because he will then be the guest of the King of Italy and it will be for the King and the Italian Government to offer him that reception which a sense of reverence, religious sentiment, courtesy and the duty of hospitality will impose. If one thinks over the circumstances in which the Pope wished to effect his first public appearance outside the Vatican Palace and St. Peter's it must be admitted that the Pope's conception could not have been either more pious or more original. The extraordinary wisdom, almost superhuman, with which Pius XI conducted the discussions leading to the Lateran Accords received its eloquent confirmation in the decision to emerge for the first time publicly on the occasion of the Eucharistic manifestation.

All the circumstances connected with today's function intermingled to complete themselves in a marvelous manner. This year the Pope celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of the sacerdotal ordination in the honor of which have assembled in Rome these days an international pilgrimage of seminarists, namely 5000 ecclesiastics of which 3000 are Italians and 2000 from abroad from 1000 colleges and institutes of Rome. The Pope therefore finds himself surrounded with the flower of youth being educated for the sacred ministry and their presence certainly stirs his heart and memory of his own youthful years, when half a century ago, he came to Rome as a seminarist to perfect his studies and receive in the Eternal City priestly ordination.

Consequently it is natural that Pius XI wished to offer on an occasion so characteristic and significant a pilgrimage particular proof of his benevolence. All these young men came from every part to see him and he recognizes in them the best hopes of the church for the future. The Pope quickly understood there was no better way to do this than by offering, midst his beloved priests and seminarists the solemn act of sacerdotal ministry, lending to the same the most extensive pomp and widest publicity. So he chose the renewal of that traditional Eucharistic procession which, before 1870, the Popes carried out every year on the occasion of the Feast of Corpus Christi, the beauty and pomp of which drew a vast crowd of foreigners to Rome.

In this the Pope has not only been guided by the desire for a great outward show of solemnity but also by the significance of the ceremony chosen.

The essential object of the Catholic priest is to bring Jesus to the people and therefore, how better could have the Pope expressed it than by carrying the living God in the sacrament of the Eucharist through the innumerable applauding throng and himself praying before the greatest temple of Christianity where lie the ashes of the Apostle Peter, first Vicar of Christ and first of the Roman Popes? What better could he have done for the immense mass of people gathered around him, for the people of Rome and for the people of Italy, than to carry himself the living Eucharistic Christ and bless therewith, near and distant, all upright souls, all hearts of good faith?

Pope's Blessing Ends Ceremony.

This was the intention of the Pope when preparing the marvelous procession which unwound itself under the majestic colonnades of Bernini, ending by the Pope's blessing imparted from the portico of St. Peters.

For me personally, the procession awakened one of the dearest and most beautiful memories of my now distant youth. (Cardinal Vannutelli is 93 years old.) Eighty years ago, as a young cleric I assisted several times in the Corpus Christi procession. I passed in procession amid the innumerable religious institutes of Rome and witnessed the triumphal passage of our Lord borne by the angelic Pius IX on the podium designed by Bernini. I still hear in my heart the echo of those solemn hymns and pious prayers repeated by a people prostrating itself before the passage of our Lord in the act of blessing. It seems I still see the pomp of the decorations and costumes of those far distant days, the precious arrases hung from the balconies and the brilliant uniforms of the Governor and Magistrate of Rome. Still I seem to hear the artillery salvos greeting the moment of the Eucharistic benediction.

The times now have changed. The external splendor of today's procession was certainly not that of 80 years ago. At the same time the deep religious faith of the Roman people gathering around its Pope is always equally intense and fervid. The circumstances of the event by which for the first time the Pope was seen outside the closed walls of the Vatican Palace could not but increase the enthusiasm and the desire of everyone to give this magnificent renovation of the ancient rite a splendor and spiritual value which not only equaled that of the past but surpassed it.

The Policy of Pius XI.

The policy which from the beginning Pius XI proposed for his Pontificate was "Pax Christi in Regno Christi—Christ's Peace in Christ's Kingdom." The Pope's work always has been that of peace and in the question of the Lateran pacts, which give the world a fresh example of pacification, it was not the least among the motives which urged him to affront the responsibility of so important a step. To make Christ's Kingdom the world has been the constant object of the reigning Pontiff and he wished to synthetize this aspiration of his by introduc-

COOLIDGE CALLS IN REPORTERS, GIVES INTERVIEW

On First Visit to Capital Since Leaving Presidency, He Says Country Seems to Be in Good Shape.

TALKS OF FISHING AND WORLD AFFAIRS

Praises Kellogg's Work—Approves of Encouragement Given Railroads by O'Fallon Decision.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Calvin Coolidge was on the way back to his home at Northampton, Mass., today, by way of New York, after his first visit to the Capital since he relinquished the presidency last March.

He was pleased over his visit, proud of the occasion which brought him here—the proclamation of the Kellogg-Briand treaty for the renunciation of war—and delighted to meet again many old friends who were close to him during his administration.

He was, also, greatly relieved "not to have to assume the duties of office while I am here," and, because of that, perhaps, less reticent with newspaper correspondents than it was his custom to be while President.

In one of the most intimate interviews he has ever given, he commented on the White House ceremony at which the anti-war treaty was proclaimed in effect as being "particularly impressive and one fitting in every way the world-wide importance of the occasion."

"I look on it as a great historical event, perhaps of even more importance than we now realize," he remarked.

Congratulates Kellogg.

Mentioning his pleasure over renewing his friendship with Frank B. Kellogg, who, as his Secretary of State, had a leading part in bringing the anti-war treaty into being, the former President said he was "glad to congratulate him on the successful outcome of some of the things he and I were working on which had not been completed when I retired from office."

A few old friends visited Coolidge at the hotel which he occupied while Vice President. After attending the ceremonies in connection with the Kellogg pact, he called on Mrs. Hoover to pay his respects and transmit greetings from Mrs. Coolidge, who was unable to accompany him.

He breakfasted and dined at the hotel and went for a short ride accompanied by Col. E. W. Starling of the White House Secret Service.

To newspaper men who gathered at his invitation he offered comments which at times rocked his hearers with laughter. His remarks ran from international relations to fishing and from business conditions to writing.

Text of Interview.

His words, taken by a stenographer and distributed by his former secretary, Everett Sanders, to the press, follow:

"I suggested to Mr. Sanders that he notify the members of the press that I would be glad to see them about 4 o'clock. I did that not because I wanted to see them professionally, but because I thought they wanted to see me professionally while I was here, and I wanted to see you personally. I want to thank you for having your acting president send a message of greeting on my birthday. I do not know if he got a formal acknowledgement or not but I am glad to make it now.

"It is a pleasure to come back to Washington and meet many of the old friends I had here but it is a great relief not to have to assume the duties of office while I am here. I suppose you are interested in knowing what I have been doing while I have been away. I think it has been pretty well reported already in the press.

"I have done a little writing that you can read, if you want to. I have read some of your writings. And of course I have done a little fishing. I think I have caught about 200 speckled trout this spring. I won't undertake to tell what the size of them was.

Mother-in-Law Very Ill.

"Mrs. Coolidge would have been delighted to come with me, but as you know she is not able to leave her mother, Mrs. Goodhue, who is very ill, so ill that I wouldn't be surprised to get a report at any time that she passed away.

"I was at the White House at the ceremony early this afternoon and for lunch. I thought the ceremony was particularly impressive and one fitting in every way the world-wide importance of the occasion. I look on it as a great historical event, perhaps of even more importance than we now realize.

"I was delighted to see Mr. Hoover again—I am referring now to the President—and I am to see Mrs. Hoover this afternoon about 5 o'clock and take the message of love and good wishes to her that Mrs. Coolidge sent.

"A number of my old friends have been in to see me, some that served with me and some of those who have taken office under President Hoover. I was especially glad to see Mr. Kellogg. He is looking hale and hearty. I noticed that he had taken on some flesh. I suppose he doesn't see the newspaper men now quite so often.

"But I was glad to congratulate him on the successful outcome of some of the things he and I were working on which had not been completed when I retired from office. It showed the wisdom of the position he had taken.

Improvement in Mexico.

"One of them, of course, is the very much better condition of affairs in Mexico. That was brought about by the wisdom of Mr. Kellogg and the very able administration of Ambassador Morrow.

"He has been able to interpret to the Mexican people the real sentiment of affection and helpfulness that the United States feels and desires to manifest toward the people of our sister country.

"The longstanding controversy of Tacna-Arica has also been settled substantially in accordance with the plan that Mr. Kellogg laid down, and I feel that there again great credit should be given to the tireless efforts of Ambassador Moore. He was evidently able to get the confidence of the government of Peru and I have no doubt he also had the confidence of the government of Chile, and the result has been the settlement of a controversy that had been going on for nearly half a century.

"The country seems to be in very good shape. Of course, I was delighted to see the large surplus that remained in the treasury at the end of the last fiscal year, which was substantially the last fiscal year of my administration. It was a complete demonstration of the prosperity that abounded in the country, because it was from the collection of income taxes that there was an especially large increase in revenue, and also from the income of corporations which are doing business in this country.

Approves O'Fallon Decision.

"I think the future outlook of affairs is very encouraging, and one of the reasons for that is the confidence that the railroads have in their future prosperity. That is due in part to the encouragement they received from the decision in the O'Fallon case.

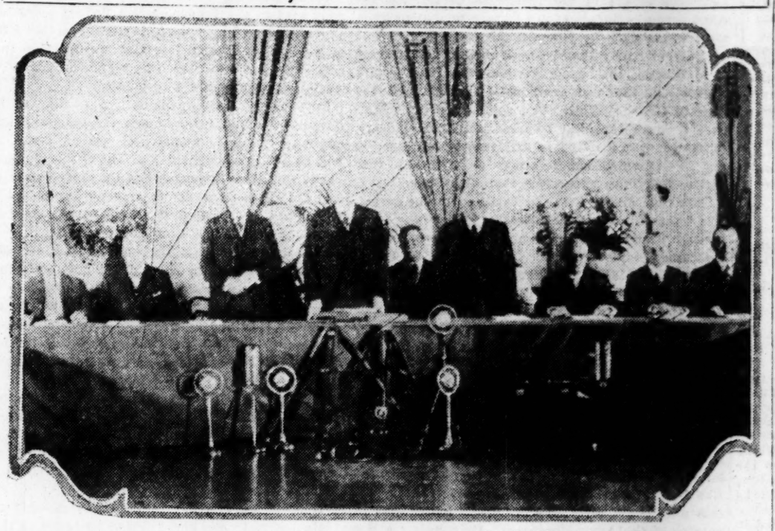

"That made it evident that they were to have a fair consideration in the treatment they were to receive from the Government. The railroads ar so important an industry in this country that when they are prosperous they carry prosperity to many other allied industries. They are a basic industry, almost as basic as agriculture and manufacturing.

"I want to express to you my appreciation for your coming in. As I said at the outset I was more anxious to greet you personally than I was professionally. I sometimes wish that all the newspaper men I come in contact with were as well trained in matters I might be interested in as the newspaper men in Washington. I still think I am sufficient of a public character so that I do not like to give an exclusive interview to one newspaper. When I have anything to give out I like to give it out to the entire press.

"I like to help the newspaper men at all times, but when I left Washington I thought I would avoid giving newspaper interviews and I have held to that rule. It is sometimes difficult to be courteous to newspaper men out in the country that come to me. When I am courteous to them and talk with them at all they want to print everything I say. If I haven't anything to say they take some other method of getting a story. So I wish they were all as well trained as the newspaper men in Washington.

"I hope you are having a pleasant summer here."

SOVIET EXECUTES 16 WHITE GUARDS FROM MANCHURIA

Russians Charge That Men Were Sent by Chinese to Destroy Bridges and Stir Peasant Revolt.

MOSCOW, July 25.—Sixteen White Guards, members of the anto-soviet military organization, who crossed the Manchurian-soviet boundary on the Amur River, armed with bombs and grenades, were executed today in Khabarovsk.

The soviet police organization announced that it had established that the executed men were assisted by the Chinese Government to cross the border to destroy railroad bridges and ammunition stores and to organize revolts among the Kulaks, wealthy peasants who are hostile to the soviet regime. All 16 are reported to have been former officers of Gen. Kiltchak and Gen. Semenoff.

The police organization also asserts that three White Guard leaders recently reached Harbin from Paris to organize fighting units among the peasants. The White Guards are reported here to have attacked soviet border militia near Vladivostok and also to have crossed the soviet frontier from Manchuria in the China region.

The secret police claim to have established that the Chinese Government is extending full assistance to bands of White Russians seeking to cross soviet frontiers.

FRENCH BILL ON HOW TO PAY U. S. DEFEATED BY CHAMBER

Voted Down After Clause Calling For Use of German Reparations Is Inserted.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, July 25.—The Chamber of Deputies, after inserting a clause making debt payments to the United States and England "exclusively" payable from German reparations to France in a bill providing ways and means for such payments, changed its mind this afternoon and voted down the whole ways and means bill by 390 to 200.

The measure, which was introduced by the Finance Committee, probably will be brought up later in another form.

NAVAL REDUCTION TO BE NEXT STEP, KELLOGG SAYS

Disarmament Is Natural Consequence of Formal Promulgation of Anti-War Pact, He Asserts.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Naval disarmament among the nations of the world is regarded by Frank B. Kellogg, former Secretary of State, as a natural step to follow the general treaty for the renunciation of war and one which should be pushed forward by the Powers.

"At the outset," he said in an interview, "I want to express my full appreciation of the efforts of Foreign Minister Briand of France in the part which he took in cooperating in the final consummation of the effort toward the preservation of world peace.

"Briand initiated the peace effort in his message to the American people through the Associated Press on the anniversary of the entrance of the United States into the World War a little more than two years ago. Since that time, we have seen the pact accepted by nearly all nations and I am entirely confident that it will be accepted by all nations."

Asked what he considered the most effective way of making the treaty a certain means of preserving peace, he pointed out that its value had been demonstrated in two major world disputes which have developed since it was signed in Paris last August. He remarked that it had a large part in leading toward an amicable settlement of the breach between China and Russia and said he believed it also influenced the preservation of peace between Bolivia and Paraguay in their dispute last December over the Gran Chaco. The latter dispute, he said, is now the subject of inquiry and conciliation meeting in Washington. Any immediate outbreak of war has been avoided in the Russo-Chinese controversy, he added.

"Naval disarmament," he continued, "has been a subject in which I have always been deeply interested. I consider it a natural implement to the anti-war treaty and a step which, if carried out, would be of tremendous moral effect upon the world. It is a moral effort of the nations in the right direction and one which should go on."

BRITAIN AND U. S. SUSPEND WORK ON NEW WARSHIPS

Hoover Announces Postponement of Construction of Three Ships After Similar Move by MacDonald.

NAVAL AGREEMENT THOUGHT TO BE NEAR

British Premier to Visit America in October — Chairman Britten Opposes President's Decision

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Pledges of curtailed naval building from both Great Britain and the United States were hailed in Washington today as indications of an approaching agreement upon the problem of disarmament.

With the promulgation of the Kellogg treaty relegating warfare to a place beyond the pale of the laws of nations came important pronouncements from London and Washington upon which are pinned the hopes of both Governments that an agreement is near.

Addressing the House of Commons, Premier MacDonald announced that Great Britain and America had agreed upon parity, qualified by a degree of elasticity to meet the needs of both nations, as the underlying principle of disarmament discussions. He said work on two British cruisers was to be suspended, construction of a submarine depot ship and two submarines canceled and dock yard work retarded. In addition he announced his intention of visiting the United States in October.

Quick to respond, President Hoover announced that the construction of three cruisers of this year's building program would be postponed until there was an opportunity to consider their effect upon an agreement for parity, which, he added, he expected to be reached. He welcomed MacDonald's proposed visit and spoke of the "real satisfaction" with which he had read press reports of the Prime Minister's address.

Authorized in 15-Cruiser Law.

The cruisers referred to by the President are among those authorized by the 15-cruiser law, which specified that they should be laid down at stated intervals within a period of three years. Mr. Hoover can postpone their construction until the end of the current fiscal year, more than 11 months away, and in the meantime he hopes for important developments in the move for a disarmament agreement. The original intention was to begin work on the vessels in the fall.

On Capitol Hill there was much favorable comment from members of both parties on the day's developments, while objection was voiced by Chairman Britten of the House Naval Committee, who is visiting on Long Island.

"Immense Step Forward."

Agreement by Great Britain and the United States upon the principle of naval parity, or equality in fighting strength in the fleets of the two nations, was described today by Secretary Stimson as a "very immense and tremendous step forward toward naval reduction."

The State Department head said the purpose of the policy of parity was to prevent the two nations from building against each other and pointed out that parity in capital ships had been agreed on at the Washington Arms Conference.

The doctrine of parity between the two fleets as to capital ships, he added, was not a military one but one of statesmanship which did not look to a future combat between those fleets but on the contrary to preventing one.

He described the doctrine as the

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

More Power to the Post-Dispatch.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

REFERRING to Emmett Baldwin's letter in your issue of Saturday, the writer of this heartily agrees with him in lauding the Post-Dispatch for its watchfulness for the interests of the people, especially the car riders of St. Louis. But I doubt very seriously that the Post-Dispatch can ever make the Public Service Co. see the light. Not as long as we have public service commissions which by every act of theirs appear to be the servants of the public utilities, and as long as watering of stock is upheld by our courts as a legal procedure.

If we want public utilities operated in the interest of the people, the people must own and operate them. Compare rates of electricity we pay with those which the people of Ontario, Canada, and Tacoma, Wash., pay under public ownership. But, we are told, corruption of our public servants makes public ownership in the United States impractical and prohibitive. If so, more is the pity and we deserve worse treatment at the hands of the utilities than we are now getting. However, this charge is made and kept up largely by the public utility corporations and some day our common people will no longer be scared by it, nor even by the cry of "bolshevik" at any one showing up the rapacity of our "supermen."

As to the supplanting of the trolley cars by busses, as on Vandeventer avenue, if we have to stand up in them, I would rather stand up in a car than in a bus. Also the seats in the cars seem roomier, even if not as soft, as in the busses. And there should not be any solid tires permitted on the busses.

In conclusion, I hope the Post-Dispatch will continue to point out the sufficiency of the profits on the investment of $49,000,000 by the present owners of the St. Louis street railways as against the fictitious valuation of $63,000,000 allowed them by the Public Service Commission. More power to the Post-Dispatch, more backbone to our city officials and a little less greed on the part of our already immensely rich men. W. F. E.

Says Police Car Was Recklessly Driven.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

REFERRING to F. J. Rayne's letter regarding his collision with police car at Twentieth and Olive.

I saw this police car coming south on Jefferson at Locust. Truly the officer was driving as if crazy or intoxicated. A young man narrowly escaped death on Jefferson a bit north of Locust because of this foolish driving.

I believed murder had been committed, or that some major accident or crime had led these officers to make such a frenzied ride. My companion remarked, "I'll bet they crash." They did.

I don't know Driver Rayne—nor the officers—but I do wonder how they got so far as they did without a smashup. Is it police orders to drive like that when a woman faints? Or for that matter is recklessness necessary on any occasion?

JEFFERSON AND LOCUST.

That Dollar an Hour Offer.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ONE dollar per hour for a feat such as our endurance flyers, O'Brine and Jackson, are performing is almost funny. I wonder if any of the Muny Opera group or any of the city officials would try the same stunt for one dollar per hour. The boys give St. Louis a million dollars worth of publicity, depriving themselves of comforts, perhaps risking their lives, and are very generously rewarded with one dollar per hour. The Muny Opera group is to be commended for being thoughtful enough to wish to reward the boys but the fact that the two aviators must appear on the Municipal Opera stage in order to receive this paltry sum, thereby drawing a capacity crowd for the opera, takes much away from the spirit of the gift. The Spirit of St. Louis certainly has not shown itself during this endurance flight. It isn't to St. Louis' credit, either, that more letters and telegrams came from distant cities to spur and cheer the boys on, than came from the only city which derives any benefit from their wonderful performance. Come on, St. Louis, show some of that spirit which Lindbergh made famous. Let us all be boosters and show the world that St. Louis appreciates being "put on the map."

A BOOSTER.

Jaywalking Laws and Solid-Tired Busses.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THOMAS J. WOOD is away off on his facts. The policy of controlling pedestrians by ordinance has not been a failure wherever tried. On the contrary it has been a pronounced success in the cities where it has been established on a sound basis and enforced—Los Angeles in particular.

Neither is it true that St. Louis is the only big city where double-deck busses run on solid tires, for the really big metropolitan cities, New York, Chicago and Philadelphia—our three largest—all use solid tires. And then there is, above all, London. And the reason is that in big cities they can't afford to have the streets littered up with busses broken down because of flat tires, as they seem willing to in smaller towns like Cleveland, Detroit and Los Angeles. In Detroit the double-deck busses are being converted into single-deckers because they can't keep them running on pneumatics, owing to the numerous punctures and blowouts.

RONALD BEAVERBROOK.

FACTS IN THE FLOODWAY DEBATE.

We agree with Mr. James A. McVoy, president of the Central States Life Insurance Co., in the statement, included in his latest letter on flowage rights in the Missouri floodway, that "The fight centers around the payment of an adequate and just price for the land."

That is precisely the fact from which the Post-Dispatch from time to time has endeavored to clear away the clouds of too vociferous debate. It devoted several columns of news space to that purpose some weeks ago. It reported the facts that few, if any, actual land owners seemed inclined to obstruct flood control, that many viewed such efforts with trepidation, and that their chief concern was the price of flowage rights. There is, however, a difference between the land owners' and the engineers' estimates of "an adequate and just price," and, as the Post-Dispatch has recorded, there is one very real and definite reason for that difference.

This concrete reason is a variance in the respective forecasts of material damage to floodway lands through overflow. The engineers are convinced that the damage will be partial. Many of the land owners fear, as Mr. McVoy seems to fear, that it will amount to destruction of all value. To back up their conviction, the army engineers have a distinguished professional record and the data of a half-century's battle to control the Mississippi. For their fears, some of the land owners have personal and bitter experience. The gravity of the issue demands full consideration for each view. Each view, under the flood control act, will get full consideration in court.

Some of the land owners' fears, however, are based on misconceptions which have not been allowed to languish. The plan is not to lower the outer levee five feet "and in addition put in a fuse plug." The fuse plug is not some mysterious and unhallowed invention of the Army Engineers. It is merely a lower section of the outer levee. The outer levee will not be lowered five feet. It will be reduced three feet in height, not for its entire length, but for a few miles at the upper end of the floodway.

This will be the fuse plug. Through it excess waters in floods like that of 1927 will pour into the floodway. This will lower dangerous flood heights at Cairo. It will have little or no effect below New Madrid. It will lower flood heights northward almost to Cape Girardeau. A glance at the map will indicate what a crevasse above Bird's Point would do to Southeast Missouri.

Previous breaks have flooded 311 square miles in the floodway and adjacent territory. Residents of Cairo now seem indifferent to the floodway. Possibly that is because Missouri levees always have broken in time to save Cairo. Cairo is not concerned whether the crevasse is into a limited floodway or into open and unprotected Missouri lands.

The crevasse will not be into open and unprotected lands. A setback levee will limit overflow to 200 square miles in a five-mile strip along the river. The Government, not the land owners, will have to repair crevasses. The Government will have to keep hands off the fuse plug project until the setback levee has been built and floodway land owners compensated.

Mr. McVoy seems to represent the majority of land owners except in one respect. He objects to condemnation proceedings for obtaining flowage rights. Other land owners have argued against any attempt at purchase out of court and for immediate condemnation. Mr. McVoy concludes, however, that "present plans of the War Department result in virtual confiscation." Let us see, then, what those plans are.

As a unit for calculating damages, the engineers chose the ready-made and theoretically impartial valuation for tax assessment. Land in the lower end of the floodway is subject to backwater. Land in the upper end will be subject to greater flow from the fuse plug. Hence they graduated their estimate of material damage in proportion to the position of the land.

They estimated the land might be overflowed as often as once in 10 years. Hence they figured that compensation must be sufficient to earn, at legal interest, in every 10 years the owner's losses from one year's overflow. Land owners, remembering inundations of the land before it was designated as a floodway, fear the estimate of one year in ten is not high enough. Gen. Jadwin, chief of engineers, says one year in ten is a liberal estimate. Gen. Jackson, president of the Mississippi River Commission, says overflow may not occur one year in 30.

The engineers have begun individual negotiations with land owners. The area cannot be converted into a floodway for three years, since the setback levee will not until then be completed. Hence land owners and engineers have three years in which to arrive at an agreement. Whenever no agreement is possible, condemnation will give the land owners, their attorneys and their creditors, their day in court.

Is that confiscation? We doubt it.

The Kansas City spider which spun the word "WAR" into its web was a true prophet if it had its eye on the Far East.

"THE CHALLENGE."

The Challenge is the name of a new monthly paper published at Washington. Its purpose, frankly announced in its salutatory editorial, is to "destroy the political power of the Methodist Church." Across the top of its editorial page is a streamer reading: "For President in 1932, Hon. Alfred E. Smith."

We are not impressed with the tone of the paper. It is written, apparently, in a bad temper. Its commitment, too, to the personal political fortune of Mr. Smith suggests blind devotion to an individual rather than a reasoned determination to battle for political principle and constitutional government.

But The Challenge as a symptom cannot be disregarded. The resentment of the Methodist Church's political power is present and growing. It is not confined to any religious sect or party faction. It has asserted itself within the Methodist ministry. It is encountered in greater or less degree wherever the subject of politics is gravely discussed. No citizen with any appreciable historical perspective can witness this revival of the vicious union of church and state without regret and anxiety. The only solution which oppressed humanity has in the past found for that tyranny was martyrdom and rebellion. It is hardly conceivable that the twentieth century will repeat the ghastly folly of unenlightened ages, but there can be no question that the Methodist Church is today, under fanatical leadership, sowing the wind.

The appearance of The Challenge seems to us to record psychological progress towards conflict. As such it is a portent. We detect in it no trace of the necessary capacity for successful leadership. But given the necessary provocation successful leadership will ultimately appear. This much at least may be asserted: No church will destroy our Constitution by propaganda or by statute. If theocracy is to kill American democracy it will have to do it by blood and iron.

ALWAYS, MR. CLARKE?

President Stanley Clarke of the street car company said to the Transportation Survey Commission at its last meeting: "We have never yet, that I know of, refused to do anything that we could do in the city of St. Louis, or which we were asked to do, and we intend to continue that policy."

Perhaps the city, realizing the futility of it in advance, did not actually ask the company not to apply to the State Commission for an 8-cent fare; but, as the straphangers well know, the city locked horns with the company before the State Commission and did all in its power to save the car riders from the increase. Failing, it is still appealing to the courts to reverse the commission's ruling.

Perhaps the city, for the same reason, did not directly ask the company to desist from its plan to turn itself over to Promoter J. K. Newman's Delaware holding corporation, but the city did go up to Jefferson City and again do its best before the commission to prevent this sell-out. Again it failed, and as in the 8-cent-fare case, its appeal is pending in the courts.

Perhaps Mr. Clarke is technically correct, too, in the matter of the 10-cent fare. The city did not humble itself to petition the company not to put that additional burden on the car riders. But the city is opposing it nevertheless, as the company well knew it would.

Nor did the city ask the company directly to explain the matter of the $8,369,000 reserve in the depreciation fund collected from the car riders, which appeared on the receiver's books Nov. 30, 1927, and which became zero on the company's books the next day. Instead, the city has gone to the State Commission and asked that body to require a full accounting, not only of that fund but of the reserve of more than $900,000 which the company's books showed on Dec. 31, 1928. The city asserts in its petition to the commission that the company's accounts are inaccurate, misleading and do not truly reflect its financial condition. If it is indeed the policy of the company to do what it is asked to do, it might make a beginning in the practice of that policy by voluntarily giving to the city the desired information instead of denying the city's right to it.

THE CZAR RESURRECTED AGAIN.

The pulses of Russian royalists have been stirred by another report that the Czar and his family were not massacred in 1918, after all, but were saved by a miracle and are living humbly in a quiet place, awaiting a chance to return and save their country. The royalists were last summoned to rally about a half-mad Polish woman called Mme. Tschaikowsky, who, they were assured, was really the Czar's daughter, the Grand Duchess Anastasia, saved from the bolshevist massacre by a miracle. This time the entire family has been resuscitated to stimulate the backers of the ancien regime.

Russia is furnishing apocryphal addenda to history in the same manner as all other nations have done when public figures ended their careers under sudden or mysterious circumstances. The legend persists that Napoleon sent a substitute to die at St. Helena and became a prosperous merchant in America. A recent writer tries to prove that Marshal Ney, officially recorded as having been executed in 1815, was saved from the firing squad and died in North Carolina in 1846. England still hears occasionally that Lord Kitchener, who was aboard a cruiser which struck a mine and was lost with all on board, has been seen in Cairo or Constantinople or elsewhere.

It is only natural for hope to spring eternal and for fantastic stories to grow up about world figures who make their exits in a manner different from the ordinary. Such tales are the stuff of the ancient myths and chronicles, and even a more skeptical modern age gives them a hearing. Perhaps it is a proof of modern skepticism that these stories are circulated.

The news that O'Brine smoked cigarettes while winging his way to fame will send Beet Sugar Smoot and the anti-tobacco leagues right up in the air.

HOW THE DAVIS CUP MATCHES WILL TURN OUT.

We look for one of the most thrilling Davis Cup encounters in recent history. We have it all figured out. The opening matches will be disappointing. George Lott, who has replaced Hunter on the team, will go down in straight sets before Jacques Borotra, and Bill Tilden, losing two sets to one and trailing Cochet 5-love in the last set, will win six straight games, only to lose set, 8—6, and match. At that stage the eagles of France will wave exultantly over the Star Spangled Banner. But wait—

On the following day those two ingenues, Allison and Van Ryn, will rise to Wimbledon heights to humble Jacques Brugnon and Christian Boussus, or whatever racket slingers are sent against them in the doubles. George Lott, playing inspirational tennis, will then proceed to rope and tie Henri Cochet in three sets—let's make it 6—3, 6—1, 6—love. And presto! the stage is set for the battle of the century. The match score is 2-all. One match remains to be played: Gentlemen, in this corner, Battling Bill Tilden; and in this, Terrible Jacques Borotra.

Could anything be more perfect? With a good grade of motor oil squirted into his aging joints, Bill will stride to the center court, complain bitterly about the court, the spectators and the weather, give briefly, but pointedly, his opinion of the U. S. L. T. A., strip off his sweater and warm up. The first set will be 10—8 in Borotra's favor. Tilden, in superb form, will take the next, 6—3. Annoyed by the gallery, he will lose the third, 6—1, but make it all square by taking the fourth, 8—6.

Summoning all his ancient cunning, his long legs covering every nook and cranny of the court, Bill will simply humiliate Borotra in the fifth set, 6—love. The last shot—the Davis Cup point—will be a ferocious cannon ball which the Bounding Basque will miss by a foot. Professor, play "Yankee Doodle" and follow it up with a snappy rendition of "Dixie."

Considering the way Author Coolidge has been turning out articles for the magazines, it's surprising that the bandage he wore to Washington was not on his right wrist instead of his left.

"THOSE RUSSIANS WON'T FIGHT; THEY'RE GETTING AS SMART AS WE ARE."

Charles Gates Dawes

Drew Pearson in The Living Age.

THERE were once Three Musketeers who came out of the Middle West where they had played and worked and grown famous together. One of them became a great industrialist and the Governor of his state; another became the generalissimo of the army of his country; and the third became the Vice President of the United States.

The last-named individual was a small, wiry person through whose character ran the true Dumas traits of intense loyalty, tempestuousness, and nerve—opportunism, contradictoriness, and love of the limelight. To the outside world, these last three characteristics appeared to dominate. To those who knew this man, however, it was the first quality—loyalty—which outweighed all the others.

The friendship of the three began when Charles G. Dawes, a young lawyer with nothing much to do but wait for clients in Lincoln, Neb., spent most of his time with John J. Pershing, then taking life very seriously as instructor of cadets at the State University.

The friendship was extended and ripened when young Dawes returned to Illinois to develop as his best friend and partner in storming Chicago society Frank O. Lowden, also struggling to launch a law practice. Both were enthusiastic members of the Illinois National Guard and Lieutenant Pershing frequently dropped in to visit them on the pretext of giving military advice, but actually with nothing more professional than friendship as his motive.

One other character influenced this friendship. To the outsider he might appear the Cardinal Richelieu, the villain of the Dumas plot. He was William Jennings Bryan, high priest of Fundamentalism. But, aside from political bugaboos, he was anything but an enemy and at one time had a profound influence upon our youthful hero.

Dawes and Bryan spent a great deal of time together during their early legal days in Nebraska. They even fought out their first case against each other, Bryan representing the Missouri Pacific Railroad, despite his subsequent advocacy of Government ownership, and Dawes, later champion of big business, representing the shipper of some horse collars who claimed that he had been overcharged. The amount was $1.27. It is not recorded who won the case.

But Dawes and Bryan did not often get cases of any kind, no matter what the sum at stake, and once, to kill time, Bryan suggested that they stage a public debate on the question of whether a man should be permitted to have more than $100,000.

Dawes dismissed the idea as absurd. Bryan, of course, later changed his own ideas and died a millionaire, but even at this early age young Dawes had very definite views regarding the necessity of wealth.

By the time Dawes was 45 years old he had accumulated as much money as he would ever need and was a respected citizen of Chicago. This was as far as he had gone. Aside from five years in what was not a very important office in Washington, he had satisfied none of his ambition for public office, and outside the State of Illinois he was relatively unknown.

American entrance into the war found Dawes anxious to carry on the traditions of his Civil War father and of William Dawes, who accompanied Paul Revere. His manner of riding to war, however, was not that of his famous ancestor. Dawes rode to his first army post at Atlanta, Ga., in a luxurious private car, and continued to live in it at his own expense while carrying out the duties of a major of engineers.

That Dawes was the logical man to defeat Hoover for the Republican nomination 18 months ago was recognized by every political soothsayer in the country. That he raised not one finger to secure the nomination was due to what his friends consider the transcending quality of his character—loyalty.

Dawes was in a unique and most favorable position. He had the backing of the Middle West. He had voted for the McNary-Haugen bill and the farmers believed in him. Strange as it may seem, he also had the support of the bankers. Finally, the politicians liked him, and all who did not like Hoover—and there were many—rallied to his support.

But they could not budge Dawes. He knew that Frank O. Lowden wanted the nomination. Frank Lowden was the man with whom he had soldiered in the Illinois National Guard. He was the man who had lent him the money to start his bank. He was the man who had declined Pershing's war-time offer in favor of Dawes. Dawes knew that Lowden wanted the presidential nomination more than he wanted anything else in life, and Dawes stood pat. If he had permitted his friends to begin organizing for him one year before the nomination, his chances would have been as good as Hoover's.

All of which brings our hero up to the present except for the most striking characteristic of all—the contradiction that runs through his entire life.

Here is a man charming and well-bred, and yet homely and uncouth. Here is a man who plays the hurrah-boy, who demands the limelight and gets it by acting—sometimes by ham-acting—yet who has the soul of an artist.

Here is a man whose hard-headedness is proverbial, but who has written a play for his two adopted children, who plays the flute and piano, and who has composed music that is performed by Kreisler.

Here is a man who reads Greek literature and Nize Baby, the history of the Maya civilization and Snowshoe Al, who is an expert on P. G. Wodehouse and the lost continent of Atlantis.

Here is a man who denounced La Follette as a Red and a menace, who organized the Minute Men of the Constitution to wage war on union labor, yet who established a chain of charitable hotels for unemployed men.

This is the man who is to amaze and amuse, startle and charm, repel and win Great Britain as the new American Ambassador to the Court of Saint James's.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

WASHINGTON, July 11.

RARELY is Gen. John J. Pershing in Washington for long before he has paid a visit to two of his best friends.

One is Jeff. The other is Kidron.

Both are the General's favorite horses. Their home is in the army stables down near the munitions building.

Jeff is the mount presented to Gen. Pershing by the First Division at the close of the World War. Kidron was obtained from the French Government shortly after Pershing's arrival in France to command the American troops in the great conflict and saw service with the General until the end.

Both are quite advanced in age. Jeff is 16. Kidron is 18. They live a life of ease now. Except when Pershing expresses a desire to ride, they never are used.

OF the two, Jeff boasts of the greater reputation. His skill as a jumper has been something that army men have pointed to with pride for many years.

Maj. John G. Quackmire, a former aide to the General, rode Jeff to most of his victories in jumps. And they were many. Before he became too old, Jeff had won blue ribbons and medals of all descriptions enough to fill a good sized box.

They say around the army stables here that he was a natural jumper, and that he enjoyed nothing more. Never was he riden forced to punish him to make a hurdle.

There is a story of how Jeff was taken to Rock Creek Park here one day by a new too-skilled rider (a high army officer) where other horses were jumping. The time he would see one of the horses take a high hurdle Jeff could only be held back by force. Finally the rider decided to let him take a two-foot jump.

Back horse and rider went, turned and advanced toward the hurdle. Jeff ignored the low barrier and leaped high enough to clear one three times its size. His rider doesn't know to this good day how he managed to stay on.

But Gen. Pershing has decreed that Jeff's jumping days are over. Only a short while ago he refused to permit his horse to enter a contest, declaring that he was too old.

KIDRON is a French thoroughbred who came to the General from the racing tracks of France. He was used by Pershing whenever possible overseas and was his favorite mount.

Kidron was brought back to this country at the conclusion of the World War and given a place in the army stables. As a matter of fact, he is the property now of Gen. Pershing's son, Warren, though officially he still belongs to the General.

Pershing's other mount abroad—British Tommy—was also brought back to this country, but disposed of several years ago.

Both Jeff and Kidron are the objects of special care at the army stables here. They occupy stalls 125 and 126 and are attended by Staff Sergt. Edward S. Sm[illegible], who was with Pershing overseas.

The two are inseparable. Jeff is never taken out unless Kidron is along.

Their slightest illness is reported to Gen. Pershing's office with as much detail as if they were human beings.

THE WAY OF THE GREEKS. By F. R. Earp. (Oxford University Press, New York.)

NO ONE who has any interest whatever in the literature of the ancient Greeks need shy at this rather sober-looking publication of the Oxford University Press. Though its author is undoubtedly a profound Greek scholar, he is far from being a pedant. It is his conviction, stated at the outset and emphasized at intervals, that if those who study the ancient classics can produce books only for fellow scholars or "for students under the threat of examination," they scarcely justify their activities. The justification for such studies, Prof. Earp insists, lies in the fact that they are of general human interest, and any sincere reader of his book is likely to agree with him. It is a pity that the Greek classics should have acquired the reputation of being "high hat," considering the vast store of beauty and wisdom they contain; and if more books like Prof. Earps were written, fewer readers would be robbed of this great heritage.

When we think of the flowering time of Greek culture, we naturally think only of the poets, philosophers, artists and statesmen. But back of Aeschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, Socrates, Plato, etc., was a mass of ordinary human beings fundamentally like the rest of us, and those were as the soil from which such flowers might grow. What was the common world-view of those anonymous ones to whom the great voices spoke and sang? What religious ideas influenced their conduct? What was their general conception of "the good life?" Did they believe in sin as we have conceived it? Were they greatly concerned with the idea of immortality? What was the status of woman among them, and how was marriage regarded?

It is such questions as these that Prof. Earp has undertaken to answer, and in doing so he has not depended upon the opinions of other commentators, but has gone directly to the Greek authors themselves, carefully distinguishing the popular Greek view of life from the views of exceptional individuals. It is surprising how much of what seems to be the common light of a great day his inquiry reveals; and in that light the marvelous flowering of the human spirit in that day becomes more understandably our own.

During the coming fall there will appear a book entitled "They Love It, or Phantom Fame," by Harry Reichenbach, a publicity expert, who has been called "the ace of fame-makers." Therein, it is said, this exploiter of the crowd will tell how he and his colleagues go about the business of "greasing the axis of the earth with banana oil." It is said that he shows how "50 persons in New York dictate the customs, ideas and trends of all America."

ADAM'S FIRST WIFE. By Jane and Robert Speller. (Macaulay.)

According to a scandalous rumor that has persisted throughout the ages, our first father was something of a gay dog before he met Eve. The lady involved is said to have been one Lilith, and even unto this day the name remains symbolical of the irresistible feminine lure. Judging by the daily papers, it would seem that Lilith is still very much alive, and this is the assumption upon which Jane and Robert Speller have based their novel. In fact, what we have here is Lilith's reminiscences of Adam, who is made to appear a poor fish indeed. The book ought to have been funny, but it isn't. The authors seem actually to have taken the theme seriously enough to study the recently discovered records of Sumerian civilization and there is more than a touch of the naive in their attack upon the Adam and Eve legend.

TOAD OF TOAD HALL. By A. A. Milne. (Scribners.)

Kenneth Grahame in his delightful book, "The Wind in the Willows," has recounted for his juvenile and grown-up audience the story of Mr. Toad, the wealthy, eccentric braggart, and his friends. A. A. Milne now has put them into a play, which is quite as much a treat as Mr. Grahame's version. But if there is any way of putting this play on the stage, says Mr. Milne, he does not know of it, so we will have to be content with reading it in print—until the daring producer, at whom Mr. Milne's preface hints, shall have arrived. He has done well in transplanting the animal and human characters from Mr. Grahame's pages, and has added a few characteristic Milne touches.

Tells of Lutherans in Argentina.

Members of missionary societies of 30 St. Louis Lutheran churches heard Prof. B. H. Ergang tell last night, at Holy Cross School, 3630 Ohio avenue, of the church's mission work in Brazil and Argentina. Prof. Ergang is head of Colegio Concordia at Crespo, Argentina. This institution gives classical and normal courses, while theological students are received at Porto Alegre Seminary in Brazil. The church has 20,000 members in Brazil and 7000 in Argentina, he said.

RELIC HOUSE TO RISE AT CAHOKIA MOUND

Contract Let for Custodian's Building Which Will Contain Museum.

A relic house and custodian's cottage to cost $12,500 will be completed at Cahokia Mound State Park, between East St. Louis and Collinsville, by Sept. 1, if plans of Harry H. Cleaveland, director of the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings, are carried out.

Contracts for construction have been let for the building which will be of stucco, designed in pueblo style, simulating the Indian architecture of Arizona. It will include a large relic room, rest rooms for tourists and five living rooms for the custodian, who is yet to be appointed by Gov. Emmerson.

The house will be built just south of Cahokia or Monks' Mound, the largest Indian mound in the United States, which is included with seven smaller mounds in the tract of 144 acres in St. Clair and Madison Counties purchased by the State in 1925 for $52,119. Improvement of roads in the park, including a drive around a lake, also is planned.

Cleaveland plans to obtain for the new building part of a collection of relics taken from the mounds by Prof. Warren K. Moorhead several years ago and placed in a museum at the University of Illinois.

Fort Chartres State Park, in Randolph County, about 40 miles south of St. Louis, also will be improved from the $383,440 appropriation for State parks made by the last Illinois Legislature.

A cottage of similar size but of French architecture will be constructed from native limestone and roofed with red tile. It will be situated inside the old fort's entrance near the powder magazine, which still stands. The fort was built in 1756.

PASTOR TAKES POST IN INDIA

The Rev. Julian W. Nave, for the last year pastor of the Bond Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, East St. Louis, announced yesterday that he had accepted the superintendency of the Bareilly District, North India Conference, and that with Mrs. Nave and their three children, he expected to arrive at Bombay, India, Dec. 6.

The Rev. Mr. Nave was in charge of work in India from 1920 to 1927. He will remain at East St. Louis until after the annual Southern Illinois conference at Harrisburg, Sept. 25, and will sail from New York Oct. 31.

J. A. Reheis Estate $138,221.

Los Angeles Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

LOS ANGELES, July 25.

THIS is the American paradise for the realtor and community developer. He is, in many instances, the most convincing liar for whom you ever cupped an ear and in other instances really has the stuff. The only way to avoid him is to leave town.

You meet him along the street, in public parks, the hotel lobby and often he seems to pop out of the woodwork. I actually had one rap on the bathroom door while I, wrapped in a bath towel, peeked through a slit and told him to begone. The idea!

Once he gains an audience you are going to make a first payment down on a bungalow or you have the resistance of a wisdom tooth to dental forceps. It is a brand of high pressure salesmanship that seems to flourish nowhere else in the land.

Their approach is often amusing. This morning one snagged me on the telephone, explaining he was anxious to have me join "a community of artists" far back in the Hollywood hills. 'One of the streets," he cooed, "is being named for you." Yet he confessed not a lot had been sold or a house erected.

Another dodge is to announce a prospective purchase will be in the neighborhood of some illustrious motion picture star and those who expect to borrow a cup of sugar or a lawn mower from Harold Lloyd or Corrine Griffith find their "neighbors" are two or three miles away.

However, California real estate is always offering shining examples of quick wealth and the fact so many have profited handsomely through just this sort of slick salesmanship is the lure that bags thousands who will not be so fortunate.

One of the curious twists of the real estate hoop-de-doo is the craze for hill top homes. Once you could buy a hill for a song. Then Antonio Moreno built a castle on a Beverly hill. Now a hill is top price real estate and some are twirled so high in the clouds mail is reported delivered by eagles. Going up!

HILLS to a hill-billy are so many coals to Newcastle. Hillside homes provide swell views but are about as comfortable as one of those three-legged modernistic chairs. One enters on one floor, leaves wraps on another, meets his host on the next, has dinner up still one more flight and as likely as not falls down four flights on his way out.

I TRUST I betray no deep secrets in discussing cute trick bars in many homes. They are inset in the wall. A gadget is pushed, the wall slides up, a brass rail drops down and there you are before the slickest bar you ever saw. Some are circular in the manner of the Paris bistro and nothing is neglected. There is a refrigeration plant turning out cubes of ice, also mechanical drink shakers, glass washers, the attendant in natty white coat with his: "What'll it be, gentlemen?" and some have—in Hollywood, I hear—regular bouncers.

OLD timers who used to gnaw a T-Bone steak down to the initial at T-Bone Riley's, will be pleased to know he has opened up again. "T-Bone Riley of Los Angeles, Cal.," has been glorified in songs, poems and books on the West Coast. He dropped out of sight several years ago but has come back again with a new steakery that is a Roney.

THE New York idea of a steak is the big juicy cut of sirloin at $4 or $5 a copy. There are, too, plenty of thinly sliced "minute steaks" but I have yet to discover the T-Bone save on the Bowery. It should top the meat list daily at the Ritz, Colony, Pierre's and other fashionable cafes. Rightly cooked, no other meat touches it.

THIS afternoon I called on Roy Howard's mother who proudly showed me an automobile just received today from her son. I did not tell her, but I knew him when he cut his own hair, swiped my cigarettes and could not have made first payment on a second hand velocipede.

RESTAURANT waiters are extremely friendly. A New York friend, however, seems annoyed by their familiarity. At lunch today he finally said to the garrulous garcon: "Pull up a chair and join us," But even that didn't stop him.

FREDERICK E. WEBSTER DIES IN EAST WHEN ON AUTO TOUR

Officer of Utilities Concerns Succumbs at Saranac Lake, N. Y., on Way to St. Louis.

Frederick E. Webster, 57 years old, 725 South Skinker road, treasurer of the American Commonwealth Power Corporation, and vice president and treasurer of the Community Power and Light Co., and affiliated companies, died of acute indigestion at Saranac Lake, N. Y., Tuesday. He and his wife, Mrs. Annie M. Webster, were on their way to St. Louis by automobile after spending a vacation at York Harbor, Me.

Mr. Webster came to St. Louis four years ago after having long been associated with New England public utilities. Prior to his connection with David A. Belden, head of the companies of which he was vice president, Mr. Webster was secretary of the New Hampshire Public Service Commission.

The widow and his mother of Haverhill, Mass., survive. He was a member of the St. Louis Rotary and Algonquin clubs, the Missouri Athletic Association and the Bektash Shrine of Concord, N. H., where he formerly resided. The body will be taken to Concord, N. H., for interment.

SCHERER FUNERAL SATURDAY

Funeral services for Martin Scherer, former Republican Committeeman from the Tenth Ward, who died yesterday, will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. in the Pomegranate Lodge, Pennsylvania avenue and Utah sareet. Burial will be in Sunset Hill Park.

Mr. Scherer, who was 52, at one time served as treasurer of the Republican City Central Committee. He lived at 3629 Wilmington avenue and was treasurer of the Monroe Stationery Co. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Emma Scherer; a daughter, Mrs. Lorena Morgan, and by three sisters and two brothers.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

ONE of the most interesting of the debut parties for next season will be that of Miss Jane Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns, 30 Lenox place, who will be introduced to society by her parents, the evening of Friday, Dec. 27, at the Florissant Valley Country Club. Details of the evening will be announced later. In addition several smaller parties will be given in Miss Burns' honor.

The prospective debutante and her father will depart today for Biloxi, Miss., where Mr. and Mrs. Burns have leased the Southern home of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Bemis of Hotel Chase for the remainder of the summer. They will make the trip by automobile. Mrs. Burns will depart tomorrow by train to join her family. They had originally planned to go to Eaton's Ranch in Wyoming for the late summer.

Miss Margaret How, daughter of Mrs. Charles Adams How, 79 Vandeventer place, is in New York for a 10-day visit with Miss Edwina Campbell, a former classmate.

Mrs. Henry H. Mudd, 6327 North Rosebury drive, and Mr. Mudd's mother, Mrs. Robert H. Mudd, will leave Saturday for Fish Creek, Wis., to remain until early in September. They will occupy their new cottage for the remainder of the season.

News has reached St. Louis by letters to friends of Miss Cynthia Polk, daughter of Mr. Charles M. Polk, 4366 Westminster place, who has been in Europe for several months. She is spending the summer in Switzerland, after visiting her uncle and aunt, Col. and Mrs. Edward Carpenter, formerly of St. Louis, at their home in Berlin. Mr. Polk, who sailed several weeks ago to join his daughter, is traveling at present, and will be with her in Switzerland.

Miss Polk spent the winter traveling through Europe with a group of St. Louis girls chaperoned by Mrs. Atwell Lincoln.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Langford Ballenger of Memphis will arrive in St. Louis Friday to spend a few days with Mrs. Ballenger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher R. Harris, Dorset and Adie roads. Mrs. Ballenger was Miss Xalissa Harris before her marriage. The Ballengers are building a new home in Memphis, and will take possession in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris' debutante daughter, Miss Janet Bond Harris, is the guest of Miss Isabelle Bond, daughter of Mrs. H. Wheeler Bond, 17 Vandeventer place, at the Bond summer home at Harbor Point, Mich., which they purchased this season.

Mrs. Frances Woods Kauffman, daughter of Mrs. John Perkman Woods, has departed for Hessel, Mich., to visit friends. Later she will go to Charlevoix, Mich., where she will be a guest at the Belvedere Hotel.

Mrs. Woods, with Mrs. Kauffman's small son, Kay, and the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Butler, is occupying her cottage at Chautauqua, Ill. Mrs. Butler is a daughter of Mrs. Woods.

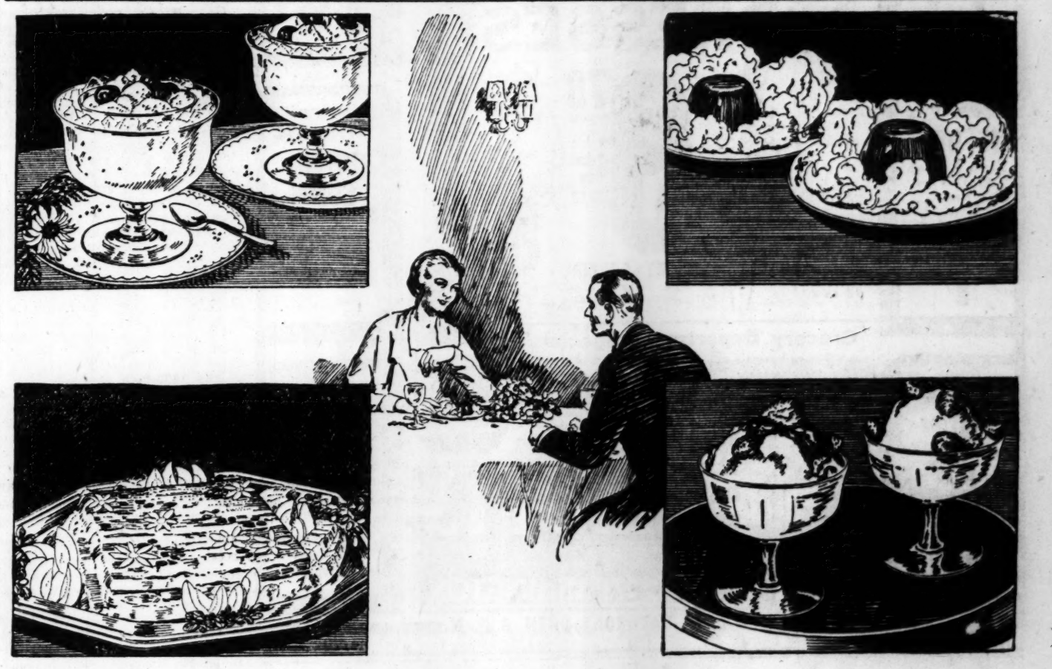

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hill Patton of Scarsdale, N. Y., and their small daughter, will arrive in St. Louis Saturday to be the guests for two weeks of Mrs. Patton's father, O. E. Rugg, and her sister, Miss Marian Rugg, 10 North Kingshighway. Miss Marian has just returned from a six-month trip abroad. She left St. Louis in January for a Mediterranean cruise, and later was joined in Paris by her mother. After landing in New York Miss Rugg visited Mr. and Mrs. Patton in Scarsdale. Mrs. Rugg will remain in Europe until late fall.

Dr. and Mrs. Ross A. Woolsey, 6350 Waterman avenue, are in Ontario, Can., visiting Mrs. M. J. Mandelbaum, at her summer home. Mrs. Mandelbaum, a cousin of Mrs. Woolsey, was Miss Florence Beck of St. Louis before her marriage. Dr. Woolsey will return to St. Louis next week.

Miss Eleanor Horton, daughter of Mrs. Mary B. Horton, 7755 Pershing avenue, and Edwin M. Harford of Webster Groves, were married yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Horton. The marriage service was read by the Rev. Carroll M. Davis of New York, former dean of Christ Church Cathedral, in the presence of relatives and a few friends. Miss Quinette Cowan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Cowan, 5510 Waterman avenue, was maid of honor for her aunt, and Carl Harford served as best man for his father.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon mad with a sleeveless bodice trimmed in a bertha of rose point lace and a circular skirt of uneven hemline. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Cowan wore a frock of yellow chiffon and carried yellow and brown zinnias.

A small reception followed the ceremony, after which Mr. Harford and his bride departed for New York to sail Saturday for Europe, where they will spend six weeks in foreign travel.

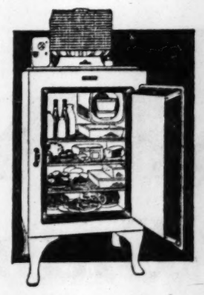

How's this for a hot-weather dinner?

One of these evenings, when you're exhausted from the heat and nothing tastes good, how would you like to sit down to a dinner like this? An ice-cold fruit cup, jellied chicken and ham, a salad of crisp lettuce with a stuffed tomato in aspic. And, for dessert, a strawberry sundae. Tempting, isn't it? And so pleasantly easy to prepare.

All the real work can be done in the cool of the morning. Then your General Electric Refrigerator will do the rest . . . chill new flavor into every course.

Fifty degrees is accepted by scientists as the "danger point" in the preservation of food. When the temperature rises even a degree or two above that, bacteria multiply, foods become unsafe to eat . . . a positive menace to health. In the General Electric Refrigerator the temperature is automatically kept several degrees below fifty—always. Countless superiorities give the General Electric Refrigerator its outstanding position . . . an hermetically sealed, dust-proof mechanism, mounted on top . . . an accessible temperature control . . . quiet operation . . . no oiling . . . no troublesome machinery . . . simplified installation . . . no radio interference—a two-year guarantee.

Now, in addition to all these proved superiorities, General Electric offers an all-steel cabinet! Beautiful. Non-warping. Strong as a safe. Mounted on legs with broom room underneath. There are now more than 300,000 General Electric Refrigerator users and not one has spent a single dollar for repairs.

Prices on the new all-steel models now start as low as $215 at the factory.

See them at our display rooms.

Tune in on the General Electric Hour broadcast every Saturday evening 8 to 9 Eastern Standard Time over the N. B. C. network of 42 stations.

Science sat at her feet (and You Can't Blame Science)

and learned that sparkling white teeth usually come to people who live largely on fresh fruit. "How," said Science to himself, "can I put this same fruit-whitener into a tooth paste?" By long experimenting Science learned that for this "whitener" to do its work it must be kept fresh, separate, so it is full strength at the moment of use. "Eureka," said Science. "I'll put it in a separate inner tube!" So was born the only "fresh-whitener" tooth paste. You'll see the stain-removing whitener come out on your brush, a cheery red inner cream—and the white accompanying creams are what keep your gums healthy, protect against decay, and keep your mouth fresh, cool and fragrant. Give New Mix one trial. You never saw anything like it. You'll never use anything else. Gilmont Products Corporation, New York City.

GENERAL IN THE RANKS AS LESSON TO CADETS

Major-General Parker Takes Rookie's Place in Line to Correct His Posture.

Maj.-Gen. Frank B. Parker, commanding officer of the Sixth Corps Area, United States Army, who thinks that a soldier who fails to carry his chest high is incompetent, made a second inspection yesterday of the Citizens' Military Training Camp at Jefferson Barracks and again emphasized posture.

Passing among ranks of citizen soldiers, Major-General Parker frequently paused to compliment a cadet or correct his posture.

"Carry the chin up, young man. The back should be straight," Gen. Parker observed more than once as he summoned a cadet from line and took the youth's place.

Poses as Buck Private.

Momentarily pretending to be a buck private, the stars of his rank flashing in a platoon commanded by a newly appointed noncommissioned officer, Gen. Parker squared his shoulders between two cadets, adding "Like this. The chest out, the head erect."

Among those who drew a commending nod from the highest military officer in the Middle West was Corp. Herbert Mason, Benton, Ill. Ten days ago, on the occasion of his first inspection of the summer training camp, Gen. Parker singled out Mason for praise because of his military posture. The distinction won for Mason his corporal's chevrons.

Gen. Parker reviewed the entire student army at 9 o'clock and later inspected the tent city and the mess. He complimented officers of the Sixth Infantry and of the 344th (Reserve) Infantry on the progress the men have made since his last visit to the camp.

More Cadets on Range.

Another company of cadets went on the rifle range yesterday, firing at targets from 200 yards. Out of 274 men, many of whom had never fired a rifle before their training began two weeks ago, 231 qualified as marksmen. Of this number, 28 qualified as sharpshooters, having scored 84 or better out of a possible 100. H. M. Price, a third-year man, scored the best individual mark of the day with 93 hits out of a possible 100.

The second battalion of cadets went on the range today. The machine gun company also operated on the 1000-inch range.

The camp will close Aug. 6. There will be reviews on each Saturday up to that date, the regimental commander being Col. Robert L. Floyd of the 344th (Reserve) Infantry.

Several boxing bouts were held last night.

Mistaken for Burglar, Shot.

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 25.—Mistaken for a burglar, Miss Madeline Linseth, 18 years old, of Madison, Minn., was shot and seriously wounded early today by Leroy Cady, grocer and confectioner, at whose home the girl lived. Hospital attaches said the bullet struck the girl in the chest, hit a bone and then tore its way into the stomach. Cady is held without charge. Miss Linseth said she had been out with a man.

(Thousands write us letters like this)

"The clothes last longer" says Miss Irma Newell, 5720 Julian Ave.

"I had been reading about Rinso in the newspapers, so I asked my laundress to try it.

"She gets through with her work much earlier now—and the clothes turn out so bright and snowy!

"Rinso makes such rich suds, all the dirt soaks out of even the most soiled pieces. Boiling isn't needed. Clothes last longer when they're washed this gentle way.

"Rinso is marvelous for dishwashing and other cleaning, too."

Intelligent women let their tooth paste buy their cold cream

So many things you can buy with that $3 you save by using Listerine Tooth Paste instead of 50 cent dentifrices. Cold Cream, for example. Talcum. Handkerchiefs. Hose.

One trial convinces you of its exhilarating after effects

YOU probably know that wonderful feeling of mouth cleanliness and exhilaration that follows the use of Listerine.

Now that delightful sensation is brought to you by Listerine Tooth Paste—25 cents the large tube.

Try it one week. Note how quickly it cleans. How it removes all traces of discoloration and leaves teeth gleaming. How it invigorates the entire oral tract.

Millions, finding that Listerine Tooth Paste gives such pleasant results have rejected older and costlier favorites. The average saving is $3 per year per person.

We'll wager that once you try it, you too, will be convinced of its merit. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A.

CARDINAL EXPLAINS THE SIGNIFICANCE OF POPE'S EMERGENCE

ing in sacred liturgy a new festival of the Christ King.

Today's procession was the affirmation of Christ's peace as the benediction by which it was closed was essentially an act of peace. I wrote as an epigraph on the facade of the new basilica erected in the honor of Queen Peace at Ostia, "Christ's Peace in Christ's Kingdom," and it seems to me that no better motto could have been inscribed for the port and city of Rome whence so many apostles have departed in order to carry the name of Rome and the word of Christian truth. I am glad these words are proclaimed on the Roman shore by the Mediterranean Sea which is part of the Atlantic Ocean for so it seems to me the Christian, Roman voice may reach the far-off Americas to repeat once again to those fervid centers of life and all modern progress the word of wisdom and perfection which for the first time echoed in the mystic night of Bethlehem: "Peace on Earth, Goodwill to Men."

U. S. AND BRITAIN TO HALT WORK ON NEW CRUISERS

only one by which two proud and independent nations in the positions occupied by Great Britain and the United States could agree to be friends and eliminate the thought of war between them.

Stimson Calls on Hoover.

During the day Stimson, accompanied by former Secretary Kellogg, called at the White House but nothing was forthcoming as to their conversation as was the case in the call of Secretary Adams of the navy.

Senator Oddie of Nevada, a Republican member of the Senate Naval Committee, today said he regarded the question of parity as but one angle of the problem presented, and that the United States should regard as well possible combinations of strength that might be allied against this country.

Oddie last winter was one of the leaders of those supporting the cruiser construction program. He declared in his opinion the United States should carry out the program in full as, he added, America was deficient in that type of fighting craft.

Senator Watson of Indiana, the majority leader, said he was in full sympathy with the President's action; Senator King (Dem.), Utah, declared that the two announcements were "an advance of great importance;" Senator Edge (Rep.), New Jersey, asserted the President had acted in accordance with the desires of Congress, and Senator Sacket (Rep.), Kentucky, took the same view.

Senator Smoot (Rep.), Utah, said he "sincerely hoped that a program of reduction would be carried out to its conclusion," but added that it should be understood "that it will be carried out by all the nations involved."

No comment on the President's statement was forthcoming from Chairman Borah of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, but prior to its issuance, in speaking of the Kellogg treaty, he declared the world naval situation a serious challenge to that pact.

"Navies are fighting machines," he said. "They are built in anticipation of war."

Hoover's Statement.

The text of President Hoover's statement on naval disarmament follows:

"I have read with real satisfaction the statement which the Prime Minister has made in the House of Commons. The American people are greatly complimented by his proposed visit and he will find a universal welcome.

"Mr. MacDonald's statement marks a new departure in discussion on naval disarmament. The Prime Minister introduces the principle of parity which we have now adopted and its consummation means that Great Britain and the United States henceforth are not to compete in armament as potential opponents but to co-operate as friends in the reduction of it. The Prime Minister has stated clearly and unmistakably the principles on which he is acting. I cannot but be responsive to the generous terms in which he has spoken of the attitude and the purpose of the United States. We join in his efforts in the same spirit.

Would Show Equal Good Will.

"Mr. MacDonald has indicated the good will and positive intention of the British Government by suspension of construction of certain portions of this year's British naval program. It is the desire of the United States to show equal good will in our approach to the problem.

"We have three cruisers in this year's construction program which have been undertaken in the Government navy yards, the detailed drawings for which are now in course of preparation. The actual keels would, in the ordinary course, be laid down some time this fall. Generally speaking, the British cruiser strength considerably exceeds American strength at the present time and the actual construction of these three cruisers would not be likely in themselves to produce inequality in the final result.

"We do not wish, however, to have any misunderstanding of our actions and therefore we shall not lay these keels until there has been an opportunity for full consideration of their effect upon the final agreement for parity which we expect to reach, although our hopes of relief from construction lie more largely in the latter years of the program under the law of 1928."

Britten Disapproves.

Chairman Britten said:

"If President Hoover is taken literally, it will mean stoppage of cruisers in 1929, to the disadvantage of the United States to the same degree that the United States suffered in 1922, and we scrapped several hundrd million dollars worth of warships and made Britain's predominance of the seas secure.

"The United States in the past three years has made several attempts to gain cruiser equality with Great Britain, but in each instance we have failed because the United States representatives refused to agree to build for our country the type of cruisers best adapted to British uses.

"If Ramsay MacDonald really wants equality, let him tell the world that Great Britain from now on will stop building cruisers and if President Hoover wants equality the surest way to get it is to keep on building cruisers.

"The two new cruisers Ramsay MacDonald says he will scrap, are not even paper cruisers because they haven't made a design for them.

"It would be a very simple and very advantageous matter for England to scrap two cruisers which have never existed even on paper in exchange for the scrapping of three American cruisers already nnder construction in Government navy yards.

"As in the past British diplomacy is now suggesting that they will scrap mythical cruisers in exchange for real American ones and it looks as though we are about to fall for the deceit."

"When Great Britain realizes we are in earnest in our suggestions for sea power equality, I predict they will ask for a conference."

The 15-cruiser law passed by Congress last winter provided that five cruisers should be contracted for in each of the fiscal years of 1929, 1930 and 1931 and their construction begun by the close of the respectively following fiscal years.

ST. LOUIS DISTRICT MANUFACTURES GROW

U. S. Reports 1927 Output $1,472,242,510, Increase of 13 Per Cent.

Advance figures of the biennial census of manufactures, received by the Chamber of Commerce from Washington, show that the total value of products manufactured in the metropolitan district of St. Louis during 1927 was $1,472,242,510. This is an increase of $173,675,931, or 13 per cent, over the 1925 figure.

The total number of wage earners in the district in 1927 was fixed by the Census Bureau at 158,520, an increase of 12 per cent over the 1925 showing.

M. M. Drake, director of research of the Chamber of Commerce, said the showing was remarkable because the 1925 period was one of declining prices. If the price levels of 1925 had been maintained, he said, the value of the products of 1927 would appear as $1,644,000,000, showing an increase of 27 per cent over those of 1925. With previous comparative figures, Drake said, the report showed a steady growth in manufactures since 1923.

The Census Bureau, in its biennial manufacturing reports, does not include small or hand industries having an annual output of less than $5000 in value.

Boy Drowns Near Danville.

DANVILLE, Ill., July 25.—While his parents, three brothers and sister prepared a picnic supper on the bank of Salt Creek at Sullivan Ford, near Danville, Tuesday afternoon, Alwin Hughes, 14 years old, went in swimming and was drowned. His father, Benjamin Hughes, nearly lost his life in an attempted rescue. The boy's body was recovered two hours later.

A screen star's skin must be flawlessly lovely if it is to stand the terrific test of the close-up—especially under the glare of the huge new incandescent "sun-spot" lights.

ELEANOR BOARDMAN, beloved star, in the beautiful garden-like bathroom—one of the most charming seen in Hollywood—which forms so delightful a background for the gentle loveliness of her personality.

SHE enjoys the luxury of Lux Toilet Soap both in her bathroom and in her dressing room on location. "Lux Toilet Soap is excellent for the very smooth skin—'studio skin'—a screen star must have . . . it is such a good soap!"

Eleanor Boardman

How 9 out of 10 screen stars keep their skin lovely

IT is the first thing you admire—in children, in charming young girls, in lovely women. For exquisite skin, fresh and clear, is the basis of all loveliness.

People get a real thrill of emotion from it. And no girl, Hollywood has found, can be fascinating without it.

King Vidor, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer director, sums up the experience of 39 leading Hollywood directors when he says: "Exquisite smooth skin is a vital factor in every screen star's success. I've never seen it successfully faked under the glare of the close-up."

It is only the smoothest skin that will look lovely under the terrific brilliance of the new close-up lights.

Among the 451 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars, 442 use Lux Toilet Soap to keep their skin lovely and smooth. And following the example of the stars, all the great film studios have made it the official soap for their dressing rooms.

If you aren't already using this soap, so delicately fragrant and white, do buy several cakes—today. Generous father, too!

LEGAL NOTICE

State of Indiana, County of Lake—ss:
In the Lake Circuit Court, September Term, 1922
Emery Brannon vs Alice Harder
CAUSE NO. 20015.

To Alice Harder, Greeting:

You are hereby notified that the above named plaintiff has this day filed in the office of the Clerk of said Court his certain complaint or petition alleging therein among other things that you, the said defendant, on or about the 10th day of April, 1897, being then a resident of said County and State and had temporarily been in the City of St. Louis in the County of St. Louis and the State of Missouri, and the same being your usual place of residence went to parts unknown and have continuously since said date remained absent and unheard from leaving real estate in Lake County, in the State of Indiana, without having made any provision for its control or management; that by reason thereof said property is suffering waste for want of proper care and prays that your estate may be adjudged by said court subject to administration and that an administrator thereof be duly appointed.

Now therefore you, the said Alice Harder, defendant and absentee as aforesaid, are hereby notified that said complaint and the matters herein alleged will come up for hearing and determination in said court at the Courthouse in the City of Crown Point, County of Lake and State of Indiana on Monday, the 23d day of September, 1929 or as soon thereafter as such hearing can be had.

Clerk of the Lake Circuit Court.
Victor K. Roberts of Lowell, Indiana,
Attorney for the Petitioner. (c85)

BETHLEHEM STEEL RAISES DIVIDEND

Earns $5.33 on Common in Quarter — Net Income $11,766,473.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Bethlehem Steel Corporation today reported record net income for the second quarter of the year of $11,766,473, in contrast to $9,045,-[illegible]90 for the previous quarter, and $4,529,328 in the like period of last year. After deducting all charges and preferred dividends, profit was equal to $5.33 per share of common stock, as compared to $4.05 on a smaller capitalization in the previous quarter and $1.57 in second quarter of 1928.

A dividend of $1.50 was declared on the common stocks, a dividend of $1 has been paid in the two previous quarters, marking resumption of payments after suspension from July 1, 1924, when a quarterly payment of $1.25 was made, the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 was declared on the preferred.

Operations averaged at 100.6 per cent of rated capacity, as contrasted to 91.9 per cent during the previous quarter, and 82.5 during the second quarter of last year. Current operations are at the rate of approximately 99 per cent of capacity.

The value of orders on hand June 29 was $56,899,800 against $62,702,683 on March 31 and $51,761,908 at the end of June last year.

Total income for the quarter was $18,069,082, comparing with $15,-245,471 and $10,767,959, respectively, in the preceding three-month period and the corresponding period a year ago.

Local Business and Financial Items

Allied Aviation Industries, a holding company organized here several months ago, has bought the Royal Airways, Inc., of Madison, Wis., which operates a flying school and airport, it was announced yesterday by John A. Love of Love, Bryan & Co., New York, chairman of the board.

The company also owns all outstanding stock in Mono-Aircraft Manufacturing Co., Aviation Accessories and the Lambert Aircraft Engine Corporation, all of Moline, Ill. A deal is pending for a working agreement or consolidation with an English aircraft firm.

Industrial and Financial Briefs

NEW YORK, July 25.—The Postum Co. was listed on the New York Stock Exchange today under its new name, General Food Products Co. The new ticker symbol is GF, succeeding PS, the abbreviation for Postum.

American Gas & Power Co., subsidiary of American Commonwealths Power Corp., has acquired the Industrial Gas Corp. of Birmingham, Ala. The transaction is said to have involved purchase of all of the latter's common stock for about $1,500,000 in cash.

With their current dividend checks, the 55,000 stockholders of General Electric Co. will receive annual passes entitling them to inspect any of the company's plants.

Prices of Pittsburg Scrap have been advanced. Number one steel is quoted at $18.50 to $19, up 25 cents. Borings and turnings are also higher on recent sales at the top price of $13.

American petroleum companies operating in France are understood to be planning the establishment of co-operative refineries in that country. Standard Oil of New Jersey and the Texas Company, both with large French interests, are reported negotiating toward such a step, while the Royal Dutch Shell and the Anglo-Persian Oil companies are also said to be interested. The projected refineries would be capable of handling 25 per cent of France's consumption of naphtha, report said.

Directors of Universal Products Co. of Fordson, Mich., have declared a 5 per cent stock dividend payable Sept. 4 to shares of record Aug. 20.

Kolster Radio Corporation has concluded an agreement for the manufacture and sale of Kolster and Brandes receiving sets in Germany.

Chesapeake & Ohio Railway's net income of $13,530,659 for the first half is equal to $11.43 a share on the common compared with $10,942,378 or $9.24 a share in the first six months of 1928.

BIG UTILITY HOLDING COMPANY ANNOUNCES FIRST EXPANSION

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The first step in the expansion of the giant New York Utility Holding Company, Niagara HudsonPower Corp., since it was formed to acquire its three component companies by Morgan banking interests, was announced today. Through purchase and exchange of stock, the company plans to acquire a 25 per cent interest in the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.

CONSOLIDATED GAS TO OFFER STOCK TO HOLDERS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Directors of the Consolidated Gas Co. of New York today voted to offer stockholders of record Sept. 16 rights to purchase one additional share for each 10 shares held, subject to the approval of the Public Service Commission. The 1,010,000 new shares will be issued Oct. 16.

On the basis today's market price of the stock, approximately $150, the rights are worth about $7.50 each.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Total transactions in bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today amounted to $15,511,000; previous day's sales, $14,014,000; week ago, $13,107,000; year ago, $7,331,000. Total transactions from Jan. 1 to date were $1,576,205,000, compared with $1,859,053,000 a year ago and $1,454,553,000 two years ago.

Quotations on all Liberty Bonds are in dollars and thirty-seconds of a dollar; that is, for instance a sale printed 99—24 means $99 and 24 thirty-seconds of a dollar and not $99.24.

HOUDAILLE-HERSHEY CORP. REPORT FOR HALF YEAR

CHICAGO, July 25.—Net earnings of Houdaille-Hershey Corporation and subsidiaries for the first half of 1929, after all charges including taxes, were $2,177,858, equal to $4.05 a share on Class B stock after provision for dividends on Class A stock. This was based on the exchange of all outstanding Class A and B shares of General Spring Bumper Corporation for A and B stock of Houdaille-Hershey, which has acquired the Bumper Corporation. With the addition of net profits of another subsidiary, estimated at $100,000, earnings would approximate $4.27 a share.

LOANS TO BROKERS AND DEALERS UP $95,000,000

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve member banks for the week ending July 24 were announced by the Federal Reserve Board today as $5,908,000,000, representing an increase of $95,000,000, as compared with the preceding week and establishing a new high record.

The previous record was established last week for the week ending July 17 when the loans amounted to $5,813,000,000. The loans for the week ending July 25, 1928, totaled $4,184,000,000. The detailed distribution of the loans over the three weeks dealt with in the board's report was (000,000 omitted):

BALDWIN LOCOMOTIVE STOCK SPLITUP VOTED

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—Directors of the Baldwin Locomotive works today voted to split up the commonstock four for one.

Shareholders will be asked to change the 200,000 shares of common of $100 par value to 800,000 shares of no par value at a special meeting of stockholders.

The directors also recommended that additional no par value stock be issued for treasury and corporate purposes.

The preferred stock was not disturbed.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Raw sugar declined 1-32c early today to the basis of 3.96 for spots duty paid. Refiners continued to show but little interest, while offerings were more liberal. The only sales reported were 10,000 bags of Porto Rican afloat and 25,000 bags of Cubas for September at 3.96 delivered.

Futures opened 2 to 4 points lower under liquidation and selling by producing interests, promoted by the easier spot market and the unfavorable London cables. September contracts sold off to 2.14 and December to 2.22, with the general market at one time 3 to 4 points below the previous close. Covering by trade interests against sales in the spot market checked the decline and a partial rally followed with the list at midday 2 to 3 points net lower. Trading on the whole was not very active and operators were inclined to limit fresh commitments and await developments in Cuba relative to the single selling agency plan.

Refined was unchanged at 5.50 for fine granulated, with second hands available at from 5.17½ to 5.20.

Sugar futures closed easy; approximated sales, 53,000 tons; September, 2.13c; December, 2.21c; January, 2.21c; March, 2.25c; May, 2.32c; July, 2.39c.

MIXED TONE SHOWN IN THE BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, July 25.—The bond market today developed a mixed tone as several of the convertible leaders were actively sold while others were whirled to new highs. Money was firm, with the call money rate advancing from an 8 per cent renewal rate to 10 and time money unchanged at 8 per cent for all maturities.

American Telephone convertible 4½s shot up more than 6 points to a new high at 181, in sympathy with the advance in the stock to record price levels. International Telephone convertible 4½s made a smaller gain.

The 6s of Lautaro Nitrate, associated with the Guggenheim interests in Chile, were actively traded in and again touched 100 before encountering selling.

UTILITIES BOUGHT LATE ON THE CUR

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The Curb Market rallied briskly under renewed buying of the utilities toward the close of today's session after prices had moved irregularly during the major part of the session, as yesterday's selling movement spent its force. The upturn in the late trading was in the face of a rise in the call loan rate to 10 per cent.

American Light & Traction shot up nearly 10 points, while Mohawk & Hudson mounted six, and Buffalo, Niagara & Eastern, Northeastern Power, Electric Bond & Share, Middle West Utilities, Standard Power & Light and United Light & Traction A, Utilities Power & Light (new) sold up two to four points.

Niagara Hudson was firm following announcement of its first expansion since organization, in the acquisition of an interest in Central Hudson. The stock sold close to its record price above 30. Commonwealth & Southern was steady, closing fractionally higher. Electric Investors slipped back six points in profit taking and United Gas Improvement was under pressure.

The session was marked by initial trading in a number of new stocks, notably the shares of Shenandoah Corporation, new investment trust formed by Goldman Sachs Trading, Goldman Sachs & interests. The common stock, offered at 17½ and rumored oversubscribed in a rush to buy inspired by the success of Goldman Sachs Trading, Goldman Sach & Co.'s first investment trust venture, sold up to 35⅝, more than double the offering price.

Ulen & Co., another new stock admitted to trading yesterday, when it sold above 41, then off to about 35, rallied to 36½, seven points above the offering price. Neet, Inc., also a new stock, sold several points above its offering price.

A feature of the late trading was a firming up of the oils, Gulf closing more than a point higher, and other important shares in the group holding steady. Capital Administration sold up more than seven points. Aluminum Co., after jumping more than 11 points, lost much of its gain, and Deere dropped 10 points.

COTTON CLOSES HIGHER ON NEW YORK MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Early declines in cotton today under renewed liquidation were followed by recoveries on buying promoted by disappointing weather reports from Texas and talk of a better trade demand for new crop shipment. A firmer technical position contributed to the advance which carried the market about 11 to 15 points net higher and prices were within 5 or 6 points of the best during the middle of the afternoon.

Futures closed steady, 6 to 12 points higher; October, 18.79@18.80c; December, 19.03@19.04c; January, 18.98@18.99; March, 19.19c; May, 19.38c. Spot quiet; middling, 18.80c.

Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 5 to 10 points.

The market was reported influenced by renewed liquidation and some local or commission house selling influenced by private reports of rain in parts of Texas, relatively easy late cables from Liverpool and continued talk of probable high end-July condition figures. October sold off to 18.63c and January to 18.78c, making net declines of about 9 to 14 points on the new crop positions. There was covering at the lower prices, however, and the market steadied up a few points before the session has advanced far on the failure of the weather map to show as much rain as hoped for in the Southwest. Part of the early selling was attributed to hedging by the Southwest. Private cables reported trade calling in the Liverpool market supplied by continental selling.

Trading in current July contracts ended at midday. The last sale of that position was at 18.33c or net unchanged. New crop positions after the early decline at about 10 to 14 points steadied after the posting of the weather map which showed less rain than expected in the Southwest. Offerings were comparatively light late in the morning and prices more than recovered their early losses on covering or rebuying, showing net gains of about 6 to 9 points at midday with October selling at 18.81c.

PROPERTY AND LOCATION

The Loew's St. Louis Realty and Amusement Corporation, a wholly owned subsidiary of Loew's Incorporated, owns the real estate and leaseholds, securing the mortgage notes and which cover together the property having a frontage of 135 feet on the north side of Washington Avenue, running 226 feet along the east side of Eighth Street from Washington Avenue to Lucas Avenue and extending on the south side of Lucas Avenue east 169 feet, in the City of St. Louis, together with building and improvements thereon, furnishings and equipment of the theatre. The building is three stories and contains the Loew's State Theatre with entrance lobby on Washington Avenue, three stores on Washington Avenue, which are leased to Walgreen Co., P. C. Murphy Trunk Co. and J. Barbakos' Candy Store. The second and third floors contain loft space at the corner of Washington Avenue and Eighth Street.

SECURITY

These notes are secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a first (closed) mortgage on the land owned in fee, the leasehold estate, and buildings above named and more fully described in the indenture, together with the furnishings and equipment of the theatre, which have been conservatively valued by independent appraisers at $1,325,000. Total amount of outstanding notes is only 37.17% of this appraised value, or over $2,690 for each $1,000 of these notes.

GUARANTOR

Loew's Incorporated is a holding company. Through its subsidiaries it is engaged in the production, distribution and exhibition of talking and motion pictures. In owns or controls 115 theatres in the United States, including the Capital Theatre, New York City. In addition it holds interests in Canada, Germany, Great Britain and Brazil.

For the year ended August 31, 1928, gross income of Loew's Incorporated and 100% owned subsidiary companies was $99,260,300, and net operating profit was $12,659,027 available for interest on its requirements of $1,472,864. For the first quarter of 1929 the company's earnings were about 25% greater than the same period of 1928. Recent market quotations on the New York Stock Exchange indicate a market value of outstanding preferred and common stocks of Loew's Incorporated of over $90,000,000.

This offering does not represent a new issue but is with respect to an original indebtedness of $650,000.00, upon which $157,500.00 has been paid. As the date of the issue all legal details with reference to the issue and the mortgage securing the same, were passed upon by S. A. Mitchell, Esq., Counsel for the Mercantile Trust Company of St. Louis, Mo., and by Hon. Nathan Frank, of St. Louis, Mo., representing Loew's St. Louis Realty & Amusement Corporation.

WHEAT HAS 5C UPWARD RANGE AT CHICAGO

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Wheat prices jumped 5c a bushel higher today. Canadian crop comment bullish.

For two days the market had been sluggish, losing ground from the quick advance of last Monday and disregarding the daily reports about crops in the domestic and Canadian Northwest. Today unofficial estimates of the provincial spring wheat yield reached the low level of 150,000,000 bushels and a similar figure was named for the harvest in Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana. Black rust was reported on this side of the international line.

The day's top quotations were reached just before the close which was extremely nervous at 4¼c to 4¾c above yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1½c to 2⅝c up, oats ¾c to 1¼c advanced and provisions varying from 12c decline to a rise of 10 cents.

Wheat scored sharp upturns in price today after an irregular start.

Reports of worse crop conditions in Canada as well as of premature ripening and of black rust on upper stems in Minnesota and the Dakotas were among the chief strengthening factors. Opening ¾c to ⅞c up, wheat afterward rose all around. Corn, oats and provisions likewise advanced, with corn starting unchanged to ⅜c lower, but subsequently making a general climb.

Renewal of broad general buying took the wheat market soaring afresh today. There was report of hot weather in Canada with no rains.

Comment from crop experts said that black rust is now showing on upper stems in all wheat fields on the Minnesota and Dakota sides of the Red River Valley.

TURPENTINE, FLAX AND LINSEED

Linseed oil was quoted in 1 to 4 barrel lots at 13.9c per lb. for raw and 14.3c for boiled.

Behind the Screens

The Latest News and Gossip of the Film Actors in Hollywood Appears in the Daily Magazine of the Post-Dispatch Every Tuesday and Thursday and in the Sunday Drama Section.

HOLLYWOOD, July 25.

STARS who would like to forget their birthdays must find amusing consolation in the ambition of little Lupita Tovar to look older, in order that, she says, "they not keed me, and zat they give me good parts, the grown-up, how you say?"

LUPITA TOVAR.

This Mexico City senorita, aged 18, found at her "em broidar' lesson" in school by the talent-seeking movies and brought to Hollywood under contract, after her father "sink and sink and sink" before giving permission, "would like to do something in the movies for Mexico, my con-tree, but eef they sink I am child, how they give me ze parts, huh?

"I am no more baby. I am grown-up! I got ze fire, ze pep—but I don' like to act all time, on ze street, everywhere. I cannot be like zat. Me, I am serious—only when I wan' act I can be like zat."

AND how serious is Lupita may be gleaned by a glance at her weekly schedule of lessons: guitar, two hours four days; Spanish dances, one hour three days; singing, one hour three days; dramatics, one-half hour two days; English, one hour every day. She attends classes religiously except when working.

When she arrived, seven months ago, Lupita could not say "good morning" in English; now it is rare that she gropes for words; she reads, reads, reads, goes to all the talkies, to learn new words and how to say them. She may never lose her accent—but then that, in the talkies, is probably her most valuable asset.

Her first good part is to be in "Conquistador," an all-talkie demanding that accent. She has already had a bit in "Joy Street," a non-talkie.

Lupita, by the way, has probably the most musical name in pictures. Say it over—Senorita Lupita Tovar—and see. And it's her real name.

A MIRACLE of concentrated energy is Michael Curtiz, the Hungarian director who in making the flood scenes of "Noah's Ark" shamed timorous extras by himself plunging into the swirling deluge. It was wintry weather, and as a result he was taken severely ill. But the experience seems not to have daunted his enthusiasm.

The other day, under a warm summer sun, after a day of heartbreakingly slow progress on fiesta scenes of his new picture, he stood on a platform straining his lungs in a long speech of directions to the gaily costumed mob.

He scorned a megaphone. Leaping down, he was here, there, everywhere about he massive set. When all was ready, he followed the cameras in their "perambulator" shots of the festive scene—eager, tense, excited, triumphant as the action pleased his fancy. He throws his body as well as his mind into the work. There is movie-consecration.

PERCY HASWELL (Mrs. George Fawcett) has completed a run in "The Old Shoe" at downtown theater, play written by her daughter, Georgia Haswell Fawcett, with old Virginia atmosphere....A "natural," because the Fawcetts are from there.

And Mervyn Leroy has reason to remember his present assignment in "Little Johnny Jones," because he is directing his wife, Edna Murphy, for the first time....Mervyn once played the title role himself, in silent picture days, before he took up megaphoning....Slight of frame, and light, Leroy, in fact, more closely resembles the movie jockey than Eddie Buzzell, the singing star, who has had to reduce even to play the jockey out of condition and 10 pounds overweight.

WHEN they say out here in movietown that mixed marriages fail they don't mean marriages of mixed races or religions. Mixed marriage to Hollywood is that of a film player to a non-professional. It has become an axiom that where the player is a woman and her husband is doctor, lawyer, millionaire or anything else outside of the picture industry, then that marriage is doomed.

DOLORES DEL RIO

The truth is, says Hollywood, that picture people themselves aren't unstable in love. It is these mixed marriages that run up the divorce rate. And a survey made by a correspondent for Photoplay Magazine bears out this diagnosis. In a score of recent divorce and separation cases, all have involved the film actress and the non-professional husband.

The explanation is simple, says Katherine Albert, the Photoplay writer. It is that no husband relishes playing second fiddle to a famous wife and few wives can love a husband who does. But the non-professional husband of a film star is in that position in Hollywood. However successful he may be at law or in real estate, he is an outsider in movie circles.

AS for names and facts to prove all of this, they are plentiful. Most tragic, perhaps, was the case of Dolores del Rio, and her wealthy, aristocratic husband, Jamie. In Mexico he was the head of the family; they were happy. In Hollywood he was only a shadow. Separation was soon followed by his sad death.

MADGE BELLAMY.

John Regan, Allan Keefer, Harry Rosebloom, Julian Ancker, Logan Metcalf — who knows them? Very few. But they were the husbands of Helene Costello, Sue Carol, Jeanette Loff, Jean Arthur and Madge Bellamy. They couldn't fit in with Hollywood.

Renee Adoree married William Gill, a successful business man. But pictures demanded her time and overshadowed their home life. They gave up marriage. Constance Bennett divorced her wealthy husband, Phil Plant. Jacqueline Logan separated from the socially prominent Larry Winston. Helene Costello divorced John Regan, equally prominent in society. The explanation was that she grew tired of having him around the house all day while she worked anywhere from eight to 16 hours, but at the same time he couldn't take a position in Hollywood that would equal hers in prestige.

The only successful answer for the actress who weds outside the profession is to give up the profession. A few wise ones, May Allison, Haver and others have found it so. Constance Talmadge recently married Townsend Netcher, prominent Chicagoan, and will give up the screen.

SEEN and heard about the colony: Jimmie Gleason, epitome of genial informality, enjoying sunbath on the lawn in rear of the Gleasons' new home while host to a tea party....(Yes, Hollywood does have tea parties!)....Regis Toomey, who in two pictures has leaped from the footlights to a talkie lead, has only recently regained his singing voice.

HARRY LANGDON.

Harry Langdon and Thelma Todd suffering in the glare of an outdoor "iceberg" set for new comedy....Glare is terrific anyway, but add a few shining light reflectors and it's torture....Armida, also working outdoors, has pair of dark spectacles which almost hide her petite face.

Bull Montana, with the "face you can't forget," threatens to sing "You Were Meant for Me" in the "Show of Shows."....Gloria Swanson, her first talkie completed, off to Europe for a vacation....Beach lizards explaining over ham sandwiches and dill pickles exactly what is the matter with the motion picture industry.

A NICKELODEON in the Los Angeles foreign quarter bills "Gilbert Roland in Camille."....And not a word of Norma Talmadge....That's a case of the prophet come home to his people—Gilbert was born in Mexico, and who is Norma Talmadge, anyway?

BILLIE DOVE.

Billie Dove's next talkie is "Broadway Hostess."....Name changed from "Give the Little Girl a Hand."....Too long for a movie title, and they want no association with the Tex Guinan talkie flop....Warner's and First National planning a "vocal academy" to train screen voices....And singers will hear "playbacks" of their own vocal efforts....Suggesting what a pity, that years ago, such methods were not introduced to cut down the number of today's boarding house tenors and parlor sopranos.

Poor Man's Cake.

When at a loss for a plain cake and do not feel like bothering with an elaborate one, try this. Cream ½ cup butter with 1 cup sugar. Add 3 tablespoons cocoa, 1 teaspoon vanilla and ¼ teaspoon salt. Add 1 teaspoon soda to 1 cup sour milk and add to the mixture alternately with 2 cups sifted flour. Bake in layers and ice with a plain white icing.

For the Love of a Lady

by Jeffery Farnol

A Mysterious Message Which Julian Left Behind Which Is Found in a Queer Place.

The pistol-barrel yielded a rolled paper—Julian's last message.

SYNOPSIS: Sir Richard Guyfford, striving desperately to clear his name so that he may woo Helen D'Arcy, has disappeared from the circle of his few, staunch friends. At the D'Arcy home a brilliant lawnfete is in progress when Titus Oldcraft, the London constable, brings news of an amazing discovery. The cat's-eye ring—seen by Julian on his slayer's hand—has been found at the Guyfford Arms Inn—in the baggage of Captain Despard. Undaunted, the captain asks to see the ring and then most convincingly proves his innocence of the damning implications cast upon him—the ring is much too small to fit even his smallest finger.

Chapter XXVIII.
PRYING EYES.

SIR RICHARD, seated in the secret chamber, glanced at the sturdy landlord's troubled face.

"I'm back again, John, though not for long," said he softly. "Captain Despard is hurt, eh, John?"

"Broke 'is arm, sir, and all shook up, so Doctor Samson tells me. 'Bout a hour ago, the pore gen'leman trips and falls downstairs—and him nowise drunk, sir—which be strange."

But Sir Richard held up arresting finger and crossed softly to the judas in the corner and saw:

. . . Master Oldcraft bowed and obedient to the Viscount's gesture, sat down at the table and helped himself to a glass of wine:

"And now, my lord, of t' matter, the business you spoke of this afternoon?"

"Don't shout, man, don't shout!" said the Viscount. He leaned across the table and spoke in rapid, hissing undertone awhile, then Oldcraft questioned him, whispering also:

". . . plans all laid—eh, my lord? . . . trustworthy fellows? . . . yet I must . . being officer o' the law—"

"Shure," cried the Viscount peevishly, "'tis why I'm willing to . . . in reason. I'll pay . . ." the Viscount whispered more softly than ever, "have her safely abroad!"

Master Oldcraft rose and crossing softly to an oak press in adjacent corner, came back bearing pen, ink and paper. The Viscount hesitated, and finally, snatching the pen, wrote what was required, whereupon Master Oldcraft read it through, and folded it into a large pocket-book.

"Merely, my lord, as a matter o'—" he checked suddenly as Doctor Samson entered. The Viscount nodded, muttered and went out, clapping the door behind him.

"Hum!" quoth the doctor. "Pray, sir, what is your business with me?"

"Well, doctor," answered Oldcraft, "you attended Mr. Julian Guyfford in his illness, I understand."

"I did, sir."

"And you were with him on the day o' the murder, doctor, how was he then?"

"Strange, sir very odd—remarkably so!"

"Pray how, doctor?"

"Well, he was highly feverish—his speech was rapid, his looks wild—as though he expected to die!"

"Ah!" murmured Oldcraft. "Expected to die—you left him at the stile leading into Fallowdene Wood. Now did he say aught of importance, give you any message—ha?"

"Well, he left with me his pistol. 'Give this,' says he, 'to Cousin Richard and bid him know there's more in it than meets the eye'—or some such nonsense."

"I must charge ye to deliver this pistol to me," Oldcraft ordered.

"Why, but I pledged myself to give it to Sir Richard—"

"'Tis no matter, Doctor. Sir Richard being the suspected party, 'tis now your very duty to deliver this pistol up to an officer of the law."

"Then so I will, sir."

"I'll call at your house for it, sir—say 10 o'clock tonight, sharp."

* * *

"John," said Sir Richard, "what time do you expect Black Nick, tonight?"

"Nick were 'ere an hour or more—in the cellar, sir."

"I must have word with him."

"Then, sir ta' care as nobody spies ye."

"What matter, John? You forget.'

"Ay, I do be gettin' that used to 'ee," nodded John.

So down the narrow stair they crept and along dim-lit passages they sped stealthily, until, rounding sudden corner, they beheld a faint glow, a soft radiance; and now landlord John whistled and thereafter spoke in soft whisper:

"'Tis only me, lad—Sir Richard and me."

Then Black Nick appeared and smiled in joyous greeting.

"Ecod, sir," he exclaimed, starting at Sir Richard. "You look like any—"

"Hist!" quoth John in sudden warning. "There goes the bell," and nodding, he vanished.

Sir Richard, seating himself on convenient keg, clapped Nick on the shoulder, "this night I ha' business, and you can aid me if you will."

"Why, I'm your man, sir, now as ever."

Then, leaning near, Sir Richard whispered him in such sort that Black Nick stared, smiled, chuckled and suddenly bent himself in a fit of silent laughter.

. . . And thus at half-past 10 this same night, when Master Titus Oldcraft opened Doctor Samson's garden gate, unseen eyes watched him stride up to the door, knock and be admitted; and when he seated himself thereafter, in the doctor's cozy parlor, how should he know of the masked face that peered in at him through the ivy-girt window, whose lattice stood open to the summer night?

"So this," said Oldcraft, turning the silver-mounted pistol over and over, "this is it, eh doctor?"

"That, sir," nodded Doctor Samson, "that is the identical weapon. And I beg you'll handle it with due care, sir."

"It ain't primed," said Oldcraft, opening the pan.

"And," he continued, testing barrel with ramrod, "no more it ain't loaded. Leastways, 'tis loaded wi' more than powder and ball. Ha' ye such a thing as a stout darning-needle, doctor; this ramrod don't serve."

"I've a probe, sir," answered the doctor, reaching a case of surgical instruments."

"Watch now, doctor!" quoth Oldcraft and, selecting a certain-shaped probe he thrust it gently down the pistol-barrel and, after some small difficulty, drew thence a tightly-rolled paper.

"Bless me!" exclaimed Doctor Samson, leaning forward in sudden eagerness as Oldcraft, laying aside the pistol, smoothed out this paper upon the table; he read it, scratching his head and pushed it towards the doctor:

"Damme, sir!" he exclaimed. "But it seems—no sane man wrote this!"

Doctor Samson, having scanned the paper, shook judicial head.

"The empty vaporings of a fevered brain, sir!" he pronounced.

Master Oldcraft stared anew at these written words, scowled at them, cursed them beneath his breath yet very heartily, then, folding up the paper, set it away in his large pocketbook, thrust the pistol into his girdle and took up his hat, and so Doctor Samson presently lighted him to the door.

Now it was a dark night, for the moon was not yet up, and thus, as Master Oldcraft took his way along the shady lane how should he see or be aware of the dim, stealthy shapes that crept after him, that closed upon him so silently—nearer . . . nearer yet. . . .

A VACATION AT HOME

THE housewife who is planning home vacation will bring all her household duties to the point where she can perform them with the least possible expenditure of effort and work.

She reduces largely on the laundry. In many families it is customary to chip in and pay for the weekly outside laundering in order to give mother a vacation from June to September. This is a very considerate act and, no doubt, is appreciated by the tired mother.

Many women send the sheets and heavy bath towels to the laundry during the summer. Women who understand the benefits of conserving their strength cut down the ironing as much as possible and by wise planning from 80 to 100 per cent of the ironing can be eliminated.

If you have a washing machine and consider it "foolish to send out the wash," at least do not do unnecessary ironing. When you take the sheets from the line fold them smoothly and they will be all right to use. Use Turkish towels as much as possible—they require no ironing. Ripplette bedspreads are light and should never be ironed. Wear night dresses and pajamas of crinkled crepe. A good quality of crepe makes pretty garments. Underwear need not be ironed. Smooth it carefully when you take it from the line. Silk underwear and stockings should never be ironed. Merely stretch them in shape. Ironing takes the life out of them. Kiddie's undies and bloomers for everyday wear should be of crinkled crepe.

Discard cotton or linen tablecloths and napkins and substitute those attractive table covers that need only wiping with a damp cloth. Use the paper napkins. For washing the hands use crepe paper towels. Cleaning cloths will be fewer if newspaper is more used for wiping soiled surfaces. Shirts and collars can be sent to the laundry during the vacation weeks.

These substitutes will reduce the weekly laundering task considerably. For the few articles that must be ironed use your electric iron and do this in the coolest spot available.

Woolens

Avoid buying woolen materials having a series of holes along the selvidges. This usually means the fabric has been stretched and is therefore likely to shrink when washed.

Aztecs' Ancient Art Yields Fashion Tips

THE centuries-old art of Aztec and Inca civilization is being commercialized in a manner that gratifies patrons of Peruvia art; it is being adapted in Paris to the dress of modern women.

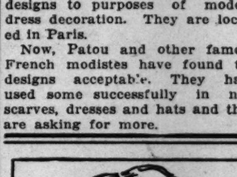

Senor Rafael Larco, one of the foremost benefactors of Peruvian art, has been responsible for the development. He has three young present-day Peruvians in the business of adapting ancient Peruvian designs to purposes of modern dress decoration. They are located in Paris.

Now, Patou and other famous French modistes have found the designs acceptable. They have used some successfully in new scarves, dresses and hats and they are asking for more.

Today America has a wonderful new yeast with a really fine flavor—a yeast that you eat with real relish— a more potent, quicker-acting yeast with a remarkably pleasing flavor.

It is called Busch Yeast and the experience of more than 70 years in yeast culture stands behind it. It's the kind of yeast that will appeal to taste-sensitive people who want the very finest that money can buy—and who insist on getting it.

It brings you all the benefits of ordinary yeast—multiplied. When eaten regularly and over a sufficient period of time, it stimulates the intestinal muscles, strengthening them gradually and naturally. Before long, elimination becomes regular and complete. The appetite again takes on the keen edge of youth. Digestion improves. Vitality and alertness increase. The skin becomes smooth and clear..

Suppose you try it. Eat 3 cakes every day—either with meals or between meals. Eat it every day for 30 days and then note the vast improvement in the way you look and feel. You will be delighted.

THE WAY OF A WOMAN

By Marguerite M. Marshall

MOTHER'S VACATION.

PERSONS, particularly men, who still cherish the notion that the modern American housewife has nothing to do, can now be referred to Uncle Sam—he'll "tell 'em different!" The average housewife works harder than a factory girl. This is not feminist propaganda, but the sober report of a survey just made public by the Bureau of Home Economics of the Department of Agriculture. Out of 2000 women studied in various localities, half work more than 48 hours a week, and the weekly working time for the entire number averages 51 hours.

Half the work—which also includes washing, ironing, sweeping, dusting, mending, sewing—consists of getting three meals a day and washing the dishes afterward. The woman reader is reminded of another recent announcement by the Department of Agriculture—that less than a quarter of America's cake, valued at $310,000,000, is made by bakers. The rest is still made at home by Mother.

Even though a Brooklyn gas expert testified before the Public Service Commission the other day that less cooking than formerly is done at home, the domestic art would seem far from being a lost one! But though many women really like to cook, and though EVERY family assuredly likes to eat, these 89 degree days surely should be turned into a culinary vacation for Mother—who so often gets no other kind!

THE adult family can get along healthfully—and happily, if it isn't too greedy, too set in its dietary ways—on fewer and simpler foods during hot weather. Little children, of course, must continue to be fed their thoroughly cooked cereal and their many-times-washed spinach. But the grown-ups can and should go on a summer schedule of meals—if the wife and mother has to prepare them.

In our beach bungalow the routine hot-meat-and-vegetable dinner long ago went into the discard during hot weather. Cakes, pies and other cooked desserts also disappeared. Almost any doctor will agree, we think, that in summer there is no more healthful dessert than fruit in season—strawberries, raspberries, blackcaps, huckleberries, blackberries, sliced peaches, melons, fruit salad. No fire is necessary to make these natural foods delicious—and they can be peeled, hulled, picked over while a woman is sitting on the cool piazza watching one jade-lined wave after another curve and crash into feathers of foam.

Now and then, of course, on a cool or rainy day, strawberry shortcake or huckleberry pie can be concocted without more effort than any dish is worth—but not during the heat waves! And it is possible greatly to diminish the time and energy spent on cooking meat and vegetables, when the temperature makes working over a stove the job of a kitchen stoker. No heat necessary for lettuce, romaine, tomatoes, cucumbers, potato chips! Only a little for peas and corn! A quick roast, once or twice a week can be served cold on the second and maybe the third day.

And consider the salads! Crabmeat, tuna, shrimp, salmon, lobster, chicken can be prepared perfectly easily on a tin can basis. No hot potatoes, or other cooked vegetables, need be served with these salads. If you want to heat the rolls, very well—but the woman who makes them, in hot weather, is a glutton for punishment. What are bakers—yes, and, in moderation, delicatessen dealers—for?

Whether you are away at the beach or the lake, or are staying in the city, you can save much hot weather labor by simplifying the service of meals. The new charmingly stamped and colored oil cloths, the pretty paper napkins, save handling laundry. Paper dishes can be used, for bread and other dry foods, and summer is a good time to try—if you haven't already done so—washing dishes in water so hot that they dry by evaporation and need no wiping.

THE National Geographic Society recently sent out a bulletin about housekeeping in Siberia. The happy-go-lucky native housekeeper there never cleans house. When it gets too difficult to move around among the litter, she simply moves the house—which is a tent. Even light housekeeping, of course, can be TOO light—we don't suggest that the American housewife adopt the Siberian scheme. But, remembering all the devoted, heat-exhausted home women we have known, we do wish more of them would take life more easily this summer—that their families would rise up and demand that Mother "lay off!"

The Intimate DIARY Of Peggy JOYCE

Deauville and Diamonds And a Round of Gayety

FROM WHICH MR. JOYCE TAKES HIS DEPARTURE

By Peggy Hopkins Joyce

A portrait of Peggy made in Paris.

WHAT PEGGY HAS TOLD BEFORE.

THE day I was fifteen I ran away from home because I wanted to be a great actress. On the train I met the handsomest man I ever saw, and he asked me to marry him, so I did, but my mother and granny had the marriage annulled and sent me to a boarding school in Washington.

I hated school, but while I was there I met a millionaire and after that I became Mrs. Sherburne Philbrick Hopkins. I had wonderful times in Washington, but when people began talking about my husband and a Miss ——, I ran away.

I thought, of course, I would go on the stage, and so I went to New York and starred as "Miss 1918" in the Follies. Later, while I was in one of Lee Shubert's shows in Chicago, I met Stanley Joyce. He had lots of money and said he would get me a divorce from Sherby, so I said I would marry him. He bought me a wonderful estate in Florida and a $350,000 pearl necklace.

Stanley said we would go to Paris, which I thought was very nice.

CHAPTER IX.

SUNDAY. Well here we are in Paris and in our suite at one of the smartest hotels in Paris.

We got in late at night and I was terribly tired but Stanley kept on complaining about every suite they showed us and we went parading about the hotel from floor to floor until I thought I would go crazy. Finally they showed us one corner suite and Stanley was satisfied. He is terrible about such things. If he doesn't get what he wants in a ship or hotel he gets mad and I daren't say a word.

This morning I woke up early and thought there was a parade going by but when I went to the window it was only the taxicab horns tooting. Paris certainly is the noisiest place that I have ever seen.

Stanley went out early too and when he came back he kissed me, and gave me a package, it was a diamond ring.

"I'm sorry I was mad yesterday," he said.

Well I hope he gets mad every day if he is going to buy me a diamond ring every time! It was a very pretty ring and I thought it was nice of him.

We are going to the races this afternoon, every one goes to the races here, it is the smart thing to do.

Monday. The races were lovely only very tiring. Stanley bet a thousand francs on each race for me and when I won he would give me the winnings and I won three times. I like betting on the races if I do not have to bet my own money, it is quite thrilling.

We were in Cartier's today about some settings that need to be fixed and in a show case was the loveliest diamond tiara, with at least two hundred diamonds and one great big one.

I showed it to Stanley.

"It wouldn't suit you," he said.

"Well of course I wasn't dreaming about buying it," I said, "but I have always wanted a diamond tiara, everybody in society has one."

"Madame would look magnifique with the tiara," said the salesman who was most distinguished and very polite.

But Stanley said we would be late for lunch so we went to Ciro's.

WEDNESDAY. Stanley got jealous last night just because I danced with a boy I knew at the So Different, which is a smart cafe here run by a woman who is very jolly and social although fat.

We had a terrible fight when we got home and the manager came in this morning and said he was sorry he would have to move us because the people in the next rooms had been complaining they could not sleep.

So we have changed into another suite, which is also a corner, only this time two sides are on the street and the others on a corridor and a concrete wall so when we get mad next time there will not be any complaints.

Stanley was terribly mad, he says he is going to have a companion for me as chaperone. So I said that would be fine because then he would not have to be with me all the time and he said, "Well that proves you do not love me," and I was mad and said, "Of course, I don't love you, you are too jealous."

So I cried and he did not speak to me any more last night but he went out early this morning, I hope he buys me another diamond ring.

Friday. The diamond tiara came this morning and it is lovely, only very heavy and quite hard to wear as I have to keep my head up all the time.

Everybody is going to Deauville so we are going there too tonight and I will wear my diamond tiara in the Casino, which is where they gamble.

Saturday. Deauville is the most fascinating place I have ever seen; nearly every one I know in New York seems to be here, which isn't so good because men will keep raising their hats or talking to me and some of them even say "hello Peggy," which makes Stanley mad.

I told him today that I could not help it if men admired me.

"I have often wondered about it myself," I told him. It is perfectly true, total strangers will call up on the telephone and some of the Frenchmen and South Americans here make all sorts of silly excuses to talk to me.

TODAY at Ciro's a sleek dark boy, very good-looking but rather young, came up to the table where Stanley and I were sitting and he bowed and said, "Excuse me, but this is Mrs. Joyce, isn't it?"

"What do you want?" growled Stanley before I could open my mouth. I never believe in snubbing people; unless they are really offensive, and this boy was quite polite and had the nicest eyes. I mean, if people are polite to you why be rude to them?

Well the boy was a little bit worried over Joyce's manner but he said, "I believe we have met before, and I wanted to ask whether you and Mr. Joyce would join us at a dinner I am giving in the Casino tonight."

"Where did you meet Mrs. Joyce before?" asked Stanley, and he was getting red. I knew he was mad so I did not say anything, but I smiled at the boy because I could see he was fearfully embarrassed.

"Why, in—New York," he said "At the—the Colony."

Well it was quite possible because I often lunched at the Colony and met loads of people but I think if I had met this boy I would have remembered him, he was so handsome.

"Thank you but we are engaged this evening," said Stanley. I could have killed him.

But at the races I was talking to Fanny W— and the boy came by and stopped, and raised his hat and Fanny said, "Why, here's Bobbie A— do you know Mrs. Joyce?" And he was terribly shy, so I said, "Yes, we met before in New York, didn't we?"

"No," he said, "we didn't. I have never been in New York but I have wanted to meet you ever since I saw you in Paris last week."

That is the sort of thing that goes on all the time and it is quite exciting and of course I could not get mad when he was so polite, besides we had been properly introduced by Fanny.

Fanny is so astounding, she did not look a day over 25 and she must be over 60. She tells everyone how lovely it is to be a grandmother.

I wish I kas going to Mr. A—'s party tonight. He is an Argentine and very rich Fanny says. We went over to the polo field for tea after the races and he was playing, he is a wonderful rider and made two goals.

SUNDAY. It was simply marvelous last night at the Casino, and that boy I met at the races was trying to get my eye because he wanted to dance with me, but I did not dare invite him over because Joyce would have been mad. Really I would not care if Stanley was a good dancer but when a husband is not a good dancer he should let his wife dance with other men occasionally.

I was introduced to a lot of people. There was Erskine G——, he is very young and full of fun and thinks he is a devil with the women. He danced a lot with that woman they are calling the "best dressed woman in the world." Well, they may call her that and she seems quite nice but nobody ever heard of her in New York.

The M—— sisters were there, both wearing very long skirts made of lace, but they looked very smart. There was an ex-King at a table near us, with his wife, but he looks more like a delicatessen merchant than a King. He was sitting with another fat man that Joyce said was the diamond king of England. I wonder how it would feel to be married to a diamond king?

I think it would be nicer to be married to a diamond king than a real king because anyway if there was a revolution or anything the real king might lose everything even his life, but a diamond king would still have his diamonds.

We went into the gambling rooms after dinner, it was quite exciting as we had to produce our passports and papers to get in. There must have been about 40 tables and several thousands people playing or drinking at the long bar. Stanley did not want to play and, of course, I do not approve of gambling for myself so we went to the bar and we met some more people we knew and had some champagne.

The bartender's name is Fred; he is quite a character in Deauville and knows every one by their first names.

While at the bar I was introduced to Mr. L—, who is one of the owners of the Casino and the Normandy Hotel where we are staying. He is a rather sad looking man but has charming manners and he was exquisitely dressed. It seems that young G— is his private secretary.

Mr. L— has asked us to dinner but Stanley did not accept, he said he would let him know later. Really Stanley is impossible sometimes. They say L— is frightfully rich and that he gives a pearl necklace to a different woman every six months. He is a very nice man.

WEDNESDAY. Everything has been so exciting that I have not had time to write in my Diary for several days and I would not be writing in it now except that a very important thing has happened.

I am so mad I can hardly see straight and I am through with Joyce.

This is what happened—

We went to the casino restaurant and I wore the tiara and M— was dancing with Leonora H—. Well, I knew Leonora and M— too and they come over and were introduced, but Stanley did not ask them to sit down which I thought was peculiar. Later on after they had danced M— came over and bowed and asked me to dance and I was just getting up when Joyce said "Sit down!" and sort of pushed me so that I sat down hard and the tiara slipped off my head and come down on my nose, cutting it quite badly.

Well of course I got up perfectly furious and left the restaurant with my handkerchief to my face and Joyce followed protesting he hadn't meant it but I would not answer him at all, just kept right on going until I reached the hotel which fortunately is just across the street from the Casino.

When I got to our suite I went to my bedroom and Joyce followed me in still talking.

"Get out!" I said.

But he did not go and I guess I lost control of myself anyway I flew at him and he must be a sight today, he has not left his room yet and his valet says he will not go out for a week.

Well all I can say is I am glad. I am sorry I lost my temper but after all he deserved it. My nose is all scratched from the tiara and looks terrible, but I am not going to stay in when there is so much to do.

Mr. A—— called up and asked if I could join his party to lunch and I think I shall go. What if Joyce does find out? I should worry what he says, he has already acted as bad as he can and besides I am going to get a divorce.

If there is one thing I cannot stand in a man it is jealousy.

I suppose Stanley will come along with another jewel and try to get me to make up. Well all I can say is, it will take more than a diamond bracelet this time.

THURSDAY. This is a wonderful place and I am having a splendid time, but somehow this morning I wish I was out of it all in some quiet place where I could rest.

Sometimes a small home and a husband with a job and maybe children looks pretty good to me.

Well, when a woman has good looks she might as well make the most of them. A girl should study herself before she tries to study men or other girls. She should experiment with herself. Sometimes I try 20 hats with one gown before I select the right one. I know the way my hair suits the shape of my head and the hairdresser always does it that way. I've had to learn how to walk, and talk, and gesture with my hands. A girl isn't just born with an ability to do everything right. It is easy to be born beautiful but it isn't easy to keep beautiful or have the elegance that should go with beauty. That must be studied carefully.

I wonder if I shall ever go back to Broadway and the theater? Probably I shall. I don't think I was born to be happy as a society woman. I knew that even way back in Washington when I was married to Sherby. But it was different then, too. I hadn't given up a career then.

Tuesday. We returned to Paris yesterday, by car. There is a wonderful road through Normandy but it was raining.

Joyce is acting strangely. Ever since that affair in the Casino he hasn't been the same. He still says he loves me, but there is something different in his attitude.

Today I told him that Henri had invited us to his house Saturday night for dinner and a ball afterward and I expected him to flare up and say we would not go, because he does not like Henri, but he didn't say anything.

Wednesday. Stanley told me today that he has received cables from Chicago telling him he must return for a few weeks on some big business.

"That's it, you promise me three months' honeymoon in Europe and as soon as we get here and you see I am enjoying myself you want to take me back," I said.

"Why, there is no reason you should come back with me," he said. "You can stay and I'll be right back in a few weeks."

I could not believe my ears.

"You will let me stay here all alone?" I asked.

"Why not? You think I don't trust you, but I do, and I will prove it. I will leave you here in Paris with just a woman companion who can interpret for you and help you shop and so forth, and you can write me every week about what a good time you are having. And I'll be back as soon as I can."

WELL, it was so unlike him that I could only stand and gape at him. "It certainly is strange to me that you can go away and leave me alone when only a few days ago you could not bear for me even to dance with another man," I said.

And it was strange. I could not believe Stan had stopped loving me.

"Well, you cured me of that," he said, and laughed.

So it is settled, he is to sail on Friday and it seems he has already got me a woman companion and he is going to have her come so I can see whether I like her.

It will be heavenly being in Paris alone and able to go out and have a good time without being afraid of my husband all the time, but I cannot understand his attitude.

I know Stanley and this is not natural.

Has he stopped loving me?

What is his object?

I wish I knew.

FRIDAY. Something extraordinary has happened. I had a letter from Stanley today from New York. It was very short and did not say much except that he would not be able to return to Paris for several weeks and perhaps two months. He said if I loved him I would have returned, which is unjust seeing that he left me here himself and kept wiring and writing that he was returning.

His letter was not full of love and adjectives like most of his other letters and he did not close it with his usual "Your most loving husband Stan," but just "affy yours."

I was just wondering whether he had met another girl when the maid brought me a card, it was a calling-card of an American newspaper correspondent.

I could not think what he wanted so I told him to come up.

The reporter was very nice and asked me if I could tell him anything about my divorce.

"Why, my divorce is over and done with months ago and I am married again to Mr. Joyce," I said.

"Well, of course, I knew that," he said, "but I mean your divorce from Mr. Joyce."

"You must be crazy," I said, "I am not divorcing Mr. Joyce."

"There must be some mistake then, Mrs. Joyce," he said, "and I apologize, but I got this cable this morning from my office in New York and I had to ask you about it."

"Let me see the cable," I said.

He handed it to me and it said:

HAVE TIP STANLEY JOYCE MILLIONAIRE LUMBERMAN CHICAGO SUING WIFE FORMERLY PEGGY HOPKINS NEW YORK BEAUTY FOR DIVORCE STOP PEGGY NOW HOTEL DU RHIN PARIS GET STATEMENT.

Well, of course I was frightfully worried but I did not say anything, just laughed.

"I only got a letter from Mr. Joyce this morning," I said, "saying that he has been detained but will be back to join me here in a few weeks. You can read it if you like."

But he bowed and thanked me and said anything I said was Okay with him and he would send a cable that I denied the divorce.

He was very polite and smiling. Why is it nearly all newspapermen are nice? Is it because they know so much more about life than other people and know it is no use being grouchy?

Traditions Tumble At Big Paris Race

First and worst, no "drags," or tallyhos from which the race takes its name, wound their way from the heart of Paris through the Bois de Boulogne to Longchamps. For years and years the tallyhos, bearing Paris' prettiest and best dressed feminine race fans, driven by the men most prominent in horse racing, have gone to the Drags. But this year motors replaced the careening horse drawn coaches.

Secondly, the smartest society women left the gay gowns and frills to the professional mannequins and appeared in the kind of clothes they would wear for lunch at Ciro's or tea at the Bagatelle.

Many of them were in black and those who weren't showed a conscious restraint in their choice of small prints, sophisticated hats and a studied casualness that must be costly to be chic.

The garden party air of a fine day at Ascot was missing from the tribunes and boxes where society sat. Flowered, full skirted chiffons with matching chiffon sunshades, the conventional Drags costume, were worn chiefly by the provincials come to Paris for the Grande Semaine, or by dressmakers' mannequins.

No Chances.

Clean the garment in gasoline in the great out-of-doors. Why take a chance when the job is perfectly safe if done outside in the air?

ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT

By

Erich Maria Remarque

The book that has been acclaimed by critics on two continents as the greatest of all war narratives, begins next Monday in the Post-Dispatch Daily Magazine. A new installment will appear daily. "All Quiet on the Western Front" is the story of war as seen by the "common soldier" . . . a true revelation of the misery, the bravery and agony of the men in the trenches.

FIRST TEST

The first test of the quality of a radio set is the tubes. Nearly all makers of fine sets choose RCA Radiotrons because of their quality and dependability.

RCA RADIOTRON
"Radiotrons are the Heart of your Radio Set"

A Kimona Pattern

So many dresses are made sleeveless on a kimona pattern these days and while pretty, we all know their tendency to pull out under the arms. Try cutting a piece of the material two inches wide and sew under the arms from the bottom edge of the sleeve to the bottom of the skirt. It will protect the sleeves and also make the dress set better.

When Time Is Scarce

If you are in a hurry and wish to save yourself dishes, serve the meat on a large platter with the vegetables around it, much as planked steak is served. An attractive and appetizing arrangement and one that will save time in serving, not to mention the dishes. BUT, do not try this with meat that must be carved.

Clicquot Club
PALE DRY

Actually 1/3 more than the ordinary "pint" bottle of dry ginger ale

Try the Party Package. 12 pts. in each carton. 48 oz. (3 bottles) more in every 12

AGED 6 MONTHS IN THE MAKING

LIGHT, sparkling ginger ale—perfectly blended and aged 6 months in the making. New bottles, too. Good alone—and an ideal drink to lend interest and improve the taste of recipe drinks. In full 16 oz. pints only. At most dealers.

A lot more, isn't it? You actually get this much more ginger ale in each full 16 ounce pint bottle of Clicquot Club Pale Dry than you do in the 12-ounce bottles of any other nationally known dry ginger ale

Here's Roy Fox, Hollywood's famous Whispering Cornetist, and his Montmartre Orchestra in a ballad that burnt up the big cinema cookies. Art Crippen does his best by the lyrics.

My Melody Man

When Roy Fox whispers this wicked invitation to whoopee through his coy cornet, all the screen screams of Hollywood strut their stuff. And the way Helen Stone handles the chorus is nobody's business. # 4384

Lingering Lingerie Favorite in Paris

LINGERING lingerie is the most fashionable in Paris these summer days. Following the lines of smart summer frocks, it clings and fairly clutches the fair figure from below the arms to below the hip-line where it flares in harmonizing movement with the full skirt.

And some of it doesn't even flare there. Little dance sets consisting of brassiere and knickers have the latter very close-fitting, of washable satin or crepe the same shade as the frock and no trimming at all unless it be a very tiny edge of lace.

A cami-knicker for evening wear comes in a backless version and the cami-bocker has a fitted waist and lace brassiere attachment. A motif simulating a brassiere in lace and drawnwork decorates the front of a very lingering pink crepe de chine combination with a one-sided wrap-around skirt. Tiny tuckings fit the top of another silk crepe model with godets of georgette to give fullness to the bottom.

In the newest Belgian lingerie, which is quite as lovely and as much worn as anything Parisian these days, intricate details, smart combinations of hand-drawn work and embroidery or appliques of lace are coupled with a novel cut. Point mousse (moss stitch), a daintier variety of the old point de Beauvais, is used in charming manner. Delicate cotton lingerie has hand embroidery, hand-drawn work and real lace trimmings.

Nightgowns stress dipping hemlines, flounces and flares such as are found on frocks. Kate Greenaway nighties have quaint puffed sleeves and some others savor of the '80s with slight bustle effects achieved by groups of gathers in the back.

The use of a flexible rubber hose in connection with the gas stove has caused hundreds of fires and deaths.

An old lady who waited nearly fifty years for her sweetheart to come back, wishes you to profit by her mistake. Like you, I wanted a career. The man I was engaged to marry objected. We disagreed, just as you and Jim Blunt are doing, and when I became a concert pianist he went away without a word. Recently we met again and I found he had never married. And now I know that my whole life was wasted without love, and that in old age all the achievements are empty vanities compared to the happiness of marriage. WALL STREET STOCK LIST IRREGULAR AT CLOSE

Heavy Week-End Profit-Taking Late in Session — Main Tendency Up Most of Day.

BULK OF DAY'S TRADE IS PROFESSIONAL

Bethlehem Steel Records New High of 124 1-4, While General Electric Touches New Peak of 376

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Heavy week-end profit-taking gave closing prices in today's stock market a decidedly irregular appearance. The main tendency had been upward for a greater part of the session, although several of the rails were under rather steady selling pressure from the State. While trading showed a moderate expansion in volume, the bulk of the day's activity was professional in character.

Call money held steady at 9 per cent all day, but time money was firmer, short maturities being quoted as high as 8½ per cent and the longer dates 8¼.

Some of the late selling in the stock market probably was influenced by the sharp reversal in wheat futures, which ran up about 4 cents a bushel in the early trading and then dropped fractionally below yesterday's closing quotations on reports of rain in the Canadian belt, which has been suffering from a prolonged drought. Corn also lost an early advance of 2 cents a bushel, and cotton declined about 50 cents a bale.

General Electric.

Except for the offering of valuable "rights" to R. H. Macy stockholders and the publication of a series of favorable earnings statements, there was little in the day's business news to influence the price movement. With many traders planning to be away from Wall street tomorrow and the possibility of adverse developments in the Far East over the week-end, there was a rather general tendency to lighten holdings in the late trading.

Bethlehem Steel ran up to another new high at 124¼ in the late trading and then eased to 123⅝ for a net gain of 4⅝. U. S. Steel common closed 1¾ points higher at 206⅞, after having sold as high as 208½. General Electric closed 3¾ points higher at 374¾ after having attained a new peak at 376.

Some of the Declines.

Radio broke 6¼ points to 84. American Telephone also lost a substantial part of its gain on the report that the management was quoted as knowing of no new developments to account for the recent rise in the stock.

Allis Chalmers dropped 7¼ points and American Can, Dupont, Western Union and several others yielded 3 points or more.

Delaware & Hudson dropped 5 points and Lackawanna, Chesapeake & Ohio, Union Pacific, New York Central and a number of others yielded 2 points or more.

Resumption of bullish activities in a select assortment of steel, copper, public utility and electrical equipment issues is believed to have been inspired, in part, by the absence of any extended distribution on the decline in prices earlier in the week. There is a rather general belief in Wall Street that any major reaction will be preceded by one or more 5,000,000 share sessions and until this increased activity develops, pools are showing an inclination to mark up their favorites, particularly those in which the floating supply is small.

The Increase in Loans.

Though the increase of $95,000,000 in loans to a new peak was much greater than had been generally expected, this expansion did not exert any important influence as a market factor. In view of the market's irregularity in the period covered it was assumed that loans are still reflecting in some measure the large requisitions on the credit market made necessary by the taking up of stock against rights over the mid-year. The aggregate is now $1,725,000,000 above the same date a year ago and close to the $6,000,000,000 figure. But quite interesting is the fact that whereas time money made up about 24 per cent of the total a year ago these funds, now reduced to one-third of last year's total, now comprise but 6 per cent of the larger total.

Closing stock prices with other tables and market news will be found on Pages 38, 39, 40 and 41.
